erty Assessments.

foulty:

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, March 9.- (Special)-Adjutant General Culver this morning stated that Brigadier General Barry, with the brigade staff, had been honorably discharged, the terms of their appointments having expired on February 12, and that the discharge is state house and noticed the old fixtures. made effective. General Culver made the following statement of his reasons for taking such action

The failure of the legislature last winter to adopt a new military code, which would enable the National Guard to conform to the terms of the new national militia law, made it hard to reconcile the brigade form-ation, as provided for in the statutes, with the requirements of the national statute. Leaving the matter open without calling an election and placing the brigade in the command of General Daggett whenever such formation is necessary, will carry out the spirit of the Dick bill and avoid further complications. The guard receives more benefit from regimental than from brigade encampments unless under the command of experienced officers. The failure of the legislature last winte

With the discharge of Barry the controversy over the election of a brigadier is brought to a close, since Brigadier General Daggett, U. S. A., refired, will assume command when it is necessary to have the brigade formation, during encampments. It is stated that C. E. Adams of Superior. who was a candidate against Barry, would have polled a majority of the votes of the showed any desire to leave him. officers necessary to secure an election had Culver allowed an election to be held. Adams has generally been considered his candidate and his friends are pointing to his action in refusing to call an election as evidence that he took the step solely for the good of the guard and without any intention to injure Barry.

It is intimated that Culver took occasion line. This is urged in extenuation despite to reprimand Barry for writing letters to officers of the guard asking for their support. Barry's action, it is declared, is contrary to strict military etiquet. The friends of Barry charged that the influence of the adjutant general's office was being used in behalf of C. E. Adams.

Governor Mickey, the commander-inchief, has refused to take any part in the controversy over the matter and has intimated that he would look with disfavor on any continuance of the quarrel, which seemed to be agitating the guard.

The following officers, all the appointees of Barry, were discharged with him: Major George E. Gascoigne, Lincoln, assistant adjutant general; Major Robert Emmet Giffen, Lincoln, surgeon; Captain John R. Quein, Beatrice, assistant quartermaster general; Captain Will M. Stoner, McCook, commissary.

It is regarded as a possibility that the next legislature may be asked to make the state military code conform to the provisions of the Dick militia law enacted by congress a year ago. In such event the brigade organization might be adopted again and a new election called.

In discharging Barry and refusing to call another election General Culver has followed the precedent established in Wisconsin, where the brigade organization has outlined the defense by asserting the testibeen wiped out altogether.
