Street Commissioner Hummell Makes Tour and Finds Much Work Necessary.

APPEALS TO ALL RESIDENTS TO HELP

Says Winter Has Left Great Deal of Refuse Scattered that Must Be Disposed of Before

Warm Weather.

"If each householder and business man would take the proper care of his back yard his ash heap and his garbage boxes, Omaha would be the cleanest of clean cities," says Street Commissioner Hummell. who is fust starting a force of men to work on the annual spring clean-up. The situation has discouraging features, however, and he is unable to plan so as to make the town free from piles and dabs of waste stuff with the amount of money at the command of the Board of Public Works unless the citizens help as individuals,

Most of the litter on the street," he tates. "comes from back yards and dump- ture is ten stories high and is exclusively the grounds on lots all over town. Every an association building. The Scranton wind raises the paper and scatters it over building is a more imposing structure than the paving and sidewalks and every rain the Buffalo building. We visited the Pennoddi and ends of every description down the adelphia. This is strictly a railroad assoalleys and onto the streets. No matter how vigilant the street cleaners are they cannot prevent these things, and they have branch associations in Philadelphia proper. no means of making a resident keep paper out of his yard or anything else he may choose to put there, provided it is not directly unsanitary.

"Persons downtown use little or no care trying to keep the city clean. On Sunday mornings newspapers are scattered to the four winds and two men are kept busy all that day doing nothing but picking up castaway newspapers in the business district. So far as this department has ascertained the number of business men or families who make an earnest, honest effort to keep cast-off stuff out of the alleys and streets are few and far between. Unless citizens generally co-operate it is impossible for us to have a city that will be pleasant to look at and which will excite comment as a clean city.

"Alleys, back yards and vacant lots all over town are in shocking condition after the winter, I learned from my inspection." said Mr. Hummel. "Behind billboard stands were found veritable dumping grounds where ashes and debris formed small hillocks and refuse of every description was scattered about. In other places not even biliboards screened the unsightly messes and right in the retail district they appeared to have flourished without any restraint whatever.

"Alleys that have just been cleaned downtown are beginning to show the effects of carelessness again. After repeated efforts the street cleaning department has induced a few large business houses to observe the regulations with greater care, but few of them appear to care.

Throughout the residence districts the condition is worse than downtown, if anything. All of it is due partly to the fact that Omaba has no definite way for collecting and disposing of garbage, ashes and other waste matter and for some years the problem has been allowed to govern itself. with the result that every few blocks has its own private dumping ground and every other back yard fills the same capacity as well, generally encroaching on the alley space. Persons are required to clean up only when complaint is made against them by neighbors or other interested persons."

injunction is Dissolved and Building Inspector Falls to Get Excused from Facing the Board of Inquiry.

Judges Troup and Redick of the district refuse to help Building Inspector Withnell evade testifying before the council ommittee appointed to investigate the harges against him and Comptroller Loseck as members of the Board of Public works relating to the paving specifications and the letting of sewer contracts. The emmittee may hold secret meetings and emmand Withnell and Lobeck to testify. A decision was rendered by Judge Troup nd concurred in by Judge Redick yesterday in the Withnell council investigating committee matter that effectually settles the methods that shall be employed n the further investigations of the committee and sustains the position taken by t and the city attorney that the work may e done in any way that the committee sees fit. Incidentally, the order restraining the work of the committee is dissolved. The opinion of the court as delivered was,

n substance, that the committee was the proper body to decide in what manner an nvestigation by it should be made, proided it should be done in good faith and that any dictation to it would practically offset the very object for which it was working and for which it was created. A further point which the court advanced as making its position in arriving at this conclusion renable was that no property rights were involved in the matters being investigated: The court held;

To deprive the council of the right to make n investigation of the conduct of any musteipal official in any way that it saw fit would be to defeat the purpose for which the council is elected and for which it exists as the representative body of the people. Its right of investigation of public affairs is one of the objects and privileges of its existence and it should not be handlcapped by the imposition of any conditions or limitations as to the method to be employed. If the council deems that secrecy in its sessions is essential to the best results, then, the court held, there is no reason why the work should not be carried on behind closed doors and the report of an investigation made in this way be made President Carpenter and Secretary to the main body of the council without the knowledge of the party investigated as o what the report might contain,

The paving specifications committee will this morning at 10 o'clock to continue the investigation. Just what line the inquiry will pursue has not been deided upon, since proceedings were interrupted, but it is supposed Building Inspector Withnell will be called to the stand first. City Attorney Wright now is of the opinion that the council, acting as a body, can compel witnesses to testify or send them to jail.

PRISON DIRECTORS IN OMAHA

Adjourn from Lincoln to This City to Meet Resident Members of Board.

The regular quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the Nebraska Prison association, held at Lincoln Tuesday evenng, was adjourned to meet at 1:20 p. m. yesterday at the Young Men's Christian association puriors, so as to meet the Omaha contingent of the directors and transact miscellaneous business. Among those who came from Lincoln to the Omaha session were: Mayor George A. Adams, Judge M. B. Reese, Rev. G. W. Martin, D. D. and John Davis, secretary of the Prison association.

The matters considered at the Lincoln meeting were outlined to the Omaha members of the directory, and Victor Rosewater and Dr. George L. Miller were asked to address the session.

The matter of calling a general meeting of the local directors to discuss a larger meeting to interest the people here in this work was left to Victor Rosewater, as the senior vice president.

Announcements of the Theaters.

The only attraction at the theaters this afternoon will be the matince at the Orpheum, where the vaudeville bill for this week is scoring heavily and drawing big as is also the two Silvas, equilibrists, and the Welson acrobatic troupe, while "The McCarthy, and Miss Alda Woolcott, and "Hotel Repose," in which Wesson, Walters and Wesson appear, are both lively, laughable sketches.

Isabel Irving presents "The Crisis" at the Krug theater tonight only. Much of the success as a play of Mr. Winston Churchill's dramatization of his own novel. "The Crisis," is due the skill with which the author has subordinated the unimportant events in his novel and brought into the proper dramatic focus the love story of Virginia Carvel and Stephen Brice. This in the novel, as all readers of the remarkable book will remember, was of subordinate interest to the huge conflict between the north and south which comed before the reader; politics, too, played its part. In the play one sees all these factors fully as clearly as in the novel, but now they are used merely to develop the love story of the two principal characters. This is regarded as the very quintescence of dramatic constructive skill and has won for Mr. Churchill immediate place among the dramatists of this country.

Next Sunday matinee and night "Are You a Mason?" will be the attraction at the Poyd.

Interest is just now centering in the coming engagement of Marie Wainwright in her revival of "Twelfth Night." Older members of Omaha's theater patrons recall with much pleasure the production of this charming comedy given by Miss Wainwright and her company at the Boyd theater on Farnam street some fourteen years ago, a performance that is treasured in memory as one of the finest ever given. Miss Wainwright has often visited Omaha since then, giving classic comedies, and is rightly accounted among the best exponents of her art. Her engagement will be for Monday and Tuesday evenings, with a matinee on Tuesday.

ADVENTISTS ELECT OFFICERS

Part of Work of Conference Accomplished at Its Session Yes. terday.

At yesterday's meeting of the Seventh Day Adventist union conference, new in session at Germania hall, considerable enthusiasm was manifested by the delegates in the proceedings. Quite a number of resolutions relative to the work were passed and officers were elected as follows For president for the blennial term, Elder E. T. Russell; vice president, R. C. Porter. An advisory board of medical men was hosen as follows: Dr. J. E. Colloran and F. Starr of Des Moines, Ia., D. R. Callahan and Dr. W. A. George of Nebraska. F. M. Wilcox and Dr. H. F. Rand of Colorado, Dr. G. A. Droll and L. C. Christofferson of Kansas, and W. S. Cruzan of Missouri. Auditor, L. E. Koon. The purpose of the medical board is to have general oversight of the sanitarium work in the central union and to make recommendations to the conference committee relative to the same. It is expected that the other officers of the conference will be elected at the session this morning.

Elder R. C. Porter spoke last night in he hall from the text found in Ephesians, i. 10, "That in the dispensation of the fullness of time he might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in heaven and which are on earth, even audiences. Happy Jack Gardner, with his in Him." Elder Porter is president of the funny songs and makeup, is making a hit. Just before the discourse a very touching vocal solo was rendered by Elder D. E. Scoles of

A horse belonging to the Salvation army and driven by Mrs. Mary Bane fell into a hole at Twenty-ninth avenue and Leavenworth street yesterday evening. Some people in the neighborhood made an attempt to get the animal out, but failed. The police station was notified and Patrol Conductor Tony Vanous was sent out with a rope to try his strength. Vanous tied the rope around the horse's neck and said "Git up, there." But the horse never budged. Then he got to work and tugged with might and main. The horse was coming when the rope broke and Vanous sat on a mud bank, and a number of very small boys took the accident for a toke and expressed their delight in screams of laughter. Then the horse was hitched to a street car, but the effort proved fruitless Vanous did a lot of telephoning, and before long, a derrick from the water works and two from the fire house at Twenty-seventh and Leavenworth streets arrived and after a lot of pulling and hauling and advice from the bystanders the horse was taken out. The hole was on account of some plumbing work being done by W. J. Cattin.
