TRACK TEAM MEETS COLORADO CROWD

Base Ball Squad is Beginning Light Practice and Manager Thinks Prospects for Senson Are Bright.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, March 9 .- (Special Telegram. -The Nebraska Cornbuskers, contrary to previous arrangements, will not play foot ball in Denver next fall. Booth's pupils had been scheduled to line up against Colorado university in the mountain metropolis during October, but a request was received yesterday by the athletic board at Nebraska for a transfer of the game to Boulder. Colorado explained that another foot ball game had been booked by rival institutions for the same date and that if the schedule was permitted to stand the recelpts of the Nebraska-Colorado game might suffer. Colerado offered a larger guarantee in Boulder than in Denver, so the board at Nebraska promptly assented to the transfer.

arrangements for a track and field meet Johns between Nebraska and Colorado some time during May and probably in Boulder. The squad at Nebraska has not been able to strike a stride at outdoor training because WESTERN LEAGUE MAGNATES MEET. of the variable weather, but Director Clapp expects by April 1 to have fifty or sixty men out on the cinder path trying their speed. The track team at Nebraska this year will be minus the assistance of two men on whom Director Chapp had been depending to make things interesting for opposing teams. Manning, a sprinter, and Lesh, a weight-thrower, are the missing athletes. Manning did not return to school for the winter term, preferring to rusticate on a cattle ranch in Arizona, where he is foreman of a bunch of cowpunchers. Manning was a sprinter of unusual promise, Last year he established new records at Nebraska for the 220 and 40-yard dashes, defeating every man against whom he was pitted, and great things were expected of him this spring. Lesh was recently dismissed from school. Lesh played left-guard on the foot ball team last season and speed. The track team at Nebruska this guard on the foot ball team last season and by Coach Booth, who did not hesitate to assert that Lesh was a comer. Lesh took up the weights this year and at the recent indoor meet broke the university record for the shotput. With Manning and Lesh absent Director Clapp is free to admit that Colorado has a chance to take Nebraska's measure in the field sports. The foot ball nen at Nebraska, however, refuse to make the same concession.

Base ball practice, both in and out of doors, has been in progress at Nebraska for over a month. Fair weather during the past week has permitted Captain Townsend to take his squad out onto the campus for exercise and preliminary practice. The pitchers are taking only light work and there will be no pretense at real base buil until balmy spring has been permanently ushered in. The Cornhuskers' prospects in the arena of base ball are highly encouraging, and Captain Townsend feels justified in predicting a season as successful as 1902, when Nebraska carried off the highest bonors in the Missouri valley and played almost forty games sgainst collegiate opponents, finishing with a winning percentage of over 900. Rourke's Omaha leaguers will open the season at Nebraska with three practice games early in April. Last year the Cornhuskers copped one game out of three from Rourke's aggregation and this year they are planning to duplicate the performance. The Chicago Nationals will also stop off in Lincoln on their trip home m the coast and will be pitted against the Cornhuskers in an exhibition game.

HERRMANN DENIES CONFERENCE Asserts that Charges Made by Johnson Are False.

CINCINNATI, March 9.—Chairman August Herrmann of the National Base Ball Commission returned from New York today and emphatically denied the statement contained in an interview given out by President Johnson of the American lengue. At Philadelphia last Monday, at which he was quoted as saying he had a conference with Herrmann, during which the latter had granted the New York American league club permission to play exhibition games at Ridgewood Park, N. J. Herrmann said:

"I never had a conference with Johnson relative to the playing of exhibition games at Ridgewood.

relative to the playing of exhibition games at Ridgewood.

Relative to the charge that the National league changed its schedule after it had ben submitted to the American league I want to say that Mr. Dreyfus assured Johnson in my presence that that had not been done, and Johnson seemed perfectly satisfied with the explanation. It was discovered after the National league schedule had been adopted that the New York National league team was short two games at home, and these games had to be inserted in the schedule and caused the two additional conflicting dates. Johnson is howling because we have arranged a schedule which lets the New York National league club open in Brooklyn.

He had, he said, consulted with members on both sides of the house who desired more time than three hours to discuss the Hay resolution bearing on the Bristow charges in connection with postal affairs. He therefore suggested a postponement of the consideration of the esolution until Monday next.

Mr. Williams said he wanted the corruption in the Postoffice department to be investigated, not by the friends of the men who have been guilty of corruption. Mr. Cooper of Wisconsin said he was

Mr. Overstreet took the floor and said that the recommendations of members referred to in the Bristow report followed the usual line of recommendations relative to increased allowances for clerk hire at third and fourth class postoffices and the matters of rent of postoffice buildings.

Mr. W. W. Kitchin of North Carolina charged General Bristow with having deliberately suppressed important and material facts. "Facts," he said, pounding his desk, "which could not be overlooked, and which were suppressed, in my judgment, for the purpose of giving a false impression to the country and misleading the public."

WASHINGTON, March 9.-During consideration of the army appropriation bill in the senate today Mr. Bacon protested against the acceptance of the statue of Frederick the Great of Germany, tendered by Emperor William, on the ground the former German king was not in sympathy American institutions. Mr. Stewart defended Frederick against what he characterised as Mr. Bacon's gross misrepresentations. The army appropriation bill was passed. The zenate also passed the Philippine shipping bill, after opposition by Mr. Cumberson and Mr. Patterson, and passed a bill prohibiting the grazing of stock on the Bull Run forest reserve, in Oregon. Tha reserve includes the water supply of the city of Portland. A resolution offered by Mr. Hoar adopted directing the committee on postoffices to consider and report "whether any further legislation is needed to secure either by providing for an appeal to the courts or otherwise, the rights of persons whose correspondence is excluded from the mails under any discretion now exercised by the authorities of the Post-

Mr. Hoar said in explanation of the res dution that complaint had been made to him by persons who have correspondent relative to medical advice and remedies Do Not Neglect Your Children's Weak that their letters are interfered with under the regulations of the Postoffice de He thought it probable that some method for the relief of such persons could be devised.

The consideration of the army appropriation bill was then resumed.

Mr. Bacon then made an inquiry as t whether any provision had been made in the bill for the payment of the expenses of erecting the statue of Frederick Great, contributed by Emperor William at the War college in Washington, and taken up by indignant members, their Mr. Proctor replied in the negative, saypersonal connection with it explained, and ing that provision for such expenditure would have to be made by other legisla-

Mr. Bacon added some observations rel ative to the acceptance of the statue, prefacing his statement with the explanation that he meant no affront in what he would say, either to the president or the German empire or the emperor. He would be pleased to have the statues of many Germans erected in the capital of the United States, men distinguished in science or the arts, such as Goethe or Wagner, for instance, "but," he went on, "I don't believe that the erection of a status of Frederick the Great in this city is in accord with the wishes of the people of the United States."

He was sure at any rate that many felt that way and he was one of them. He said there is no single thing connected with the Listory of Frederick that would make him an ideal for the people of the United States except his courage and devotion to his people, which all must admire. Mr. Bacon also contended that no authority short of congress with propriety could assign a site in the national capital for statues. He appreciated, he said, the delicate position in which the president had been placed by the proffer of the statue, but he thought that authority had Mr. Steward said that Frederick's char acter had been grossly misrepresented. and Irritated Nerves.

There appears to be almost an epidemic of St. Vitus' dance among children. The disease comes directly from weak nerves and an irritated condition of the nerve centres.

Its approach is shown by the nerves becoming weak, the child is pale, nervous, restless, irritable, does not sleep well at night, but tosses restlessly, talks in sleep, grits its teeth, and has irregular appetite. There will be a twiching of the evelide the hand, the arm, the legs, or portion of the body, which spasmodic movements will gradually increase until the child is more or less helpless.

It is a very serious disease and should never be allowed to run, as the most serious consequences ensue in the utter wreck of the nervous system. It MUST be cured at once.

The cure of little Edna T., daughter of equal number of men on the face of the work and that congress had not acted in Mrs. Sarah M. Hunter, is wonderful, and should be known to the parents of every nervous child or sufferer from St. Vitus dance. Mrs. Hunter says:
