

Just to Make Uneeda Biscuit And to make you hungry, too!

To make Uneeda Biscuit good;
To make them right and keep them tight;
To make you want them day or night—
Is the mission of the Bakers.

If you know Uneeda Biscuit, you know how well the National Biscuit Company has carried out this mission. You know how thoroughly good and wholesome a soda cracker can be made; how exceptionally fresh they can be kept until they reach your table; how delightfully they satisfy the appetite when you have that longing for something unusually good.

If you don't know Uneeda Biscuit—get hungry quick! Buy them—try them—KNOW them. Then, when you get hungry again, your appetite will naturally call for more Uneeda Biscuit and you will understand that—

LESSER TRIAL GOES OVER

Case Continued to May Term Because One Juror Leaves Panel.

EXCUSED TO GO TO HIS DYING MOTHER

All Testimony Thus Far Taken Will Be Repeated at the Second Trial in New Term of Court.

The trial of the case of the United States against W. R. Lesser, special agent of the United States land department, charged with falsifying his accounts, and which has been in progress in the United States district court for three days, was discontinued because of the discharge of one of the jurors, who was called to his home by the fatal illness of his mother.

It was decided that under the federal laws a case could not be tried with a less number than twelve jurors on the panel, and consequently the remaining eleven members of the panel were discharged and the case continued to the May term of the court, when all the testimony thus far taken will have to be gone over again. The witnesses in the case were discharged.

The trial was interrupted Thursday afternoon, when B. D. Tait, a juror, of Nebraska City received a telegram announcing the dying condition of his mother and the urgent necessity of his immediate return home if he expected to see her alive.

Grand Jury May Convene.

A jury was empaneled upon the postponement of the Lesser case for the trial of Eleanor A. Rehn, on an indictment for perjury found at the recent term of the federal grand jury. The accused is charged with testifying falsely in making final proof in his homestead in Rock county. The case is but one of several of a similar character for which like judgments were found during the last sitting of the federal grand jury.

The next case to be called for trial in the United States district court will be a bankruptcy case from Wymore, Neb., in which one Fine is the defendant. It is set for trial Monday morning and probably will be the last case tried at this term of court.

It was given out unofficially at the federal building yesterday that a grand jury would be empaneled for the May term of court and that one or two rather important indictments were likely to follow relative to recent charges made in the report of Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, which have created a lively interest in both houses of congress.

MAYOR PUTS IN ORDER HIMSELF

Chief Executive Denies that Secret Civic Reformers Influenced Closing of Saloons.

Mayor Moore denies that the Secret Civic Federation of Reformers had anything to do with the midnight closing of saloons. "The action was taken voluntarily by me," said the mayor. "and I knew nothing about what the federation intended to do. I had known by report that saloons in the burnt district were doing business later than 12 o'clock, but I did not know that such conditions existed outside of the Third ward. When the O'Neill tragedy transpired it caused me to make inquiries and I found that the 12 o'clock rule was being broken generally. The orders that I issued immediately were strict and they will continue in force as long as I am mayor of Omaha."

It was said today by a city officer that two women detectives have been added to the corps employed by the civic federation to try to secure evidence that would show proprietors of immoral houses paid authorities for protection. These women are said to be at work at present.

STATE HAS GOOD QUARTERS

Nebraska Establishes Exhibits Oursiponously at World's Fair Grounds.

BOOTH HANDSOME AND CONVENIENT

Educational Exhibits Are Rapidly Being Placed in Position, but Much Work Remains to Be Done.

James Welsh, connected with the Nebraska commission to the World's fair, has returned from St. Louis. He said: "The headquarters of the Nebraska commission now are established in the Agricultural building on the exposition grounds. The location is an excellent one and is near the government and Iowa exhibits and is very conspicuous. The Nebraska exhibits are being rapidly placed in position under direction of Secretary H. G. Shedd and when completed will be one of the nicest collections of Nebraska exhibits, as far as can be gathered at this season, are now on the grounds and are being placed in position as rapidly as possible. The Nebraska booth will be a very handsome one and its conveniences makes it one of the most desirable on the grounds. There is much yet to be done, but Nebraska will be very fairly represented at the opening of the exposition in an agricultural way."

LETS THE CAPTAIN GO FREE

Garbage Wagon Driver Wants to Arrest Police Officer for Taking His Team.

On the promise that he will take better care of his team in the future Martin Winefurther, Fifth and Nicholas streets, a garbage hauler, has been discharged in police court. Winefurther was arrested Thursday afternoon by Captain Haze for leaving his team unattended. The captain drove the wagon to the police station with the garbage man a prisoner on the seat. At first, it is stated, Winefurther said he would have the captain arrested for taking his team, but after a little explanation he was persuaded that discretion was the better part of valor and accompanied the officer to the station.

OMAHA MAN IS A CANDIDATE

Frank A. Kennedy Nominated for Trustee of Home for Infirm Printers in Colorado.

The result of the nominations by the constituent unions of the International Typographical union has just been received in Omaha. The nominations this year have more than passing interest to Omaha for the reason that Frank A. Kennedy, editor of the Western Laborer, is a candidate for member of the board of trustees of the Childs-Drexel Home for infirm printers at Colorado Springs.

The result of the nominations for that office place seven men on the ticket, where two are to be elected. Of the seven Thomas Crowley of Cincinnati received the votes of 23; emulous; George Nichols of Baltimore, 18; F. A. Kennedy of Omaha, 12; Thomas McCaffrey of Colorado Springs, 5; Eugene Kirk of Kansas City, 2; Ed Rootenbauer of

STEEL SHEDS FOR MARKET

Additions to Be Built to Compete with New Establishment on Capitol Avenue.

Harry Fischer, secretary of the Omaha Wholesale Produce Market House company, has secured permission from the building department for the erection of steel sheds to cost $1800 at Eleventh and Jackson streets. This investment is to be made in order to compete with the municipal market house on Capitol avenue and construction is to begin at once. Other permits issued were to Nellie Tobin, for a $1500 frame dwelling at 390 North Twenty-sixth street; to Joseph Gahn, for $500 repairs to a burned dwelling at Sixteenth and California streets, and to J. D. Shellberg, for a $2500 frame dwelling at Ninth and Pine streets.

TWO OMAHA MEN IN THE RACE

Former Principal Levison Was Rival of Pearce for the Milwaukee Job.

Another Omaha man besides Superintendent Pearce, who figured more or less in the contest for the place as head of the Milwaukee schools, was former Principal Levison of the Omaha High school. Mr. Levison, it will be remembered, severed his connection with the high school about five years ago. The Milwaukee Free Press says:

One of the tragedies of the contest was the tardy arrival of former Superintendent Levison of St. Paul. Mr. Levison, hearing of the deadlock, hastened to Milwaukee to offer himself as a compromise candidate. He arrived Tuesday afternoon and made his first appearance at the caucus of the supporters of the Milwaukee candidates held in the office of Director James T. Drought. Mr. Levison asked that the thing be put over until he could get some recommendations and references together. Though Mr. Levison assured the directors he met that he could get some references on short notice, there was no disposition on the part of the directors to wait.

President Maynard of the Board of Education says that no applications for the superintendency of the local schools to succeed Superintendent Pearce have reached him. So far as can be learned from board members, there has been but little discussion of possible candidates. The name of County Superintendent E. J. Bodwell has been mentioned, however, as has that of Principal Waterhouse of the high school. These names, in connection with that of H. K. Wolfe, formerly superintendent of schools in South Omaha, make three that have been spoken of.

SPRINTER-THIEF GOES TO JAIL

John Roundtree Gets Four Months and a Fine of Ten Dollars.

John Roundtree pleaded guilty to having stolen a coat from the hallway of Thomas Gentlemen's house, 144 North Sixteenth street, last Monday, and was sentenced by Judge Day, in the district criminal court, to four months in jail and to pay a fine of $10.

Roundtree was caught in the act of committing the theft charged and created quite a sensation at the time by the spirited manner in which he tried to make good his escape. He ran from the Gentlemen house to Courtland beach, pursued by an ever increasing relay of people along his route, and was finally overtaken and hit in the head with a hatchet in the hands of one of his pursuers, who left his work to join in the chase, but forgot to lay down the tool with which he was engaged. This is another hatchet incident which transpired on February 22, to immortalize that day.
