when they did so to the yards they took their time about bidding on the cattle. The by calling it very dull and safely a dime lower than yesterday, or fully 16235c lower than Tuesday. As compared with Monday the decline in many cases is even more than a quarter. At a late hour today there were still a good many cattle left in first hands and the situation certainly did not show any improvement as the day ad-vanced.

show any improvement as the day ad-vanced. The cow market was also dull and fully a dime lower than yesterday, or 156256 lower than for the last two days. Packers were willing to buy a few choice light-weight helfers, but when it came to the general run of offerings they were very in-different, and it was hard for salesmen to dispose of their holdings at any figure. The greatest decline has been on heavy cows and the general run of cattle of all weights. Choice fightweight helfers and the com-moner kinds of cows have shown the least decline. The market on buils today was nearly at

The market on bulls today was nearly at a standatill. None seemed to want any, and besides being dull the market was fully a quarter lower than Tuesday. Veal calves, though, sold without much trouble at steady prices. The demand for stockers and feeders was also limited and prices right around a quarter lower than the first part of the week. The demand from the country the last few days has hardly been up to ex-pectations and as a result prices have had to suffer. Representative sales: BEEF STEERS. St. Louis Live Stock Market.
