Republicans Hold First Big Rally of the Municipal Campaign-

The first big rally of the republicans for the spring campaign was held at Workman temple last night. Nearly every seat in the spacious auditorium was filled. Jay Lavchairman of the meeting and introduced the candidates.

The first speaker was C. M. Rich, candidate for member of the Board of Education. Mr. Rich said that the city should have a board that would look after the financial affairs in a judicious manner. If elected he promised to do the best he knew how in this line. J. C. Knight, the other republican candidate for the school board, spoke in a similar strain. Mr. Knight urged the women to get out and vote for Mr. Rich and himself

Chairman Laverty then commenced or candidates for the city council. He first introduced W. B. Vansant, who said that he looked for the whole republican ticket to be elected, himself along with the rest Mr. Vansant is so well known that the assemblage did not need his past record as councilman or chairman of the Fire and Police board called to mind.

John Klewit, candidate from the Fifth ward, spoke only a few words. He asked the support of the republicans and stated that he would do his best to serve the city if elected.

William McCraith, candidate from th Fourth ward, started out by saying that he was no talker, but that he was a worker in the ranks of the republican party and he desired the support of all of his friends. Herman Krittenbrink, candidate from the Third ward, came in a little late, but he about his years' of work for the republican party and how faithful he would be if elected. He urged that all republicans vote the straight ticket.

W. P. Adkins was the last of the councilmanic candidates called upon. Mr. Adkins had little to say beyond that fact that he stands for re-election on his past record.

Thomas J. O'Neil, candidate for tax commissioner, was next introduced by the chairman. Mr. O'Neil said in his own behalf that he was well acquainted with values in the city, having been engaged in the real estate business here for fourteen years. Further, he asserted that he owned property in nearly every ward in the city. He promised that if elected he would look after the interests of the property owners just as if he was attending to his own sented to the city council in due time. property.

Arthur H. Murdock, candidate for city attorney, was greeted with applause when he was called upon. Mr. Murdock told of the suits he had won for the city and mentioned especially the recent decision of the supreme court in the gas company cases. He stated that about fifty cases were now pending and that he would like to try them providing the voters considered his work in the past satisfactory.

E. L. Gustafson, who has served faithfully as deputy treasurer, was introduced as candidate for city clerk. Mr. Gustafson made a favorable impression, although his city has maintained the lights for a year remarks were brief. He promised, if elected, to conduct the affairs of the clerk's office in a business like manner and to treat all alike. E. L. Howe, candidate for city treasurer, said, after being called upon, that the city was in better financial condition now than it had been for years and that all warrants were now paid in cash. Mr. Howe gave Mayor Koutsky credit for this condition of

When Mayor Koutsky was called for he was given a regular ovation. In modest terms Mr. Koutsky told how he had tried to save the city money. He declared that In the street department alone he had saved the city something like $10,000. Other savings were also mentioned. The mayor said in conclusion: "I have endeavored to give the city a good administration. If elected again I will try and do better and will continue to cut down expenses." Chairman Laverty then called upon David Anderson for a few remarks. Mr. Anderson told about the early days of republicanism in South Omaha and then called attention to the present city ticket. He said that all of the candidates were good men and he hoped they would be elected.

J. W. Jeffries of Omaha talked briefly. He advocated the voting of a straight STICKING FOR STREET CARS ticket and the hearty support of all of the Last Day for Filling. Today is the last day for candidates to file by petition for places on the city ticket for the election to be held on April 5. Yesterday afternoon Councilman Mike Smith of the Third ward filed his petition with the city clerk. Mr. Smith did not secure the nomination at the convention and decided to run by petition. Up to last night the Smith filing was the only one made Those desiring to run by petition have until midnight tonight to file petitions.

Omaha Viewers Won't Be Happy Till They Get the Extension They Want.

It was quite evident from the report of the street raifway committee of the Omaha View Improvement club at its meeting last night that the extension of the Thirty third street line from Parker to Maple streets has not yet materialized. The theme is a favorite one with the Omaha Viewers. but three years of deferred hopes have not yet sickened their hearts, and the committee is urged to continue its visits to the street railway magnates and the city coun oil with the determination to get the exension some time, if not now,

The owner of the dairy wanted to be shown how he was to be ousted, and the committee was charged with a further consideration of the problem. Sewer matters were discussed, and the wer committee was directed to investigate the proposed route of the projected sewer in the district and see if it could not be made to follow the sinuosities of the creek

They were illustrated by photographs taken by missionaries, the subjects being children and youths, maimed and mutilated, hands and feet chopped off, and, according to the members of the delegation, all because their parents and male relatives failed to bring in the prescribed number of pounds of rubber daily.

The missionaries also showed that their work was rendered nearly valuless by the attitude of Belgian officers in the Congo country. They monopolized all of the food supplies, making it difficult for the missions to procure vegetables or fowl, or anything to eat from the natives, who were obliged to turn their produce into the hands of Belgian officers. By the cruelties the natives were driven away from missions and schools.

Secretary Hay asked the callers to reduce their plaints to a written memorandum, which he would consider. He could not hold out any definite promise of relieving the situation in the Congo, so far as the natives were concerned, because the United States was not one of the signatories to the treaty under which the Congo Free State came into existence.

Late in the day the delegation called on President Roosevelt, seeking his aid and sented to Secretary Hay. The president promised to give the subject careful consideration, requesting that he be supplied with an accurate and detailed statement of the situation.

SAD TALE OF AN OLD SOLDIER

Police Uncover a Case of Apparent Extortion that Makes Ordinary Usury Seem Mild.

James Shepherd, 61 years of age, of Twen ty-first and Manderson streets, was arrested last night on a warrant filed by Haven T. Andrews of 1430 South Sixteenth street, charging him with leaving the county with mortgaged property. When taken to the police station Shepherd told an astounding story of paying extortionate interest that would make Shylock feel like three dimes when compared with Andrews. Shepherd said that five years ago he mortgaged his furniture to Andrews for $25 and has since then to last July been paying something like 200 per cent per annum as interest, in three-month payments of $11. Since the original loan he has paid over $200 and still owes the principal of $25. Last July he had an opportunity of going to Colorado and working in the beet fields and asked Andrews' permission to leave the county. This permission, he says, was Shepherd, who is an old soldier, left his ension certificate and a work and his children fell ill. The old man kept the mortgaged property through all his trials, but the sickness in his family forced him to sell the furniture to pay for the medicine necessary. In some manner or the other he managed to make his way back to Omaha with his family and has been living in a hand-to-mouth way since. As Andrews had the pension certificate, Shepherd has been unable to draw the pension of $8 a month which is allowed him. The old man was terribly broken down at the police station and seemed to feel the blow deeply. Detective Dan Baldwin, who went to Shepherd's home to make the arrest, found the family living in a threeroomed cottage amid the signs of direct
