EASTER IN ALL CHURCHES

Day of Rejole ng in Chr.st': Victory Gver Death to Be Ob ervid.

RISEN LORD THEME OF SONG AND SERMON

All Houses of Worship Prepare to Celebrate the Triumphant Cuiminution of Period of Passion.

Easter and Christmas are the two days of greatest rejoicing in the Christ an year. Easter, coming as it does immediately af er Good Friday, with its solemnity, is, perhaps, from a churchman's point of day, more Joyous by the autitiesis than is Christmas, which is preceded by no scason, such as Lent. Since Ash Wednesday the churches in one way or another have marked the forty days which reach their Organ Prelude rlimax in Good Friday and in Easter with special services. Ministers have sought to impress on their congregations the superiative debt of Christian humanity to the Christ. They have gone over again, with all the impressiveness in their power, the great scenes at the close of the greatest

The end is come. The suffering is ended, and now comes the resurrection. The black of mourning is stripped from alter and from chancel and the colors of joy and triumph are spread abroad. The promise which made Christianity is completed, and the Savior is risen.

Throughout the city in every church of every denomination today will be services, with Easter sermons and with Easter music. For days the choirs have been practicing hard for this event, and tomorrow every singer will be in the choir to lift the voice in songs of rejoicing. Ministers have searched themselves for ideas and language such an should rise to the spirit of the great day. The stendy church goer will know where to go and with church patriotism will find what is best in his own place of worship. The great number of those who go but seldom to the churches will be out today. They will find many services from which to choose

In Trinity cathedral Bishop Williams will preside. The festival service and celebration of the holy communion come in the morning. The choir under J. W. Lampman gives the following special Easter anthems: "As It Began To Dawn" Coomba "Christ Haa Won The Victory" Hawley "Why Seek Ye The Living Among The Dead" Clare
