CITY COUNCIL CLOSES ITS WORK

Routine Matters Wound Up and Many Things Referred. The outgoing city council met last night and cleaned up a lot of routine businers, besides referring a number of matters to the aldermen who will take charge of the city's affairs next Monday night.

The ordinance prohibiting the erection o construction of downspouts which permit water to flow over the sidewalks, which has been pigeon-holed for some time, was resurrected and passed.

The ordinance requiring the placing of all telegraph, electric light and motor wires. except trolley wires underground in the business section of the city was referred to the incoming city council with the recommendation that it be given earnest consideratfon. To the incoming council also was referred the petition of property owners to have the water mains extended on Twenty-third street from Sixth avenue to Eighth avenue and on Eighth avenue from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth street. The matter of drafting a new ordinance governing the bill posters' license will be brought to the attention of the new council by hold-over Aldermen Tinley and Olson City Solicitor Snyder suggested that the license to maintain bill boards and distribute advertising matter be separated. It was also suggested that an ordinance b drafted prohibiting the erection of double decker bill boards.

Mrs. Mary Mack, living at 2010 Avenue C. notified the council through her attorney that she fell on a defective sidewalk on Seventeenth street between Avenues B and on the night of Sunday, March 13, and injured her knee, for which the city would have to pay her the sum of $5,000 or stand a law suit. The incoming city council was left to choose between the two alternatives. The claim of J. W. Davis, a traveling man residing in Omaha, for $1,000 for injury to his hand caused by a fall on Broadway and Tenth street, was on recommendation of the judiciary committee ordered settled for $150. The judges and clerks of the recent city election were ordered paid $5 each for their services and the registrars $12.50 each. When City Clerk Phillips started to read the result of the official canvass of the vote cast at the city election the aldermen excused him, as they knew all about it, they said. Another session of the outgoing council will be held Monday night, when Mayor Morgan will deliver his forewell a dent and general attorney of the Equitable Home association, was in the city yesterday, evidently awaiting developments, as he called upon the county attorney imnediately after the arrest of Beeman and Hughes with the request that the bond of $1,000 be reduced. This the court declined Mr. Chamberlain insisted that' the to do. Equitable Home association did not come under the Iowa laws governing building and loan associations, and, asserted to County Attorney Killpack that "he thought he would advise the boys here to continue doing business despite the action of the grand jury." Mr. Killpack intimated to him that if they followed his advice they would probably run up against another warrant.

Indictments were returned against J. L. Price for forgery and D. W. McCreary for uttering a forged instrument. Price and McCreary were arrested February 14 for passing a check for $5.75 on S. Weinberg, Broadway merchant, which was subsequently proved to be a forgery. Mc-Creary admitted passing the check and accused Price of writing it.

Other indictments returned yesterday and made public are as follows:

Ed Blackmore, charged with lewdness, if being alleged that he cohabited with a woman, name unknown, who was not his wife at 1315 Seventh avenue.

George Harback, charged with the theft of a revolver from the store of Petersen & Schoenig on March 24.

Frank Stevick, charged with the theft of 20 belonging to Cal Shafer from the latter's barn on North Second street on February

Charles Wolcott, charged with the theft of a gold watch, the property of Mrs. Mary Wiatt, from the Wiatt residence, 36 Fourth street, on February 22. *

In its reports on jails the grand jury said it found the county jall in the best of condition, but that the city jail needed cleaning and recommended that it be given attention. The grand jury adjourned to May 16.

Publishers Sue Express Company.

Howard & Howard, former publishers the Neola Reporter, have brought suit against the United States Express company, claiming $1,800 damages for alleged felay in delivering a certain package addressed to the Board of Supervisors Pottawattamie county in Council Bluffs. The package contained the verified list of subscribers to the Neola Reporter, and its fallure to reach the board in time resulted in the supervisors refusing to consider the application of Howard & Howard for the contract to publish the board's proceedings, to which the circulation of their paper, they claim, entitled them.
