Don't Be a Ready-Made Man

THE good dressers are not the ready-made men by any means! There's a set and hang about the "Tailored Suit" that you can get only when you're measured for it.

You'll have to look at our tailoring stock for display of fineness.

A most generous variety—draped side by side—so that comparison and choosing is made easy.

Trousers $5 to $12 Suits $20 to $50

It is in what is called the tailoring—that the real quality of a garment lies.

To sewing of the seams—the edges—the pocket points—the shaping and finishing.

These are the points that add cost—and give quality to properly made garments—and they are the particulars of which the average buyer knows the least.

Have a chat with one of our salesmen. You'll glean some interesting pointers on Tailoring facts.

George Cary Eggleston's New Story a Vivid Picture of River Life.

MAY DELINEATOR FULL OF GOOD THINGS

Contains Literary and Artistic Features of the Highest Excellence—Much Discussion of Baldwin Sear's Latest Novel.

George Cary Eggleston's new story, "Running the River," just published by A. S. Barnes & Co., is described as a vivid picture of phases of American life in the middle west which have hardly been touched upon in fiction. The adventurous river life along the upper Mississippi and its tributaries sketched in Mr. Eggleston's story are in many cases founded upon personal knowledge. With an enthusiasm and spirit which readers will feel at once Mr. Eggleston has written a wonderfully vivid and varied story of American boys' and girls' pluck and success in the picturesque and adventurous life of the great river. Mr. Eggleston has chosen a most stirring period, when the Mississippi and other rivers were crowded with steamboats, and the scenes of thrilling adventures. The adventures of his characters are accompanied by fascinating sketches of actual life and historic happenings. The brilliant author has written a book that is not only a fascinating story, but a picture of fresh and quaint phases of American life which will delight readers young and old.

In addition to an elaborate portrayal of current fashions and other matter of special interest to women the Delineator for May contains literary and artistic features of the highest excellence. In fiction there are two short stories, "His Fiancee," by Virginia Woodward Cloud, and "The Battle of the Strong," by John H. Whitson, and a dramatic chapter of the "Evolution of a Club Woman," by Agnes Sur-

Creeping on Like Turtles

In The Bee's Third Contest for Ten Trips to the St. Louis Exposition.

BUT PAST EXPERIENCE IS A WARNING

Turtles May Turn to Hares on the Final Stretch and the Swift Have the Prize Will Fetch.

Slowly the caravan of votes in The Bee's third contest for ten prize trips to the St. Louis exposition is advancing and one might almost regard it as being composed exclusively of tortoises by the pace kept, but that the experience of previous contests betrays the method in the slowness—a method that, like the "smile of the heathen Chinese," is almost the personification of simplicity. What is more simple than the daily race in definite figures reduced to black and white? It seems as if a child could tell how many votes would put one among the big ten at the close—but there's the rub, for the smaller the figures the bigger the lars they are, and calculating may result only in catching a cold disappointment. The best way to win is to get after every vote in reach and don't stop "getting" them till the closing hour.

The vote at 5 p. m. Tuesday was:

THE MANUFACTURERS SAY

this out of list is a nuisance and unless it is abolished this boycott fight discontinued, there will be no more of their goods sold to this market. We told them if they were NOT representing the N. A. R. E. combination we would talk to them about how we stood on the matter. They gave us every assurance that they were not representing the N. A. R. E. Now to the point—They either want more money for their goods or none and as we have told you before, if you want any of these goods, you must get them at these prices at once as they WILL BE HIGHER. The better you will not complain—but others will not be heard—as we have given due notice.
