ARMORY PLAN TAKES WELL

Omaha and Other National Guard Companies May Soon Have Homes.

HOLDS THE RAILROAD DISCRIMINATED

Supreme Court Decides Where Railroad Owns an Elevator It Must Be Returned to the Local Assessor for Taxation.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, April 8.—(Special.)—Adjutant General Culver is receiving most flattering reports of the progress of the work of securing sufficient interest to erect an armory for the use of the companies of the National Guard at Omaha and for the erection of other armories in towns where there is a company of the guard. It is his belief that Omaha, as well as other towns in the state, will soon have a home for their military companies. In Omaha W. H. Thomas, member of the Fire and Police board, is chairman of the finance committee, and he reports much interest being taken in the matter. Today General Culver received word that several of the companies out to the state had opened negotiations for the purchase of lots upon which to erect their buildings.

Royal Highlanders Protest. The State Board of Equalization will meet next Tuesday to hear protests from the Royal Highlanders regarding the assessing of securities now on file with the insurance department. These securities were held to be taxable by the attorney general.

Holds Railroad Discriminated. The supreme court has found that the Burlington Railroad company discriminated against C. W. McComb in the matter of furnishing him cars in which to ship out grain from Wilsonville, and has ordered that he be furnished in proportion to the other elevators at that place. The decision comes down too late to be of assistance to McComb in getting rid of his wheat, but the opinion is in accordance with what the farmers have long been contending for.

At Wilsonville there are two elevators, one owned by S. A. Adams and the other by the Central Granaries company. Last year McComb, who is a farmer living four miles from Wilsonville, came to town and opened competition with the elevator men. He had the sympathy and support of many farmers, but he had no elevator and was compelled to store the grain he bought in bins around town, the nearest being some distance from the railroad tracks. The elevators, however, are upon the road's right-of-way, and when the pinch came last fall in the supply of cars the road discriminated in favor of the old buyers as against the new. McComb protested because he did not get his proper proportion of cars, but the agent told him his orders were to give preference to the elevators, apparently they could load their cars faster and keep more cars moving. McComb at once employed a lawyer and brought suit for a writ of mandamus compelling the road to give him that proportion of the available supply of cars to which his business entitled him.

Gordon Not All Out.

An apology and a correction is due former Police Judge Gordon for the statement made this morning that he had lost out on his salary matter, and also due the supreme court, for saying that it had put an end to the interesting Gordon litigation. The fact is that the court merely refused to allow the judge to collect on the judgment, which he fought for, to receive salary as police judge. The judge is still a standby of the court. The court holds he cannot hold the city, but may recover from the officers who held up his warrants.

Wife Gets No Alimony.

In the opinion refusing the wife of David Isaacs of this state alimony the court presses itself a little on the matter of living in Nebraska. This was one of the contentions of Isaacs that his wife refused to move from Ohio to Nebraska, but kept him tramping around Ohio hunting for a business opening until he became dazed and hiked for his old home at Wayne, this state. On this matter the court states that it is unable to conceive how the woman could have become imbued with the silly idea that because Isaacs, in his anger, had come back to Nebraska instead of going to front her life and he had had even the faintest conception of her marital duties she would not have required her husband to continue tramping around from one town to another seeking an opportunity to get into business, for which he was not fitted and in which he would likely have lost his accumulations; but that she should have promptly and cheerfully accompanied him to Nebraska. She refused to come. This is desertion under the law.

Railroad Elevators Taxable.

Hereafter the railroads of Nebraska owning elevators along their right-of-way must return them to the local assessor for taxation and cannot include them in their estimate to the auditor of state to be taxed by the state board. So the supreme court decrees in the case of Adams County against the Kansas City & Omaha Railroad, a part of the Burlington system operating in southwestern Nebraska. The court holds that the elevators on the right-of-way are subject to assessment by the local authorities and not by the state board; that they may be necessary for the successful operation of the road is immaterial. The owners cannot escape local assessment and payment of taxes by voluntarily listing and returning them to the auditor and then pay the taxes levied by the state board. The contention of the railroad that the location and not the use determined who should assess them is denied, as is also the contention that the proper reading of the statute made them a part of the right-of-way.

Royal Neighbors Must Pay.

The Royal Neighbors of America must pay the death claim of Francis H. Wallace, whose wife Ada was insured in the order. The collection of it was contested on the ground that Mrs. Wallace had not truthfully answered all questions in her application.

Belongs to Land Owner.

The court lays down the rule in the case of Jacob Cohn against Mary A. Topping, from Otter county, that where a river runs from its banks and changes its channel the dry land that thus appears belongs to the riparian property owner. The case had its origin in the restlessness of the Missouri river, which changed its channel each week and gives it to its readers in the best possible shape. As the public is only interested in the events of the war between Russia and Japan, so The Bee has been at especial pains for many weeks to give the latest information in regard to the war and its progress, and by its arrangement with Collier's Weekly has been enabled to give the only pictures made from photographs actually taken at "the front" published in the west. In the coming number more of these photo reproductions will be found, in connection with the following features: "Japan Prepared for a Long War," by Frederick L. Palmer, Collier's Special Commissioner with the Mikado's army; "How Russia Conquered Manchuria," a graphic account of the short but terrible war waged by the Russians against the Chinese three years ago; "The Elder Statesmen of Japan," a brief sketch of the men who made the Island Empire great; "What the Japanese Women Are Doing," telling of their part in the war; "Japan's Exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition," which will give some idea of the victories of peace won by the Mikado; and in addition to these will be found the regular departments of the paper, all carefully prepared and handsomely illustrated. Methodist Women Hold Session.

HUMBOLDT, Neb., April 8.—(Special.)—The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Nebraska city district of the Methodist Episcopal church is holding a two days' convention at the church in this city, with quite a number of delegates in attendance. The session opened last evening with an address of welcome to the delegates by Mrs. Agnes Calvert, responded to by Mrs. Sarah Alexander of Falls City. The principal address of the evening was by Mrs. Victoria Morrow, district organizer, of Table Rock, who took as the basis of an interesting talk on the work of the society the words, "Christ, who has done what he could." Vocal solos were rendered by Rev. Calvert and Warren Beery, both of this city. This morning's session was devoted entirely to business matters, including reports of officers and auxiliaries, and the election of officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Mrs. Hattie Mauger, Falls City; recording secretary, Mrs. Lydia Andrews; table Rock, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Wieseler, Salem; treasurer, Mrs. Louisa Smith, Tecumseh. The convention will close this afternoon and immediately thereafter the seventeenth annual convention of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Nebraska city district will open its two days' session at the same church.

The reports of the various officers were submitted. The treasurer reported a balance on hand after all the expenses of the annual meeting of the department had been paid. A recommendation was unanimously adopted for an increase to $500 of the pay of the chief of the department. The department also voted to have a Fourth of July celebration and a representative of a leading dry goods house started the ball rolling by a subscription of $50.

Following was an exhibition in Indian wrestling by nine members of the women's class. The last evening's program consisted of a waffle drill, apparatus turning, fencing bout between E. H. Schulhof and Otto A. NEW YORK, April 8.—After a hard fight that lasted two hours and a half today, the firemen succeeded in subduing a menacing fire in the six-story, iron building at West Broadway and Franklin street, occupied by James Barron & Co., wholesale dealers in paints and various household articles, all of a highly inflammable nature. Twice there were terrific explosions that scattered the fire, each time giving it a fresh start. The loss was estimated at $100,000. So great were the quantities of water poured into the building that West Broadway was flooded to a depth of two feet and the cellars of adjoining buildings were filled.
