SAYS CONGRESS CONTROLS THE PURSE

WASHINGTON, April 8.-The recent exocutive order of the president relating to age as evidence of pensionable disability. today furnished the text for an impassioned appeal by W. Bourke Cookran of New York dignity of that body by refusing to submit to what he alleged was the usurpation of the legislative authority of congress by the executive. Mr. Cockran (N. Y.) spoke on his resolution directing an inquiry by the judiciary committee as to whother there was nuthority in the law for the recent executive order relating to pensions for age disability The committee on rules reported an order directing the order to lie on the table. Mr. Cockran's remarks were the first be has delivered since his entry into the fiftyeighth congress as the successor to George B. McCielian. When he began speaking he was warmly applauded and he at once commanded the close attention of both sides of the house. He said the resolution was offered solely to vindicate the dignity of the

Mr. Daizeli (Pa.), replying to Mr. Cockran, said he could cite countless instances where the house again and again had asseried its right against the claims of the to the members of the house to uphoid the senate, and always successfully. It had, he said, taken Mr. Cockran eleven years to discover that there was an invasion of the prerogatives of the house.

Concerning the pension order, Mr. Daisell maintained that congress turned over to the secretary of the interior a lump sum for pensions based upon the secretary's estimates and to be distributed under the law and pursuant to the rules of evidence established by the pension bureau. 5'herefore, he argued the matter of money is volved cut no figure in the question under

Mr. Grosvenor declared that he believed the country will approve of the order and also that the soldiers of the country will approve it, and he also expressed the be-Hef that when the deficiency bill is reported it will contain an appropriation which will be approved by a majority of the house to meet the additional increase in the pensions under the president's con-

PROTECTORATE FOR MOROCCO

Angle-French Treaty Promises to Transform Political Geography.

BRITISH PROTECTORATE OVER EGYPT

England Will Dominate the Eastern Shores of the Mediterannean and France the Western Shores.

PARIS, April 9.-Although the Angio-French colonial treaty just signed riskes no specific reference to any protectorates. it is now recognized that between the lines the treuty means the establishment of a French protectorate over Morocco similar to the present protectorate of France over Tunis and that it makes permanent the British protectorate over five feet and yet coming up. The water Egypt. Thus the effect of the treaty is to transform the entire political geography of northern Africa, with Great Britain dominating the eastern shores of the Mediterranean and France the western shores. Article one specifies that France will not trammel Great Britain by asking that a limit of time be fixed for the British occupation of Egypt. Heretofore the duration of Great Britain's stay in Egypt has been open to doubt. Article two recites that it pertains to France alone to preserve order in Morocco and furnish assistance in all administrative, economic, financial and military reforms. This is considered equivalent to the beginning of a French protectorate over Morecco France's dealings with the Moroocans is compared to the United States' dealings with the American Indians, lacking tribs organization. However, it is not expected that the signing of the treaty soon will be followed by the introduction of modern reforms and conditions in Morocco
