MARKET AT MERCY OF CONDITION TALES

Chiengo Gets Only Nine Caps of Wheat in One Day and Omaha Pulls in Three, OMAHA, April 14, 1994.

The markets are full of wheat crop damage reports, but the crop kniers do not seem to buy on their news. The market was strong at the opening on additional buil news and no very strong refusition of the bad reports of wednesday later profit taking by scalpers, who bought on the last break, look the wage off for a while, but the close was strong again. Crop conditions will continue to rule the market for some time, and snarp turns are probable, as the short interest was largely eliminated Weinesday. While the May is at such a premium over the old July and the stocks are small the bears probably will be very careful of the short side.

Among the crop damage reports is one form Great Hend, Kan., which predicts at such a premium over the old July and the stocks are small the bears probably will be very careful of the short side.

Among the crop damage reports is one from Great Hend, Kan., which predicts hat if there is no rain ten days less than methird crop is possible. A St. Louis wine house on the other hand wires that eports from Kansas and Oklahoma are exasgerated and that plenty of twine is being sold. An Indiana statistician says wheat is the worst it has ever been in that state, and another expert says three-fourths of the fields have been abandoned through winter killing. Several cargoes of Maniloba wheat have been resold by the English to the exporters, showing that they do not want any spring wheat at present prices. Chicago cash business yesterday included 5,000 bushels of No. 2 red at 31.00, f. o. b., and 10,000 bushels of No. 1 northern at 96c, f. o. b. Chicago May ranged from 94%c to 58%c and new July trom 88c to 87c. Omaha did very little speculative business today in wheat or corn.

Des Moines wires that the Hamilin elevators, which have a line on the Iowa Central, have been trying to buy corn at Peoria to ship back into Iowa to feeders. They were unable to fill their orders in the state. Chicago reports that 200,000 bushels of No. 2 corn has been rejected as contract when it came to shipping, it being too dirty. This was said to be due to kill drying, which caused the grains to crack when handled. The private houses are turning a good amount of contract into the public houses, but the trouble comes when it goes to purchasers.

The range in prices of Omaha grain for future delivery and the close of Wednesday and today were as follows:

—Closed—Open. High. Low. Today. Wed.

Local Cash tenin Market. Local Cash termin Market.

If Omaha only received three cars of wheat, Chicago did not do much better, having only nine. In corn also Omaha receipts were only thirteen cars less than Chicago. This, of course, will not happen orten, at least not for several years. Corn was up from to to form Wednesday's market and in strong demand. The sales were quite heavy and the Exchange Grain company was the principal buyer. Wheat and oats were steady at previous prices. Receipts of wheat were 3 cars in; one week ago, 7 and 6 cars. Corn receipts, 36 cars in and 1 car out; one week ago, 25 and 10 cars. Oat receipts, 1 caf in; one week ago, 5 cars out.

tunity to discriminate in layor of the more desirable bunches.

The cow market was also uneven, but there was comparatively little change from yesterday in the prices paid. Desirable light-weight cows and helfers changed hands readily enough at good, steady a prices, but when it came to the commoner kinds trading was not so brisk, and some nalesmen thought they could not do quite as well as they did yesterday. The close of the market in particular was slow and the feeling was not as good as it was early.

Bulls, veal calves and stags all sold in very much the same notches they did yesterday, no quotable change being noted.

The stocker and feeder market was dull this morning and a little weaker. The trade from the country yesterday was disappointing and for that reason speculaiors were cautious about getting many more cattle on hand. Anything really desirable probably sold about steady, but aside from those the market was dull and a little lower. Representative sales:
