MUD CREEK NOW DEMANDS ATTENDING

Some Steps Must Be Taken to Contro the Nuisance Which is Becoming Expensive Through Damage Sults. The first meeting of the newly organized city council was held last night. All members were present and Mayor Koutsky occupied the chair. Clerk Gillan read the minutes and filled the position of his office very acceptably. Aside from the first official meeting of the new council, the feature was a statement made by City Attorney Lambert in relation to suits started relating to Mud creek. In addressing the mayor and council Mr. Lambert said the city must soon provide some means to sewer Mud creek, on account of the suits frequently being filed. He asked the officials to take steps to direct the legal department how to proceed in this matter. Continuing, Mr. Lambert said that civil engineers had been working for some time past on ways to abate this alleged ruisance. Plans for temporary abatement and also permanent abatement had been suggested. 'In case the city desires to abate this alleged nuisance permanently it will be necessary," said Mr. Lambert, "to construct a sewer from Swift's to the river. Should such action be decided upon by the mayor and council it will most likely be necessary to appeal to the legislature for a change in the present laws. The city is empowered now to go into debt to the extent of $100,000 for extension of sewers. Of this amount $62,000 has already been expended, leaving only $38,000 to the credit of this special fund."

When called upon by the mayor and ouncil for an expression of opinion, W. P. Adkins, president of the council, said the estimates for a sewer made about six years ago showed an expenditure of $160,000. At this time he could not make any estimates. as he is not familiar with the present cost of labor and material.

After some discussion this matter of a sewer was referred to the mayor, the city At the suggestion of Adkins, the city attorney will proceed as soon as convenient Delegates Return Home.

Representatives of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange returned home Sunday evening from a trip to the South Daketa cattle country. The delegation traveled in a special car and claim that everything was done to entertain them while away. The first stop was at Rapid City, S. D., where the annual cattlemen's convention was being held. As most of the South Omaha live stock dealers had visited Rapid City they knew what to expect. The bustness of the convention was transacted rapidly and then the balance of the time was given up to entertaining the visitors. "Saying we had a time covers the ground," said one of the returned delegates. From Rapid City the delegation wended its way to Belle Fourche, where every effort was made by the city officials and cattlemen to entertain the visitors. Those who have returned may that the entertainment afforded MODERN BUSINESS METHODS Organization of Office Forces and What Makes an Employe of Value.

The second of a series of talks on modern business, being conducted by the educational department of the Young Men's Christian association, was given last evening by John C. Forbes, office manager for the Cudahy Packing company. "Modern Office System and Organization" was Mr. Forbes' subject, which was handled in an interesting manner. The association hall was filled, showing a marked increase of interest in the series of talks. Mr. Forbes compared the old regime of business methods with that in vogue today and reviewed the subject from 1860 to the present time.

"The centralitation of large business in terests, a feature peculiar to this country, has developed a type of man known as the office organizer," said the speaker. "This man is the natural product of our modern business methods. He stands at the helm and guides large bodies of men along channels that will best serve the interests he represents, not forgetting the interests of the employed."

Mr. Forbes referred to many of the com paratively modern inventions used as office accessories, showing the great revolutions they have wrought in the organization of

Referring to the qualities of a valuable employe, Mr. Forbes said: "Punctuality is always desirable, but we do not want mere machine men; we do not want a clock and gong punctuality. A man who is serious about his business, who has a cheerful earnestness, will feel a desire to do his duty when duty calls, and it should not be made a tragic affair if he be one or ten minutes or even half an hour late, if he is earnest, and it is not hard to detect whe is earnest and who is not. Many leaders of men have a wrong sense of punctuality. The bess who has to bess the individual's intentions is no boss and he who has to have his intentions bossed is no individual. The next talk will be given on Monday evening, April 25, when M. C. Peters, formerly manager of the Bemis Omaha Bag company, will speak on "Commercial Art
