NEW SOUTH OMAHA-SPUR LINE

Connection Will Be Built on Twenty-fourth from Leavenworth to Vinton.

PLAN IS TO COMPLETE IT THIS YEAR

Street Railway Company Begins Laying of Dodge Street Line, Preparatory to Using New Cars.

While General Manager Smith of the Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company is reluctant about the matter, it is declared by good authority that the corporation will build a double track line on South Twenty-fourth street from Leavenworth to Vinton before the year is out...

"I am speaking on the authority of President Murphy when I make this statement," said the man who announced the move Tuesday night. "It has been arranged so that the matter of grading the street will be provided for and construction will begin soon."

"This line is part of the scheme contemplating the new car barns and shops at Twenty-fourth and Vinton streets, and now that the ground has been bought, no obstacle stands in the way of the new line."

Long Claimed For

The South Twenty-fourth street connection is an improvement that property owners in that part of the city have been clamoring for a long time. The street car company agreed to build as soon as the street was graded, but difficulty was encountered in securing the required number of signers to a necessary petition. The matter has dragged along for a year or two and nothing has been done. It appears a majority of property owners will sign and the road will be put through.

Work was begun Tuesday morning by the railway company reconstructing the Dodge street line. The start was made on Twenty-fourth street between Cass and Cumine where there are four tracks, these being a moment of the old cable car days. The two useless tracks will be torn up and the others relaid with 7-foot rails such as will be used on the whole line from Tenth and Farnam streets to Twenty-fourth and Lake. As soon as the stretch between Cass and Cumine is finished the laborers will work in both directions.

Work Will Be Slow

Inasmuch as all the old rails, the grip-chambers and the cement fillings have to be removed, the work will be slow, but it is hoped to complete it within three months.

Work north of Twenty-fourth street will be completed in about three months.
