

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Speculators busy with July corn and May and September oats. WHEAT OPENS WEAK, BUT GAINS LATER. Minneapolis Stocks Decrease Over Half Million Bushels in Five Days-Weather Conditions the Best.

OMAHA, April 28, 1904. Omaha grain speculators were busy with the July corn and the May and September oats. Following the change in front of the Patton news from bear to bull in the early part of the week, the market will bear in the September, but not withstanding the Omaha market advanced.

Wheat opened weak on the tame cables and the very advantageous weather. Later it gained strength on the decrease of Minneapolis stocks which went down in five days 500,000 bushels. The professionals felt that all the grain in Chicago and Iowa as they could and the general sentiment was fairly bullish. The outside, however, gave no assistance. The weather is the best the wheat has enjoyed. H. V. Jones, the Minneapolis authority, says it will not finish seeding before May 15. This will be late, but not a serious matter. The Minneapolis crop output, with three-fourths of the season estimated for the week at 100,000 barrels. For last week it was 77,000 barrels more than the week before. The flour market was quiet. The Armour's were offering wheat for sale, but it is supposed they are waiting through brokers. It is estimated that for the May delivery, 100,000 bushels of wheat are ready, one firm having 2,000,000 bushels of contract corn in orders at Chicago and 1,000,000 bushels of standard oats in the range of prices. Omaha grain for future delivery and the close today and Wednesday were as follows: -Closed- Yesterday's High. Low. Today. Wed. y.

NEW YORK STOCKS AND BONDS

Market Becomes Acomotoned to Listless Drifting and Stagnation. BROKERS FIND TIME HANGING HEAVILY. Nothing in the Current Conditions or the Prospects that Can Induce the Buying of Stocks.

NEW YORK, April 28.-The listless drifting to which the stock market is becoming accustomed was again notably in evidence today. The board room was practically deserted, and the few brokers who were present were busy with the day and brokers were driven as brokers are prone to be, with money to be had almost nominal terms there is no pressure on anybody to make a trade. On the other hand, there seems to be nothing in the current conditions or the prospects that can induce the buying of stocks in spite of the abundant facilities to be had in the way of borrowed money.
