Referring particularly to the case in which the county attorney called attention to the fact that no less than nineteen orders to produce had been taxed up by the officer at 40 cents each, or a total of $7.60, Constable Alberti states that in this case there were four defendants charged with breaking into a Rock Island car and that the preliminary hearing was continued no less than three times, each continuance being at the instance of the assistant county attorney. Referring to the case of James Ellsworth, charged with the theft of coal from the Union Pacific, which was dismissed the other day for want of prosecution on the part of the county authorities, Justice Ouren states that the case was continued no less than seven times because the assistant county attorney was unable to be present. onductors, brakemen and flagmen and it is estimated that about thirty families will be brought to Council Bluffs by the change. Matters in District Court.

In the district court yesterday morning Judge Wheeler took from the jury the suit of Henry Miller of Omaha, administrator of the estate of Samuel Livingstone, against John Anderson, and directed a verdict for the defendant. It was diet. claimed that Anderson bid for and had knocked down to him for $19 a tack at an auction of the property belonging to the Livingston estate. Anderson gave a check and a half miles east of Shelby about 3 for the price of the animal, but stopped payment of it the next day, claiming that he had been drinking and had no intention of buying the animal. He made no effort to take the animal after it was knocked down to him and the court held that the plaintiff had failed to show that there had been any delivery of the property alleged to have been purchased by Anderson. This makes the third case which Judge Wheeler has taken from the jury and directed verdicts for the defendant in the last week of court. of court.

Following the Miller-Anderson case jury was impaneled in the suit of A. R Headlee against E. Meyer. Headlee seeks to recover $5,000 damages for alleged illegal arrest and malicious prosecution. Headlee was formerly a clerk in the employ of Meyer, a grocer. Meyer's barn was broken which Alberti secured a judgment against into and a horse and buggy stolen. Headlee was arrested, charged with the theft. but was acquitted. Since bringing his original suit. Robert Musselman, who lives on Stutsman street, has secured in the district court a temporary injunction restraining Al Lainson and wife, who live on Damon street, from interfering with his water supply. The water pipe from which Musselman's residence was supplied ran through Lainson's yard and Musselman claims he paid Lainson for this privilege. A few days ago Lainson, so Musselman alleges, disconnected the pipes and thus shut off Mussselman's water supply.
