AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Treasurer Howe is Making Up the Delinquent Tax List.

MANY PEOPLE ARE SETTLING BACK TAXES

Effect of Scavenger Law is Felt at the Treasurer's Office, Where Much Money is Being Paid.

City Treasurer Howe stated last night that his extra force of clerks now working on the delinquent tax list would complete their labor by the end of the week. This work is being done under the scavenger law. Since it became known that the records for years back were being checked up by the treasurer's office force has been kept busy taking in money for back taxes. In many ways the city council has helped out in this matter. A great many applications have been received from property owners who had withheld the payment of taxes on account of an idea that the taxes might be declared invalid by the courts. Where the council came in was to remit the interest on the payment of the principal. Treasurer Howe said last night that he had no idea now of the total amount of delinquent taxes, as so many people are calling daily, and by making payments have their names crossed off the list. He expects, however, to finish this work by Saturday night and then make a total.

For over a month a dozen additional clerks have been working in the treasurer's office over the records, making up the scavenger list. This work has gone on every day and nearly every night. Treasurer Howe says that when a large portion of these delinquent taxes are collected or the property sold for taxes the city will be in first-class shape financially.

Smith Family Funeral.

Funeral services over the remains of Frank, Mary and Ray Smith were held in the auditorium at Workmen temple yesterday afternoon. Every seat in the large hall was occupied and many stood during the services. Rev. Leander Lane of the Christian church conducted the services. In his discourse he said that the saloons were behind the bullets that killed Mrs. Smith and her son. He also mentioned the fact that both Smith and his wife were left early in life without parental influence and that he had married too early in life.

Rev. Dr. R. L. Wheeler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, assisted at the services. After the services those who desired were permitted to view the remains for the first time in the auditorium. A large number of the platform. It is estimated that fully 500 people attended the services at the temple. Interment was at Laurel Hill cemetery, where brief services were held.

Broken Stone Being Used.

The city has purchased some broken stone and Street Commissioner Troutman is filling in some of the holes on Twenty-fourth street in order to make the roadway passable. About two cars of stone will be needed to fill in the holes and make temporary repairs. It is thought that these repairs will last until the council can find some means of letting a contract for the annual repairs which generally amount to about $2,000. There is some talk of trying to secure signers to a petition for the repaving of the street, but as only a portion of the taxes on the original paving has been paid this seems to be a hard matter. Some of the property owners say that they do not want to get into another paving fight like they had when the original paving was laid. Consequently they seem to be willing to let the city officials keep on making improvements every year. A first-class pavement from A to Q streets with a good concrete base will cost, so engineers say, about $10,000. The taxpayers think that this is too much money and consequently they are declining to even talk of signing a paving petition.

Jones Serves Notices.

Sanitary Inspector Jones has been about for the last day or two serving notices on property owners to clean up their back yards and alleys. Ten days is given in which to do this work. Then there is another inspection and if the orders have not been obeyed it is up to the city authorities to file a complaint in police court or have the work done and assess the cost to the property owner. So far this week few if any of the orders of the inspector have been obeyed and there is a disposition about the city hall to file complaints and bring in a few property owners for trial before the police judge. City Physician Sapp and others of the Board of Health say that there must be a general cleaning up and that soon.

Annual State Declaratory Contest.

At Schuyler, Neb., this evening the annual declaratory contest of the state high schools will be held. Miss Catherine Rowley of this city will go to Schuyler to represent the South Omaha schools, she having won first honors at the North Nebraska contest held at Columbus recently. Miss Rowley will be accompanied by a party of high school students. The program shows two contestants in the oratorical class. They are Pauline Elias of Columbus and John E. Nelson of York. In the dramatic there will be three striving for first honors, Edith Allen of Geneva, Irene Elliott of Alliance and Catherine Rowley of South Omaha. In the humorous four are on the program, Ruth N. Francis of Crawford, Edith Simmons of Seward, Edith Wright of Schuyler. The judges of this contest are W. H. Clemmons of Fremont, H. Hahn of Blair, Harry F. Hooper of Clark. The referee is A. H. Waterhouse of Omaha.

Bids for Paving Bonds.

Bids for the sale of $50,000 general indebtedness bonds will be received by the city council up to 9 p. m. May 11. Bond buyers in the case will find the advertisement for the sale of this issue in The Bee. These bonds are to be issued for the purpose of improving South Twenty-fourth street and Railroad avenue. As the bonds run for twenty years and will draw 6 per cent interest it is expected that a number of buyers will file bids.

Solicitors' Ordinance Signed.

Mayor Koutsky has signed the amended solicitors' ordinance. This law will become effective six days from the last date of publication. It prohibits runners or solicitors for clothing firms or other stores from soliciting at large and confines them to the space in front of the buildings where they are employed. It has been represented to the mayor and council that solicitors were making themselves obnoxious at the Exchange and about the yards, and it was thought best to make an amendment to the present ordinance. For a violation of the law runners may be given a maximum fine of $15 and costs.

CORNISH STATES HIS CASE

T. L.'s Fifth Ward Republicans that He Wants Their Support.

NO TIME FOR FACTIONAL DISPUTING

Admits that He Has Supported the Party's Nominees and Suggests that Others Do the Same.

The annual meeting of the Fifth Ward Republican club for the election of officers was held last night in the hall at the corner of Sixteenth and Corby streets. The hall was crowded and, notwithstanding the fact that the campaign is still so young, the meeting was very enthusiastic. E. J. Cornish was the principal speaker of the evening and he succeeded in rallying a few campaign lines already circulated about him. In part Mr. Cornish said:

"Some persons have the temerity to come to me and say that I cannot be nominated because Mr. Rosewater is supporting me. If you can show me a man who is a candidate for office this year who does not desire the undivided support of his party, I would like to see him. I want the support of Mr. Rosewater, Mayor Moore and all other republicans. This is not a year when we elect a president; when we ought to strengthen our party. Did you ever know a political campaign in which I was not on one side or the other, and did I not always make it plain just when I would stand in railing a few campaign lines already circulated about him. In part Mr. Cornish said:

"I have heard it said that I should be defeated because I supported Frank E. Moore for mayor. But was he not nominated in 1902? He is not a republican. He elects a president; when we ought to strengthen our party. Did you ever know a political campaign in which I was not on one side or the other, and did I not always make it plain just when I would stand in railing a few campaign lines already circulated about him. Did you ever know a political campaign in which I was not on one side or the other, and did I not always make it plain just when I would stand in railing a few campaign lines already circulated about him. In part Mr. Cornish said:

His Political Beliefs.
 Mr. Cornish outlined his opinion regarding the principal public questions which confront the nation today and made clear to his hearers that he had been following the leadership of such men as Ex-President Harrison, Secretary Taft, Thomas B. Reed and Mrs. D. E. Craghead were nominated delegates to the international convention to be held at St. Louis in August. The election will take place May 12. To aid in paying the expenses of the delegates a ball will be given at Chambers' academy May 21.

The headquarters of the Board of Lady Managers promises to be a favorite rendezvous for visiting women of note at the St. Louis fair. Mrs. Daniel Manning, president of the board, will have her office on the second floor of one of the buildings allotted for this purpose. On the lower floor is a large reception room and above ten bed rooms, each attractively furnished, which will be at the disposal of the lady managers. Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Bookwalter of Ohio, vice president of the board, will reside in the house during the exposition season.

The Nebraska Ceramic club held its April meeting Monday afternoon in the studio of Mrs. M. S. Morrell.

It is said that the Women's Christian Temperance union of Kansas will next month take possession of the property in Kansas City given it by Mrs. Carrie Nation. The bequest includes five lots, upon which are several buildings, and it is intended that it shall be made a school where girls and women may receive instruction in evangelistic, missionary, Women's Christian Temperance union and domestic work. It will also be the state Women's Christian Temperance union headquarters.

WOMAN IN CLUB AND CHARITY.

The New York City Federation of Women's Clubs has just held its third convention, the education, legislative, child labor and club committees having the program in charge. Each department of work was represented by one of its recognized ablest leaders. Miss Margaret Haley, president of the National Federation of Teachers, spoke in behalf of education. She, with her characteristic frankness and force, told the women that their schools are suffering from "one man" power; that their courses of study rather than being selected for the benefit of their children are mapped out by the business firms that have books to sell. There were also other speakers of note. Mrs. Florence Kelley of the Consumers' League spoke in behalf of the child labor committee. She urged the club women to investigate the conditions in the stores where they make their purchases and to see for themselves the number of girls under 14 years of age who are employed there; that as the club women had aided materially in the passage of the child labor bill, they now continue their effort in the much more difficult task of seeing that it is enforced. The necessity of earnest work in each department was emphasized by the statement of personally gathered facts concerning the corrupt conditions existing in the city and of the stonewall disregard of results.

The Omaha Auxiliary to Typographical union No. 190 met at the home of Mrs. P. J. Doyle Monday afternoon, thirty members being present. Mrs. E. G. Smith of South Omaha and Mrs. D. E. Craghead were nominated delegates to the international convention to be held at St. Louis in August. The election will take place May 12. To aid in paying the expenses of the delegates a ball will be given at Chambers' academy May 21.

At the farewell reception given F. L. Willis, recently secretary for the Young Men's Christian association, and his wife, at the association parlors last night, the large crowd which attended evidenced the popularity of the couple and the esteem in which they are held. Over 80 persons turned out to get a last handshake with the secretary. The guests were received by the board of directors and their wives. The reception was purely informal and took the nature of a social gathering. In one of the recreation rooms Misses Carpenter, Dupont and McConnell presided over a "punch" bowl. Music was furnished by the association orchestra.

At the close of the reception Dr. Henry, in the name of the board of directors and the members, presented Mr. Willis with a gold watch and fob; the board of directors presenting the watch and the assistant secretaries and members the fob. Mr. Willis was very much moved by the action of his associates and in their honor for the token, he also took the opportunity of thanking them for their help in past years. He spoke feelingly of his reception in Omaha, by the merchants of the city, the board of directors and members of the association, and asked that his successor receive the same treatment that he had.

Mr. Willis leaves for Worcester, Mass., where he takes up the position of general secretary for the Young Men's Christian association there. A successor to fill his place has not been appointed and until a decision is reached, Assistant Secretary Brockman will take charge of the association's affairs.

No Mercy This Time.

"Judge, would you please take pity on me just this time!" pleaded Mrs. McGraw when arraigned before Police Magistrate Herka on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. "I have taken pity on you several times and let you off. Only the other morning I discharged you, and here you are again, in as bad a condition as ever," replied the judge. "You need straining out and I'll sentence you to fifteen days."

The West Virginia clubs have at last effected a state organization, a convention having been held April 22 for that purpose. Miss Kate McKnight, president of the Pennsylvania federation, assisted in the organization. Mrs. Guy R. C. Allen of Wheeling was elected president and a vice president was elected from each of the four congressional districts that include federated clubs.
