Chwang, where the forts have been dismantled. Furthermore, several railway structures between the city and Kiao-Chow have been blown up. There are sure proofs of a determination to soon give the finishing stroke which all friends of Russia are expecting.

RUSH RECRUITS TO KOUROPATKIN. Russia Orders Out Reserves in Two Districts for the East.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 9.—The reinforcements prepared for General Kouropatkin are being hurried. The last stage of the mobilization of the Tenth and Seventeenth army corps has been signalled by the calling out of the reserves in the Moscow and Kharkoff provinces. They will go to the front, thus placing another 100,000 men at Kouropatkin's disposal.

WAR COMMISSION AT ST. PETERSBURG. Reports No Fresh Collisions. ST. PETERSBURG, May 10.—The war commission adjourned at a late hour this morning, but did not make public any dispatches from the far east. This is accepted as an indication that no fresh collisions have occurred.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 9.—The twelfth international convention of the Restaurant and Hotel Employes' Alliance and the Bartenders' League of America opened here today, with 300 delegates present. It is claimed that the unions represented at this convention number 85,000 men. Mayor Cutler delivered an address of welcome.

Methodist Minister Stricken. MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., May 9.—Sudden death of a Methodist minister, who was preaching in the large congregation whose heads were bowed while the minister prayed for their welfare, Rev. O. B. Newell, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church here, fell stricken with paralysis in his pulpit. For a moment the parishioners were dumb-founded and the form of the stricken pastor was allowed to pitch headlong to the floor. He was removed to his home, but cannot live.

Wrestling Match a Draw. HOOPER, Neb., May 9.—(Special.)—A very interesting wrestling match was held last evening at Hooper, Neb. The match was between several years ago, the attendance was not large. The match was between Ambrose, a local strong man, and Prof. E. K. Rogers of Omaha. The local man was about sixty pounds heavier than his opponent, but the latter clearly showed that he was a better wrestler and won the first fall after four minutes of fast work while the local man won the second fall in about the same length of time. The third fall was not wrestled on account of the local man not having reduced his weight to 150 pounds as agreed. Between the two rounds a couple of local men in company with a few spectators with a little sparring exhibition.

BEBEL TALKS FOR JAPANESE

Socialist Leader in Reichstag Would Be Pleased with Russian Defeat.

EXPECTS LIBERALITY THROUGH REVERSE

Says Germany is Disliked by Other Nations Because It Pays Too Much Attention to Warfare.

BERLIN, May 9.—During the discussion following the third reading of the budget bill in the Reichstag today, Herr Bebel, the socialist leader, referred to Emperor William's speech at Karlsruhe and Mayence, remarking that the pointed allusions to France had caused great surprise, coming so soon after the emperor's return from Italy, where President Loubet had been received with hearty ovations. The emperor's forces on the other hand, were enhanced in importance through the fact that he telegraphed to Emperor Nicholas from Sicily, on the occasion of the sinking of the Russian battleship Petropavlovsk, as follows: "Russia's mourning is Germany's mourning."

Herr Bebel, continuing, said: "I deny most emphatically that the emperor's telegram reflects the sentiments of the German people. In my opinion German sympathies are far more on the side of Japan than on that of Russia."

This statement caused murmurs of dissent on the right. "The land in which such things can happen as recently occurred in Russia," continued Herr Bebel, "stands upon such a low level of civilization that all the rest of Europe has the most lively interest in seeing the sun of civilization rise upon it."

Defeat May Bring Liberal Laws. Herr Bebel then alluded to the special reforms inaugurated in Prussia after the defeat of 1866 and Austria's defeat of 1893.

RIFLES ARE BEING MADE AT LHASSA

In Engagement with British Natives Demonstrate Knowledge of Improved Arms and Good System of Espionage.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Details of the battle of May 6 between the British expedition and natives of Tibet, recounted in a dispatch from the Times correspondent at Karo pass, Tibet, that the action took place 15,000 feet above the sea level. It was the outcome of an attack on Colonel Younghusband and his escort at early dawn on Thursday by 800 men from Dungle. The attacking force arrived at Yangtse midnight, the approach being with the utmost secrecy.

The garrison, under command of Major Murray, behaved with great gallantry and beat off the attack successfully, although the pick of the men and nearly all the senior officers had been taken for an expedition to Karo.

It is noteworthy that the attack was delivered shortly after the Karois force moved out, proving that the Tibetans had good information.

When Colonel Brandes with his rifle corps arrived on Thursday night, 1,000 Tibetans were holding a wall three miles ahead. Their position was well flanked and elaborate preparations had been made for the hurling down of rocks from both sides of the gorge. Seven hundred of the men were from Lhasa and the remainder from Karo and this locality.

The enemy, after obstinate resistance, were cleared from the wall. Two Sangara, well defended, held back the advance two and a half hours, during most of which time a pelting hailstorm was in progress.

The general plan of attack was an outflanking movement by one company of Gurkhas and a direct attack by pioneers. Ultimately it was found necessary to detach a small force of pioneers to scale a precipice 1,500 feet high.

The gallantry of both Sikhs and the pioneers, both of whom were conspicuous, and the resistance was stubborn until the flanks were turned. When that occurred, the entire Tibetan force fled from the wall.

The casualties of the Tibetans during the actual fight were about seventy-five, probably many again were lost during the pursuit by mounted infantry who have not returned. Captain Bethune, who was among the five British killed, fell while leading his men to the attack on the wall.

The construction of the wall and the policy of the Tibetans was well reflected credit on the Tibetans so much so that its abandonment must have been due to sheer cowardice, as it would have been almost impossible to take it by frontal attack, the enemy largely using Lhasa-made rifles and cartridges instead of matchlocks.

Many women are denied the happiness of children through derangement of the generative organs. Mrs. Beyer advises women to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM!—I suffered with stomach complaint for years. I got so bad that I could not carry my children but five months, then would have a miscarriage. The last time I became pregnant my husband got me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the first bottle I was relieved of the sickness of stomach, and began to feel better in every way. I continued its use and was enabled to carry my baby to maturity. I now have a nice baby girl, and can work better than I ever could before. I am like a new woman."

DEATH RECORD.

LONDON, May 9.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from St. Petersburg announces the death there at 9 o'clock this morning of M. Plekha, late minister of finance.

M. Plekha, who was born in 1852, was the son of a Russian general of German extraction. He entered the ministry of finance when 20 years of age and was credited with being a disciple of M. DeWitte, whom he succeeded as minister of finance in December last. M. Plekha became seriously ill as the result of an injury to his spine in a carriage accident some time previously and was obliged to undergo an operation, and in January of this year was said to be dying, pneumonia having set in. He was at that time relieved from his duties as minister of finance and transferred to the council of the empire.

Mrs. Cynthia Brown. DAVID CITY, Neb., May 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. Cynthia Brown, one of the oldest settlers of Butler county, died at her late residence in this city, this morning, at the age of 90 years. Her husband, Dr. Samuel L. Brown, died eight years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Brown came to Butler county in 1870. They resided on a homestead near David City when the town was platted. Mrs. Brown was removed to town when Dr. Brown practiced his profession until about 1890, when, owing to failing health, he retired from the practice. Mrs. Brown leaves two sons, Dr. Lewis and George L., and one daughter, Mrs. O. W. Stroud. Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

John G. Whitelock. ASHLAND, Neb., May 9.—(Special Telegram.)—While reading a newspaper on his porch at 7:45 o'clock tonight John G. Whitelock, a pioneer resident of Ashland, dropped over dead into the arms of Col. J. M. Clarke, who was sitting near. Heart failure caused his sudden death. Uncle John, as he was best known, was aged 79 years. He enlisted in the First Nebraska regiment in the civil war, and on his return was elected the first sheriff of Saunders county, in 1867, as a republican. Since that time he has resided in Ashland, except a short time spent in Omaha during the Transmississippi expedition.
