J. F. Hunt, the dairyman, and others appeared before the council and protested against the sweeping order issued at the The case against Fred Scovern, arrested last meeting for the opening of all streets in the Fifth and Sixth wards. Mr. Hunt said the order would work a hardship on him and many others, while the city and no one would be benefited, as the result would be that a large number of streets would be opened which are never traveled. City Solicitor Snyder suggested that the council should discriminate as to what streets should be opened and should open only those which are needed. It was finally decided that the order remain in abeyance until the aldermen look over the ground and determine exactly what streets needed opening and what do not.

Ditch Contracts Illegal. The supreme court having, in a case from Emmet county, held that the old drainage ditch law was unconstitutional and void, the supervisors of Harrison and Pottawattamie counties will be unable to proceed with the construction of the Pottawattamle Harrison county drainage ditches under the ontracts awarded last year. The supervisors of the two counties will have to start anew and do all their work over again. This, it is believed, will cause - elay of at least a year. The opinion here is that under the deision of the supreme court in the Emmet ounty case, the contracts for the Potta wattamie-Harrison county drainage ditches will have to be let anew. While the contractors for the principal portions of the drainage system-the Allen creek and Wilow cresk ditches have made some prepaations, they have not begun the work of actual construction. W. A.
