Winter Wheat News Improves and Bulls Are Getting Weaker.

CASH CORN SHOWS BEARISH INFLUENCE

Question as to Local Inspections Inised Similar to that in Chicago When Armour Was After Corner.

The winter wheat news is generally improving and some of the buil crowd are weakening. The seeding is reported as progressing favorably in almost all sections. The wheat and flour demand is reported today as much worse than Thursday. Another bearish influence, at least as far as cash corn is concerned, is the advance of lake rates from Chicago to Buffalo of 2½c. The cables were weak and wheat off 3d on heavy Argentine shipments and heavy visible supplies in Argentine reports. The shipments this week have been 2,864,000, as against 2,104,000 last year. Argentine corn shipments were 84,000 for the week, against 672,000 for last year. To complete the bearish influence noticeable the Modern Miller and Snow in his weekly report find everything for the better in the winter wheat crop.

A Chicago paper says: There are some indications Nebraska corn is being offered more freely in Omaha. It is said a long line amounting to about 500,000 bushels of the May is being held at Omaha, by one grain house. The cash interests there say they expect to be able to deliver all the May they are short."

The new corn movement is to be expected in two or three weeks, but it is probable it will be light. When the market is dull the farmer does not care to send his corn, and after having received such high prices he will not put out his reserve very liberally.

The range in price of Omaha grain for future delivery and the close Thursday and today were as follows:

A question as to Omaha inspections has been raised in much the same way as the Chicago inspections were brought up when Armour was operating for a corner in the cash corn some weeks ago. He had chartered vessels to carry out the contract stuff and balked at some of the quality delivered. He was sustained by the grain committee. The local long interest has taken similar action, it is said, in regard to 10,000 bushels of corn which was delivered from the Union elevator in Council Bluffs a few days ago on May contracts. The big local long declares the stuff is No. 3 corn. It has been found not contract. The Omaha contract stocks are decreased that much. Another question of the same kind comes up over the delivery of five cars on May contract to Charles Escher, a prominent feeder of Manning, Ia.

Mr. Escher was in the city today and declared the corn which was delivered is not contract stuff. He preceded his visit here by a letter and the grain committee set on the matter. One car was rejected and four declared contract. It may be that the committee may further consider the question. The market was dull this morning, the cash stuff following the weakness of the May. Holders of corn were disinclined to part with it for the monsy offered and buyers were critical.

The news over night of the fixing of the amount of the new New York Central debenture bond issue at $50,000,000 instead of $30,000,000, as was understood yesterday, was not stimulating to the general market, owing to the inroads upon money resources indicated. The trunk line stocks generally were probably affected to some extent by the threatened tieup of lake traffic, owing to the dispute between the Masters' and Pilots' association. The arrival in San Francisco of a consignment of $2,225,000, which may be immediately available to New York banks by telegraphic transfer promised alleviation from the gold drain. The 2-point rise in Amsigamated Copper had some sentimental effect in sestaining the early market. United States Steel preferred also got nearly a point over last night's level. But the pressure was renewed on the United States Steel stocks as the day progressed.

lacking in life and activity this morning in spite of the fact that receipts were very light even for a Friday. Not only that, but offerings have been small all the week, and while salesmen have been trying to advance the market, the indifference of packers has made it practically impossible to accomplish much in that direction. It looks very much as though there was sufficient dressed beef on hand to racet the immediate requirements of the trade, and until that surplus is cleaned up not much change can be expected.

The market on corpfed steers was slow, and while as a rule about steady prices.

3.3 The market on cornfed steers was slow, and while as a rule about steady prices were paid, still there was no snap or tone to the trade. Buyers took their time about a cooking at the cattle, and instead of buying them up in a few minutes, the morning was well along before a clearance was made. Some salesmen even thought they had to take less money for their cattle than the same kinds sold for yesterday, but as 1.7 a general thing there was not enough change in the market to be worthy of mention.

The cow market was also slow, but about 13.1 steady. There were only a few in the yards, but it took a long time to sell them. Anything desirable sold without a great call of trouble, but the medium to common kinds were dull and, the same as with beef steers, in spots they looked lower.

Bulls sold fairly well at generally steady prices, but veal calves were very slow and 1.4 lower. With the exception of something unusually good, the top is about 25.

There were just a few odd bunches of stook cattle in sight, but the better grades sold without much trouble at steady prices, even though the close of the week is at hand. Common stuff, though, was hard to dispose of even at reduced prices. Rep-

Condition of Trade and Quotations on Staple and Fancy Produce, EGGS-Receipts, liberal; market steady; SHEEP—There were about a dozen cars of sheep and lambs reported this morning, but the larger proportion of them were wooled stock. Buyers took hold of the clipped stock in fairly good shape and paid just about steady prices, but when it came to the wooled stock the market was extremely duil. Salesmen in fact could scarcely get a bid, as packers did not appear to want the wooled ones at any price. The clipped lambs sold at $5.55 and clipped swes $4.6, with a little bunch of native clipped ewes at $4.75. At a late hour there were still several cars unsold.

A white girl, masquerading in Indian costume as "Shining Star," assisted them. While the sani-tarium man kept back the curious meb the two braves thumped several times on a tambourine, glared at the cun, waved tomahawks, winked at each other, and lo! Little Bear was ready to receive congratulations. Then the incubation promoter said to the mob in confidential tones:

"Don't think we're fools enough to use a real baby. Lineup on the curb and I will reveal the genuine babe." "But what's the squaw carrying if it isn't the kid?" asked many disappointed spectators. "That is a substitute," replied the master of ceremonies. It seemed alive, and the prevalent theory was that it was a dog, but "Shining Star" refused to uncover the bundle .- Chicago
