Pfeister Will Pitch for Omaha, and Eyler for Denver This Afternoon in the Third Game of the Series.

The next man who dares to say Pa Rourke hasn't got one of the finest ball teams that ever tramped the turf has got to show 3,121 people, who saw it shut out Tebeau's pets yesterday afternoon at Vinton park. Not only did they beat them from end to end of the game, but the topnotchers never had a look-in at any time and scored a string of nine as pretty little Companion pitched a splendid game, in which only five scattering hits were made off him. His support was gittedged all the way, the only error that was recorded being given to Companion on a difficult fielding attempt, at which he threw iow to second base.

The first run for Omaha was brought in by slippery Nick Carter, who, by the use of a good many of his legs, beat Hallman's fumble of his hit out at first. A sacrifice by Howard and a hit to short by Miller put Nick on the third corner and then little Harry Weich did the rest with a dinger out to the center garden. Shipke brought in the other in the fifth by two flaring errors by the ton-natchers and a brought in the other in the fifth by two glaring errors by the top-notchers and a heady pitching, did Companion keep the visitors from scoring when it looked as if they must record a tally. In short the game was the best for many a day in this neck of the woods and put the home team first in the hearts of their countrymen without regard to where they are in the league standing.

Run, Which Brings Victory.

The ball game between the regular Field club team and the Lee-Glass-Andreesen Originals, carried on at the same time as the golf tourney at the Field club yesterday, created all, kinds of excitment and was only won by the visiting team by virtue of Bradford's home run in the ninth. Bradford's hitting throughout the game was little short of phenomenal. Out of five times at bat he made a single, two doubles and finally a home run.
