Most of her own life was passed in Scranton, Pa., where her husband established the first hardware store, and her brother and cousins were identified with the pioneer work in Iron and coal, the city that grew up around these industries being named after this family of Scrantons. Since her husband's death in 1866, four years after celebrating the golden wedding in Omaha, Mrs. Doud had divided her time between her children, and, owing to physical weakness, accompanied by increasing blindness, had seldom been seen outside the house. Until quite recently, however, her mind pired in the world of affairs. By her marvelous patience and cheerfulness she had won the hearts of a large number of friends, who will learn of her decease with profound regret. DOCTORS FOR MEN

Everything has to have a beginning, and one of the most prolific sources of the diseases and weaknesses so prevalent among men is the result of abuses in early life or neglected or improperly treated pelvic diseases, such as Gonorrhoos, etc. While Gonorrhoea is considered one of the simplest contagious diseases, yet through neglect it develops into Stricture and Gieet, insidiously progressing and tenaciously fastening itself upon the system until it has invaded the kidneys, bladder and prostatic region, rendering it so complicated as to be incurable in some cases. Perhaps the first symptom was a ittle disease, which if properly treated could have been cured in a few days. Riscurnatism is another result of improper treatment of this condition, proceeding not only excrutiating pain, but it frequently warps and twists one of more of the joints in the body, producing acribic deformities, frequently depriving the individual of the ability to earn a living for himself, leaving him a helpless and tortured cripple for life. Another deplorable result of this disease when he properly treated is swollen glands, that are not only painful, but will finally desiroy a man sexually, and in many cases physically. When this disease, through neglect or improper treatment, by its extension has caused a cystific invasion of the bladder, thence by its extension up the ureters to the kidneys, it there produces results that are indeed lamentable. Some men, through igno trance of the consequences which are sure to follow neglect or improper treatment, consider this a triffing aliment and rely upon patent medicines, druggists and unskilled doctors in an effort to secure relief for the cost of a bottle of medicine, and by this procedure allow the disease to make serious inreade upon the sexual and nervous systems and incapacitates them for the physical, mental and sexual duties of life, and the patient pays dearly for his economy, or the selection of incompetent attendance.
