AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Council Does Not Look Kindly on Fire Board's Plan

NO HURRY TO BUY LOT FOR FIRE HOUSE

Proposed that bids for sites be asked and that the balance in fund be held for case of emergency.

Referring to the request of the Fire and Police board for the purchase of a piece of property at Twenty-fifth and L streets for fire hall purposes, a member of the council said last night: "There is not any particular hurry about this matter, and the mayor and council have the last say in regard to the expenditure of the city's money, it does not look as if the property desired by the board would be bought right away."

Continuing, this councilman said: "The board comes to us with a request to spend $500 for a piece of property. If the mayor and council want to make a purchase of anything amounting to over $500, bids must be advertised for. Why not advertise for bids for a site for a fire hall? Hardly anyone expects the council to be so foolish as to run into a contract to purchase a piece of ground for fire hall purposes when no money is in sight to build a hall or half way equip it after being constructed."

Another member of the council declared that he would never vote for an appropriation to purchase property for the use of the city without first advertising for bids. Other members of the council who were asked about the matter answered in the same strain, so that there does not seem to be any immediate possibility of the property being purchased.

Chairman Mason of the Fire and Police board asserts that by economy the board has saved enough to pay for the property desired. The books in the clerk's office show that there is now to the credit of the fire fund $7,123. Out of this must come May, June and July expenses. At the present rate of expenditure there will be just about enough left in the fire fund to pay for the lot the board desires to buy. The council does not propose to let the fund become entirely exhausted, for emergencies might arise and cause an overlap.

While talking on this matter Mayor Koutsky said, after looking up the balance in the fire fund: "While it is undoubtedly true that there will be enough money left at the end of the fiscal year to buy this property, at the present rate of expenditure, there is no telling what might happen. Should there be a big fire and some hose destroyed there would be no money to buy new hose, unless credit is established on the 1904 levy. I do not propose to allow this. What the fire department needs just now, instead of a vacant lot, is some horses and a better fire alarm system. Most of the horses in the department are worn out and I am told that the city fire alarm system is practically worthless. When the levy for the fire department was made a year ago the commissioners promised to make great improvements, but aside from the rebuilding of hose wagon No. 1 there has been nothing of consequence done."

It was estimated at the city hall yesterday that even should the lot be purchased at least $5,000 would have to be expended to construct a suitable building. Then additional apparatus would be needed to maintain department headquarters. A chemical engine is one of the needs, and the suggestion was made yesterday that the Fire and Police board recommend the purchase of a chemical engine and light running team instead of buying a lot, which may never be used. For the headquarters of the fire department on Twenty-fourth street a rental of $40 a month is paid and the mayor and council appear to be satisfied with this arrangement for the time being.

High School Seniors Tonight

This evening exercises at the First Methodist Episcopal church will close the school term in South Omaha for the year ending May 15. The graduating class voted that no papers should be read by the graduates. Instead there is to be an address by W. K. Fowler, state superintendent of schools. The program as outlined is a selection by an orchestra. Next there will be an invocation by Rev. M. A. Head, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. This is to be followed by a vocal solo by Mrs. H. C. Richmond. Then comes the address of Superintendent Fowler. After another selection from the orchestra the diploma will be presented by J. C. Closing Exercises Last Night

At Workman temple last night the closing exercises of the eighth grade pupils of the public school were held. The auditorium of the temple was crowded with friends of the pupils and there was scarcely room enough on the platform for the 150 members of the class who received certificates. Following an orchestra selection, there was an invocation by Rev. Dr. Wheeler of the Presbyterian church. Miss Catherine Rowley delivered her favorite selection, "The La Rue Stakes," and this was followed by a class song.

Rev. Charles Fordyce, dean of the Nebraska Wesleyan university, delivered the address to the class. Vice President J. C. Knight of the Board of Education presented certificates to those who are now eligible to enter the high school this fall. The auditorium and stage were tastefully decorated with potted plants, etc. The class of last night was one of the largest ever receiving certificates for entry into the high school at the closing exercises.

No estimate of the cost of this work is furnished by the architect.

Society of Artisans. Contractors say that there is a scarcity of carpenters, plasterers and brick masons in South Omaha at the present time. Many buildings already started are being held back on account of the inability of the contractors to secure men. A great many carpenters and brick masons and plasterers went to St. Louis from here and have not returned. One contractor said last night that there is now in eight plenty of work for good carpenters, first class plasterers and brick masons. As the union scale prevails here it is thought that when this information goes out there will be no trouble in securing help within a short time.

Building Turner Hall. Ground was broken yesterday for a building for the local Ted Sokol. This structure is to be located at Twenty-first and U streets and will be, when completed, 100 feet in length by 50 feet in width. The hall is to be of one story and will cost, when completed, about $20,000. The idea of constructing the building is to use it for the Bohemian Turners and also for social gatherings. It will take about ninety days to complete the building after the foundations are laid.

Dickinson Returns Home. William Dickinson, a horsehooper, has returned home after an absence of five years in the Philippine Islands. When there was a call for men of his trade Dickinson offered his services and went to the islands where he worked at his trade for five years. He says that he is glad to get back among his friends in South Omaha, and proposes to remain here. Dickinson brought a great many curios with him from Manila and Japan, which he is exhibiting to his friends at Hinchey & Murphy's blacksmith shop on N street, where he is now working.

June Statistics. City Treasurer Howe states that on June 1 there will be due at the state fiscal agency in New York City the sum of $2,338. Most of this amount is due on interest on outstanding bonds. As there is money in the bank to meet this obligation, there will be no necessity for asking any of the banks to make a short time loan, as has been customary in the past at this period of the fiscal year.

Magie City Gossip. Mrs. Anthony King of Dunlap, Ia., is in the city, the guest of her daughter, Mrs.

James Hannigan, Thirty-third and Q streets. E. C. Mayfield is preparing to remove to Kansas City. Rev. Andrew Renwick and wife have gone to St. Louis for a short visit.

McGill, the city poundmaster, still keeps going his rounds and collects about a dozen illegals dogs every week. Vassan and Nixon of the Police board were trying a new horse for the police department yesterday. The animal was not purchased as he was found to be too light.

There is big demand for painters and paper hangers. There is more work of this kind going on now than for some years. The Local legion will meet at the Methodist church at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

SHATTER LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM Holdup Men Rudely Interrupt Young Man and Woman in Riverview Park. Sitting on a bench in Riverview park, with the balmy zephyr wind blowing fresh and cool and the wonderful summer night enveloping the land and making the world seem as if it were created for them alone, H. Jaeger and Miss West, both rooming at the Union hotel, sat, enjoying to the fullest extent the glory of it all. Dreaming, dreaming, they sat, heading not the nesting nor the approach of two men, who, skulking in the shadows of the trees, crept stealthily upon them. Suddenly was their dream shattered, suddenly they were brought from heaven to a bitter, unfeeling earth.

"Hands up!" the command, stern and cold, came from behind them. With a shriek of terror, the girl turned to her lover, looking for protection in those strong arms. Alas! it was too late. The muzzle of a gun, seeming the size of a yawning pit, was thrust against his forehead, and the first command was followed by another to "Dig an' look sharp."

THE OMAHA CREDIT MEN'S ASSOCIATION held its monthly meeting last night at the Iler Grand hotel and put the finishing touches to the organization of the Omaha Jobbers' Investigation and Prosecution bureau. This bureau is for the purpose of prosecuting the credit men from dishonest men who conveniently fall in business if money is to be made by so doing.

The rules of the bureau were put before the organization and after a lengthy discussion adopted. By these rules all credit men who so desire subscribe to the fund of the association and agree to pay any assessments which may be levied for the prosecution of a dishonest failure. The assessment will be according to the money subscribed. From the tone of the discussion it seemed that the members thought that most of the failures nowadays are dishonest ones. The getting of the subscriptions will start at once and it is expected that the organization will be in working order by the next meeting.

FRANCIS STORY ONCE MORE

Of Repeated Report of His Going to Chicago is Again Put in Circulation.

The oft-repeated story that John Francis, general passenger agent of the B. & M., is to be placed in a higher position by the Burlington is once more revived; this time from Chicago. This latest version says Francis will either leave the Burlington or get a better position with it. Mr. Francis left for Chicago last night, prior to the receipt of the report. This story or some phase of it has been printed and reprinted time and time again and as often has it been denied by Mr. Francis.

A very prominent official of another road in Omaha made the assertion the other day that he knew positively Mr. Francis was to go to Chicago for the Burlington.

Be Careful of the Coat. L. Armstrong and A. Hill, both of South Omaha, gave the police a hearty laugh yesterday afternoon. The two, it is said, entered a pawn shop on Douglas street, where Armstrong picked out a coat and vest and put them on to see how they would fit. As the proprietor of the store was busy with other customers, the two, on some clothing, Armstrong made a dash for the door and went up the street, Lou colon style. The proprietor left Hill and chased Armstrong, shouting to a policeman to stop him. "He has got my coat," he said. "Shoot him, shoot him. Shoot him in the leg. The coat is mine. Don't shoot the coat. The policeman was unable to catch Armstrong on account of laughing, and the detectives were put on the case; the two being arrested in South Omaha last night.

ACCIDENT PROVES TO BE FATAL Illinois Man Injured by Cars at Pacific Junction, Dies in the Hospital. Frank McCann, residing on Monmouth, Ill., was run over by a train at Pacific Junction early yesterday morning and died from the injuries later in the afternoon at St. Joseph's hospital where he had been taken for treatment. The police were notified of the accident by the marshal at Pacific Junction, who said that the injured man was a member of the Steam Fitters' union. Word was given to the local union and Mr. Clifton and Mr. Nordgreen left for Pacific Junction and brought McCann to Omaha. It is not known how the accident occurred but it is presumed that McCann was riding on a freight train and fell out. The dead man leaves a wife and seven children, who, with the exception of one boy who lives in Omaha, are at Monmouth, Ill. The son in this city is 14 years old and works in a bowling alley. Fagert's undertaking firm have charge of the remains and will endeavor to send them to the home of the dead man as soon as his relatives are heard from.

Capt. Neely, Ohio Volunteers, Owes Life to Warner's Safe Cure

"I Was Dying of Kidney and Liver Disease, but Warner's Safe Cure Made Me Well in Three Months."

"About a year ago I had been afflicted for over thirty years, with a case of kidney and liver disease as a man could have and live. I could hardly sit up and everything I ate swam before my eyes. Like a skilled soldier, I wish every suffering man and woman could feel what your medicine can do. (Hon. T. O. Neely, Capt. Company E., Ohio Volunteers, Ravenna, Ill.)

The medicine I prescribed seemed only to poison my system and to make me worse. My wife begged me to try Warner's Safe Cure, and to please let me live. I did so. To my surprise, I was able to lie to it but half life to the story.

My appetite was quickly restored, my body was nourished and the urine seemed to flow through my veins and in three months I was a strong, healthy man once more.
