

CONVERSION OF SOUL A FACT

Change Wrought in Man by Christ's Love
Tangible and Genuine.

MUST FIRST BECOME AS LITTLE CHILDREN

Rev. A. S. C. Clarke Dwells on Disciples' Famous Confusion and Queries to Christ Over the Kingdom of Heaven.

Rev. A. S. C. Clarke of Lowe Avenue Presbyterian church spoke yesterday morning from the text Matthew 18:1-3. "At the same time came the disciples unto Jesus saying, who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven? And Jesus called a little child unto him and set him in the midst of them, and said, Verily I say unto you, except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven."

"These are very weighty words from a teacher who was not in the habit of trifling with any subject," said Mr. Clarke. "They teach the necessity, nature and results of conversion. First, the occasion. The disciples were wrought up over the question of their individual positions in the coming expected kingdom, the question of social precedence and political power. Their minds and hearts were busy with self-seeking, self-aggrandizement and rivalry. Such a condition as showed a spirit absolutely reckless of the feelings of others. It is a state of mind that is quite common among men at all times. Indeed, it shows a spirit that is cultivated and said to be desirable by many. No doubt they understood the kind of a kingdom the Master had come to set up."

Refer to Jesus. "The debate waxed so warm they finally referred the matter to Jesus for settlement. He settles it by giving, second, the object lesson. A little child is set in their midst. Perhaps a little boy of 3 to 5 years of age. Then follow the words which Jesus uttered. He started the disciples, and they were inclined to rebuke and laugh aside little children."

"Third, what do the terms denote? They assume they are not only going to be in the kingdom of heaven, but they will have position in it. It was only a question of what place. Here they are told they shall by no means enter it unless they alter their ways. The necessity of a change which is called conversion is plainly set forth. It is assumed they are not in a fit frame of mind to enter the kingdom of heaven as they are. The spirit they have just been showing proves it. If we seek for definitions of the kingdom of heaven, we find very meager statements. Christ teaches that it was not what the religious leaders of the day fancied and taught it was. It was not external. Not a political organization. Came not with pomp and show. It was within. It consisted of the spiritual reign of God in the actual life of men. It involved the deliverance of men from sin and the doing by them of the will of God. The king of that kingdom was their Father in heaven. Paul defined it as not meat and drink, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit."

Face to Face with a Fact.

"When we face this question of conversion then, are we dealing with anything that is tangible and cannot be got at, or are we in the realm of the mysterious? The revised version helps us out here in the change of fact. Not a political organization. Came not with pomp and show. It was within. It consisted of the spiritual reign of God in the actual life of men. It involved the deliverance of men from sin and the doing by them of the will of God. The king of that kingdom was their Father in heaven. Paul defined it as not meat and drink, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit."

BISHOP MILSPAUGH AT TRINITY

Preaches on Importance of Partaking of Holy Sacrament.

Bishop Milspaugh of Topeka occupied Trinity Cathedral pulpit yesterday and preached the Whitsunday sermon. His address was given to the history of the holy sacrament and an enlightening of the same. He quoted the passages of scripture which tell how Christ told His followers they must eat of His body and blood for salvation. How the people wondered, knowing He was Christ, the son of Joseph and Mary, when they knew, and how the people wondered how Christ should give them of His body and blood, were dissatisfied by this saying, which they could not understand, and many ceased from following Christ. And how Christ made no explanation for a year until the time of the last supper, when He gave them the bread and wine, saying it was His body and blood. "Let us come with faith and penitence," said the bishop, "to the commemoration of the birthday of the church. Let us come in all humility and accept these gifts which are offered us for our salvation. I know church people mean no disrespect when they turn their backs on the holy communion. I know that when many of them leave the church before the communion it is because they feel they are unworthy and not good enough to partake of the sacrament. Let me tell you, my brethren, if you are good enough after the trials and strife of a business day to kneel down by your beds and pray to the Father, you are good enough to come to the holy communion and pray to be made better for the next week. If you have faith, if you earnestly try to do better He will help you. If you turn your backs on the service I am afraid you will never become good enough for the sacrament."

WHIT SUNDAY AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Rev. G. F. Potter Preaches on Importance of the Common Place.

Whitsunday at St. Paul's Episcopal church was fittingly observed. The services were very impressive and quite lengthy. After the baptismal service and the service of receiving new members of the church, Rev. G. F. Potter delivered a sermon from the text taken from St. Luke 14: "Now when He had left off speaking, He said unto Simon, 'Launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a draught.'"

"The scene of this speech," said Rev. Potter, "was common to all in every respect. It was delivered amidst a commonplace scene and to a commonplace multitude; much the same sort of multitude that we see often assembled in our own time. But He who taught us to call nothing commonplace was there and He changed the whole scene. On the shore the crowd was excited, in the ship was peace."

"Worldly men of today are anxious, excited and troubled about many things, but the man who believes and trusts in Christ is at all times calm and collected; contented with life. The disciples were tossed into the ship and first to pass through the waters and so it is with people of the world now, they must first pass through the waters to enter into the kingdom of God."

FORTY HOURS' DEVOTION SERVICE

Exposition of the Sacrament at St. Cecilia's Catholic Church.

The exposition of the sacrament for forty hours' uninterrupted devotion began yesterday morning at St. Cecilia's Catholic church. The exposition, which is a religious and processional in which little girls in white veils and the priests participated. From this on more or less worshippers are expected to be in the church all the time, night excluded, until Wednesday morning, when the ship of the church ends. In the meantime masses will be celebrated in the morning at 8 o'clock and evening service, consisting of the rosary, sermon and benediction, will be held at 7:45. On Monday and Wednesday evenings Father Noonan of Lenox, Ia., will preach and the sermon on Tuesday evening will be by Father Callahan of South Omaha. The mass Sunday morning was celebrated by Rev. Father Stritch, assisted by the pastor, Father Harrington. Beautiful music was rendered by the church's choir and a congregation more than filled the edifice.

Father Stritch in his sermon said the forty hours' devotion was intended to serve as a renovation of the spirit of the congregation. He referred to the fact that it was Pentecost Sunday, the anniversary of the day when the Holy Ghost descended upon the apostles and gave them the spiritual wisdom to understand the truths which Christ for three years had labored vainly to have them appreciate. The congregation was urged to seek the enlightenment of the holy spirit by participation in the devotion, prayer and meditation.

MANCHESTER, May 22.—The steady decline in the price of cotton and the approach of the Whitsunday holidays caused a disinclination on the part of buyers to operate in the stock market last week, and of a miscellaneous character. A steady tone prevailed, however, and quotations all around were hardened, owing chiefly to the engagement of producers. The China inquiry was limited and difficult to arrange. The India trade was quieter, the demand having fallen off. In yarns the turnover was rather meager, though fair lines were secured near home. The fall in the price of cotton gave caution to the market and some hesitation in the requirements.

Avenge Shooting of Wife.

DUBOIS, Pa., May 22.—Frank Paul, a prominent man of Cardiff, who is eleven miles east of here, while visiting friends at a boarding house near his home, became involved in a quarrel with Saverio Pelligrino, an inmate of the house, Paul left hurriedly for his home, leaving his hat lying on the ground in front of the house. Mrs. Paul went after it when Pelligrino shot her dead. Paul, who had witnessed the scene from his own door, took a revolver and shot Pelligrino through the head, killing him. Paul was arrested.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Mayor Koutsky Says Fiscal Year Will Close with Funds Remaining.

NO EXAMPLE OF KIND IN SOME YEARS

City on Cash Basis Since Sale of General Indebtedness Bonds and No Need of an Overlap—Mighty City Gossip.

Mayor Koutsky spent a portion of yesterday afternoon looking over some of the city records. He said at the conclusion of his investigations that at the close of the fiscal year the city would have money in every fund. It is something that has not occurred for years.

About fourteen years ago an overlap began. This grew until it reached the sum of $70,000. Then the general indebtedness bonds were issued, cleaning up the overlap and providing for an annual levy to wipe out the debt. Since these bonds were sold the city is on a cash basis. The mayor said last evening there would be no need of an overlap in any fund this year, as there was plenty of money to go around, provided the council was economical.

While Tax Commissioner O'Neil has not given any intimation of what he is doing, it is presumed the valuation of last year will not be lowered to any extent, especially as it is presumed the county valuation is to be increased. The desire of the city officials is to cut the levy as much as possible and still bring in the money to carry on the city government in the manner that it has been run for the last couple of years. The council will not make the annual levy until July 15, when the books of the tax commissioner will be open to inspection.

Council Meeting Tonight.

An adjourned meeting of the city council is to be held tonight. There is nothing so far before the council but some routine business and the passage of some street improvement and sidewalk ordinances. It is expected an ordinance for the vacating of certain pieces of streets in West L street to accommodate the new Burlington viaduct will be introduced. Both the mayor and council favor this proposed ordinance. Mayor Koutsky said last night if the ordinance was handed in today and was read for the first time tonight he would be in favor of it. The ordinance, which was introduced for the purpose of the ordinance, it is probable this will be done, as the Burlington wants to get to work on the bridge as soon as possible and from the sentiment expressed by those living in the vicinity the viaduct cannot be constructed any too soon. The ordinance, which is a matter of only one grade crossing left in the city of any importance and that is at F street. When the Union Pacific completes its grading, relaying of tracks, etc., here it is expected that the council will suggest a bridge across the tracks at F street.

That Proposed Bond Issue.

In connection with the announcement for a mass meeting to be held Tuesday evening at the council chamber by business men interested in an increase in the city bonds an error was made. The city can only vote bonds for $3,000 for extension of sewers instead of $3,000, as was printed in the Bee of Sunday. As it is now the general bonded debt of the city is $10,000, and those interested in the call desire to have this debt increased by an issue amounting to $12,000. Considerable interest is being manifested in the proposition and it is expected that the council chamber will be crowded on Tuesday night.

Special Taxes Delinquent.

Special taxes for District No. 111 become delinquent on May 23 and are payable now at the office of the city treasurer. The special taxes for the districts also become delinquent at the same time as the ordinances were passed on the same night. After these taxes are delinquent the amounts assessed against the abutting property will draw interest at the rate of 1 per cent a month. As in nearly all of the districts in question the amounts to the individual owner are small, consequently the treasurer does not expect to have to carry many of the special taxes on his books.

Howe Makes Statement.

City Treasurer Howe does not take money for taxes under the scavenger law. Instead he issues warrants for the amounts due to any property owner who calls at his office. This statement is taken to County Treasurer Fink in Omaha and when the money is paid a receipt is given. No money for taxes under the scavenger law are accepted by the city treasurer. Mr. Howe desires that this statement be made, as he is called upon a number of times daily to explain why he cannot accept this money.

Mighty City Gossip.

Newspaper carrier boys are wanted at the Bee office. Omaha has a new "Loyal Democratic league" will meet Monday night at Hiernian hall. A. L. Jones, who has been up with the grip, was reported as some better yesterday. Grading for the new artificial stone plant at Twenty-eighth and J streets will commence today. A case of undulant fever is reported at the home of J. A. Grinnell, 161 South Twenty-second street. The Amphion club is preparing for a Friday evening of this week. Boys having points can secure positions carrying newspaper routes by applying at the Bee office, City Hall building, South Omaha. The fire and police board is expected to meet on Tuesday night and grant some liquor licenses left over from the last meeting. Miss Mae Lovely will give a piano recital at the First Methodist church on Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week. St. Martin's guild will give an ice cream social at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Everett, 1012 North Twenty-first street, on Tuesday evening. Railroad freight agents are circulating among local coal dealers soliciting trade for the prospective run of anthracite coal to this section.

If desirous of buying a diamond consult your own interest by going to A. B. Huberman, the only diamond importer in the west. The raises of 20 per cent since last fall has not raised his prices and will not until his latest fall's importations are all sold. Special orders for his next trip to Amsterdam desired by June 15. Mountings for precious stones, rings, brooches, etc., are made in his own shop of the very highest grade at two-thirds prices generally charged for inferior work. His location since 1895 is at the S. E. corner of 13th and Douglas.

CRAIG NOW IN SAN RAFAEL

Former Rector of Trinity Accepts Pulpit in Beautiful California Bay Town.

Rev. Robert E. Lee Craig, who was for about one year rector of Trinity cathedral in this city, has accepted a call as rector of St. Paul's church, San Rafael, Cal. Rev. Mr. Craig left here about one year ago and located in San Francisco. His many friends in this city are much pleased to hear that he is located in such a beautiful spot and so comfortably situated. Mrs. Craig is in San Rafael and they have already occupied the rectory. Rev. Mr. Craig preached his first sermon Sunday.

IN THE INSURANCE FIELD

Theodore L. Ringwalt of Ringwalt Bros., in speaking of the safety fund law of New York, said:

"It seems to me, would be very beneficial if passed by the legislature of our own state. Under it there can be no bankrupt insurance companies and policy holders who sustain large losses are greatly protected thereby. It is something which is probably not very familiar to most people, but a clear exposition of the law is contained in the New York state report of 1902. Owing to the recent large losses sustained by fire companies, and the bankruptcy of some of them by reason of such losses I should judge that an examination of the provisions of the law with a view to the passage of a similar measure in Nebraska would be interesting. A portion of the report is as follows. The law was passed in 1874:

"Under the provisions of an act to provide security against extraordinary conflagrations, and for the creation of a safety fund by fire insurance companies, such companies are authorized to create special reserve funds for certain purposes described therein. It is optional with companies to comply with the law. Those which do are prohibited from declaring more than 7 per cent dividend on their capital stock until such safety fund shall reach an amount equal to their capital stock. Meanwhile the entire amount of their profits beyond the 7 per cent dividend authorized is invested and deposited, the one-half with the company and the remaining half with the insurance department. In the event of an extraordinary fire sweeping away the entire capital of the company and the one-half of the surplus safety fund remaining with the company, and the same having been paid over to the insured pro rata according to their losses, the company is then relieved from all liability on account of such losses, and the other half deposited with the insurance department, stands as a new capital for the company to go on with their business, provided that if the one-half so on deposit with the insurance department is less than the sum of $200,000 the deficiency shall be made up by the stockholders, falling in that the whole sum is liable for the losses as aforesaid. It will be seen that this acts as a double protection, first to the policy holders, who are not directly concerned with the losses by such extraordinary fire and secondly to the company in its ability to go on with the business after it has suffered the loss of and parted with all its capital."

The Nebraska Life Underwriters are expected to meet tonight, the occasion being an address delivered at the meeting to be held by the association at the Her Grand hotel by Vice President Baker of the National Underwriters' association. Quite an extensive program has been prepared for the occasion, but of course Mr. Baker will be the principal feature of the evening. A banquet will be served before the speeches begin.

Joseph A. De Boer, president of the National Life Insurance company of Vermont, is in the city in the evening and part of the day Sunday. He is the youngest president of any great life insurance company in the world, being but 42 years of age. At the time he assumed the presidency of his company he was two years younger. He has successfully filled an important office with the National Life Insurance company, starting at the bottom and working to the top. He is a great scholar, financier and actuary.

In connection with the recent talk of a 20 per cent increase in rates by fire companies, the insurance department has been interested to note that notice has been served of a 20 per cent increase to be made in the rates in Baltimore. The raise includes all scheduled rated risks excepting standard sprinkled risks and distillery warehouses and their contents. An increase of 20 per cent on all classes excepting sprinkled risks has also been ordered in Birmingham, Ala., by the executive committee of the Southeastern Tariff association.

The forthcoming annual report of the Iowa insurance department shows that the life companies collected $4,409,947 from Iowa policy holders in 1903, and paid losses of $1,673,356. The business in force increased from $185,125,261 in 1902 to $209,483,387 in 1903.

Notes from the Office.

W. Farnham Smith was in Chicago during the week on business. S. C. Bolling, superintendent of agencies for the Equitable Life, was in the city last week. He is making an extended trip south and west for his company.

W. H. C. Woodhurst of North Platte, Neb., is in the city. He is a member of the Mercantile Fire Insurance company, and is in the city Friday and Saturday on business connected with his company.

E. R. Perfect, special agent and adjuster of the American of New Jersey, and the Security of New Hampshire, are in the city. Mr. Perfect has gone for a trip to St. Louis, and will be back here next week.

St. R. Elton, one of the leading life agents of the city, is in the city. He is a member of the Mercantile Fire Insurance company, and is in the city Friday and Saturday on business connected with his company.

The Columbia Fire Insurance company will open a branch office at Capitol Hill within the next two weeks, and will then be in position to assist the members of the Omaha underwriters in handling a portion of their Iowa business.

H. H. Miller, formerly connected with the Nebraska underwriters, has entered the employ of the State Fire Insurance company of New York. Mr. Miller's headquarters will be at the company's home office No. 1, in the New York Life building.

Henry Wackerbarth, manager of Sanborn Map company of Chicago, was an Omaha visitor during the past week. Mr. Wackerbarth says surveys have been made of a large number of Nebraska towns, and at an early date will be surveyed and corrections sent out for the latest first.

J. J. Woodbridge, state agent and adjuster for the Columbia Fire Insurance company in Iowa, was in the city. He is a member of the Mercantile Fire Insurance company, and is in the city Friday and Saturday on business connected with his company.

Willa Tremblay, secretary of the German Insurance company of Prepsort, Ill., spent Friday in Omaha with the agents of her company. Mr. Tremblay had not been in Omaha for a long time and expressed a desire to see the city. He was highly pleased with the protection we have through our excellent department. He said Omaha is surely going to grow as never before in its history.

PEOPLE THROG KRUG PARK

Fully Fifteen Thousand Pass Through Gates on the Opening Day.

EFFECT OF THE FIRE IS NOT FELT

Huster's Band, Better Than Ever, Wins Pleadits and Numerous Other Means of Entertainment Are Present.

Fully 15,000 people paid the price and passed through the gates at Krug park yesterday, despite the fact that one week previous the day set for the opening of the "polite resort" a $25,000 fire swept away the best part of the pavilion and other buildings.

The day was ideal and people thronged through the gates until it was difficult for any more to get in. If the opening day is any criterion this, the fourth season of the park, bids fair to be the most propitious of any.

Aside from a high board fence enclosing the new pavilion being built, there was little or nothing to indicate that a fire a week ago had occurred. The new pavilion, $10,150, is being pushed forward to completion as fast as possible and will be opened in about two weeks. It will be modern in its appointments and will place the park on a better standard than ever. Carpenters are being worked in two shifts on the new structure. The walks in and around the annex have been laid with dustless Sherman gravel.

The switchback railway proved one of the strongest attractions of the day. People of all sizes, ages, colors, nationalities and occupations rubbed elbows in their anxiety to get into one of the little cars that goes whizzing uphill and downhill until you almost wish you had not ate that last dish of ice cream.

Huster's Band Better Than Ever. As usual Huster's band won the pleadsits of the crowd with two choice programs. This company of twenty-five musicians is stronger this year than ever. Several members of the band are soloists of recognized ability. During yesterday afternoon's program Charles Jones, cornet soloist, formerly of Balsted's band, received three encores. W. Quick, French horn, also earned favorable comment. Messrs. S. B. Carter, direct from Puncchelli's New York band, and Fred Joiner, formerly with the Royal Italian band, are expected in the city this morning to join Huster. With these additions the management states it will have a musical aggregation second to none in this part of the country.

Prof. J. Waldorf Hall, the aeronaut, will open his third season at the park with a thrilling balloon ascension and parachute jump next Sunday. Mr. Hall uses his ninety-foot bag and will perform his usual stunt of dangling by his toes in the clouds. Prof. Hall says he has some novelties in the way of balloon ascensions that he will give as the season advances.

One feature particularly noticeable yesterday was the appreciation shown of the outlying districts of the park. For instance, the north tract was dotted with groups, families and pairs, all enjoying the cool and refreshing breezes under the shade trees. In the other parts of the park the seats and settees were well filled.

FRANK FORD IS ACQUITTED

Alleged Humorous Burglar Comes Clear After Spending Several Months in Jail.

Frank Ford was acquitted of the charge of burglary in the district court, the jury returning a verdict yesterday about noon, after he had been out twenty-five hours. Ford is the polite young man who was charged with having committed several burglaries in Omaha, South Omaha and other places, was apprehended in Kansas City and brought back to Omaha some months ago. He had been confined in the county jail since that time awaiting trial, which began last week.

The distinguishing feature of the career of the man Ford is supposed to have been that he joked his victims while robbing their houses and stores. For instance, he was accused of robbing the home of Dr. T. H. Enser of South Omaha, and the doctor declares that all the time Ford was supposed to have been robbing his victims was committed. Throughout the entire period of his incarceration Ford stoutly denied the charges against him and his sister, unbroken, has maintained implicit confidence in her brother's innocence.

A silver watch in the possession of a young woman in Omaha, said to have been given her by Ford, hearing the initials Dr. Enser, was regarded as the most potent factor against Ford during the trial. Ford declared he never saw the watch before and that he was not a friend of the girl as had been maintained.
