and surrounding territory report business for last week as being of very satisfactory proportions. There were some days when the weather was quite seasonable and others when it was not, and the fact that trade was liberal leads merchants to the belief that a few days of real summer weather will make lightweight goods move out at a rapid rate. Taking the month of May as a whole they find they have little to complain of. In nearly all lines the volume of business has been considerably ahead of last year or the year before. That is particularly true in Omaha, where last year the strikes had a very bad effect upon business in all lines. Not only that, but last year it will be remembered that there were excessive rains during the month of May which damaged business in Omaha and in the surrounding towns as well. When those conditions are taken into consideration it is seen that the situation in all lines is much better than it was a year ago.

Advance orders for fall continue to arrive quite freely and there is no mistaking the fact that in nearly all cases jobbers have sold more goods for fall delivery than ever afore at this season of the year. As a result very few complaints are heard along that line.

The markets are in a good healthy condition and prices are firm all along the line. There have been several fluctuations during the week under review, but most of them were in the nature of advances.

Collections are reported as being fairly satisfactory. There may have been times when merchanis were more prompt, but still jobbers are not doing any worrying on that score.

quotations were recalled in a very few days.

In the line of dried fruits it is said that the supply of evaporated peaches is well cleaned up and any important increase in the retail trade would have a tendency to bring about a sharp advance in prices. There is practically no article in the dried fruit line, with the exception of raisins, which now shows any weakness. Even prunes have taken on a much firmer tone and the reported damage to the growing crop in Santa Clara county will have a tendency to advance holders' ideas.

a very good trade. The fact that farmers are very busy with their spring work has of course had a tendency to cut down trade to some extent, but in spite of that fact and the lack of hot weather merchants have been doing a very satisfactory business. Their stocks have gone to pieces much more rapidly than they did a year ago in May, and for that reason jobbers are getting more sorting up orders than last year. They are necessarily rather small, but they are numerous enough to make the aggregate business guite an item. There is no special feature to the trade, as the demand is general for all scusonable and stapid lines.

good success in landing future business. The relative seem to be more willing to place their orders for fall than they were a short time ago. The number of orders booked by local houses so far this season is far in excess of the same period of last year. There have been practically no new developments in the market since hast report. There is the same feeling of firmness all along the line that has been noted for some time past and so far as can be seen at the present time there is nothing to indicate any important changes in either direction for some little time. In other words, a good, healthy, firm market is predicted, which; is the kind that both wholesalers and retailers appreciate the most.

Rabbers up Five Per Cent.

An advance of 5 per cent in the price of

An advance of 5 per cent in the price of rubber foot wear will go into effect June 1. This advance has been announced through these columns several times during the last few weeks and retailers throughout the country are generally posted on the situation. Jobbers say that practically all of them intend to buy before they actually need the goods have done

In speaking of this advance, a local job-ber said that there is a disposition in some quarters to put forth the contention that retailers are being held up to a certain extent by the Rubber trust. In this con-nection he said that on January 1, 1903, the price of raw rubber was about 78 cents per pound. At the present time it costs $1.14 per pound, or in other words an ad-vance in the raw material of from 40 to 50 per cent. Rubbers, on the other hand, are selling only about 20 per cent higher than they were a year ago, so that the price of the manufactured article has not advanced anything like as much as the raw material. Taking these facts into con-sideration he said that the prices now asked for rubbers were not at all unrea-sonable, but were justified by the cost of production.

The demand for hardware is reported as being exceptionally good for even this season of the year. All of the local houses are doing a rushing business and are running considerable heavier than they were a year ago. There seems to be nothing particularly interesting in the trade, as the demand is general for the entire line of seasonable and staple goods. As has been previously mentioned the sales, are limited in many cases only by the ability to secure the goods.

The market is in practically the same position it has been for some time past. There have been no fluctuations of any importance in either direction and none are anticipated by those in a position to judge of the true situation. It is what is called a good, healthy, firm market on practically the entire line.

Leather goods jobbers reported trade in their line as being fairly good. They still complain about the weather being a little unseasonable, but at the same time relations are doing quite a business and are beginning to send in sizing up orders. In a short time now jobbers expect quite a trade of that character.

TI OMAHA, May 28, 1904. OMAHA, May 28, 1904. The grain markets were exceptional dull this morning. New York, Dusuth an Minneapolls had already begun their Memolial day suspension, and in the other maskets the prospect of no business unt Tuesday deterred speculation. The whos speculators have been growing less conbullish in sentiment and the smallness of Tuesday deterred speculation. The whose speculators have been growing less conbuilish in sentiment and the smallness of the stocks makes them afraid of the short side. So the market is dull from the reason. Corn weakened under the unusual receipts the Liverpool loss of $\frac{1}{2}$d and the fine weather. Chicago had $\frac{634}{2}$ cars of corn. The general opinion of the trade is no new husiness will come in from thoutside until there is material damage to wheat or a good movement of new wheat 25 western lambs ...... 58 - 5 00 CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET outside until there is material damage to wheat or a good movement of new wheat so that Chicago and other markets may have stocks to trade en. The supplies are now so light they admit of easy manipulation and scare the outsiders.

Minneapolis reports all flour milis closed down at 8 o'clock this morning and will not resume until Wednesday. The flour demand continues poor. The millers give as a reason for not shutting down aitogether that they are getting a high price for mill feed and also have ample water power now which they will not have in June. So they say it pays them to grind and store and not to wait until June. The Minneapolls stocks of wheat have decreased during the week $43,357 bushels.
