The monument unveiled. Adjutant L. Sherwood with bared head stepped forward and with a short but appropriate address delivered the monument over to Colonel C. W. Foster, who, on behalf of the encampment, ascepted it while on behalf of his fellow members.

This portion of the program completed, and with the sun beaming down on the uncovered shaft while the veterans and their families and the gathered throng stood with bared heads and expectant ears, Hon. Charles M. Harl, one of Council Bluffs' most gifted orators, delivered the oration of the day.

In opening Mr. Harl referred to the gratification that all present felt in having General Grenville M. Dodge, one of the few surviving commanding generals of the armies of the union, to preside over the exercises of the day and called attention to the fact that while General Dodge's business career had called him to the east, he had remained always a loval citizen of Council Bluffs, which he considered his ome and in which he always took so great a pride and so great an interest.

To the Soldiers. Continuing, Mr. Harl said in part:

Today our minds are filled with memories of the past. Our thoughts instinctively dwell on the heroic scenes of the great war drama enacted by these men in the presence of the nations of the earth. All of us have stood some time beneath a frowning sky, from herizon to zenith a bank of lowering clouds, when the lightning flashed with incessant glare and the deep roll of the thunder gave warning of the coming storm; when the leaves of the trees were seemingly still in apprehension and all nature was vibrant with the terrific forces soon to be unchained. In such an hour we feel our weakness, our utter helplessness, and stand uncovered in the presence of a power we can neither withstand nor control. Continuing, Mr. Harl said in part:

and stand uncovered in the presence of a power we can neither withstand nor control.

So it was in the early days of '6i. From every home and hamlet, from every form and factory, from office and from counting room, from school and cloister, came fathers, husbands and sons, eager to offer their lives if need be in defense of the nation's imperited flag. There were the assembling of the recruits, the patriotic meeting, the hurriad preparations for war—then with beating drums and proudly floating flags, amid cheers and tears and heart breaks, brave men marched away to the grim uncertainties of war, leaving even braver women to bear woman's immemorial burden, to suffer and to walt. With the excitement of preparation and marching of the troops came the explication of war, the prophecy of victory and the cry of "On to Richmond!"

The qualities which they displayed in the dual capacities of citizen and soldier make them unique among the historic armies of the world. Patriotism and courage have been common to the soldiers of svery age and race. Military achievements have been celebrated in story and in song by every people. Within the last few months the sons of a race but recently emerged from the shadows of barbarism have displayed a herotsm' and a devotion to their country unsurpassed in the annals of recorded time. But the courage of ignorance or recklessness. They measured both the danger and the duty, and they faced the danger because of their devotion to the duty. They remembered the loved ones at home, they realized that before them was danger and perhaps death; but they had consecrated their lives to the devence of their fag and the fustitutions which it represented, and with steadfast zeal and heroic purpose they offered themselves a willing sacrifice to the country they loved.

Sensation at Dunlap.

DUNLAP, In., May 30.-(Special Telegram.)-Decoration day was of unusual interest here, the largest assemblage in years gathering at the opera house to hear the address by Rev. James Stephen of Manils. At the cemetery the proceedings were sadly marred by the action of Mrs. J. H. Patterson, wife of J. P. Pat-terson, a former banker of this place, incensed at the action of her stepmother in sending flowers from Anamosa to decorate the grave of her late husband, J. F. Anderson. It is said she tore the flowers from the grave, and, seating herself by the grave with revolver in hand, defied anyone to decorate the grave of her father. It was necessary for the husband nanner today and without incident beyond and a constable to take the revolver and that of the regular program. There was a forcibly take her home. Hatred for the stepmother is the cause.

A pensioner whose name is on the pension rolls under provision of section 3 of act of June 27, 1890, as amended by the act of May 9, 1900, and who desires to have his claim increased on account of age, must file in this bureau an application under said acts, and if, upon consideration of the claim, it is found that he is in receipt of a pension less than his age would warrant, he may be increased from date of fling his declaration in this bureau to an amount that would be warranted by the age established at the date of fling such declaration.

Frisoner May Sue Prosecutor. BIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 30.—(Special.) -The dismissal of the case against J. J. Leftus, a former section boss of the Omaha Railroad company, with headquarters in Sloux Falls, may result in a suit for damages being instituted against the railroad company by Loftus. Loftus was originally arrested on the charge of embessiement, which consisted of the alleged theft of furnishings from a sleeping car which was in a wreck on the Omaha road near Sloux Palls. Complaint against him was made by officials of the railroad company. Soon ggain arrested on the charge of embezzling sums of money received from the sale of rails belonging to the company. After being at liberty for a time under benda some of his bondsmen withdrew and he was lodged in jail pending his case being called for trial. When the case was called in the state circuit court a few days ago Loftus' attorney moved that it be dismissed on the ground that the defendant had once been placed in jeopardy on a similar charge, The motion was allowed and the case accordingly was dismissed. Now, it is said, Loftus will seek to recover damages from the railroad company for false imprisonment.

South Dakota Strong Man, SIDUX FALLS, S. D., May 30,-(Special.) -This locality has a strong man in the man on that portion of the Great Northern railroad between Sloux Falls and Garretson. Sater's marvelous strength is principally in his jaws. One of his feats 100 pounds each, grasp them with his teeth by the corners and lift them clear of the ground. On one occasion he fastened a strap around an anvil in a blacksmith shop, placed the end of the strap between his teeth and walked away with the anvil. At another time he, by means of a rope and his teeth, lifted a -900pound granite hitching block clear of the ground. These are only a few of the many feats of strength exhibited by this really remarkable man, who appears to think them noting unusual.
