

DR. KERR LEAVES BELLEVUE

President of Fifteen Years' Tenure Compels Acceptance of Resignation. BECOMES HEAD OF WESTMINSTER COLLEGE. Disagreement Over Fiscal Policy Divides Board of Trustees—Dr. Stevenson May Be Elected to Office.

After a long and unfinished annual meeting of the board of trustees of Bellevue college, marked for a lack of harmony, the resignation of President David R. Kerr was accepted Tuesday night. Dr. Kerr, finding that a minority of the board had determined to continue a fight to take the executive management of the school out of his hands, pressed the matter of his resignation, submitted some weeks ago, as told in The Bee. Against the desire of a majority of the board it was finally accepted, to take effect at his pleasure. This means Dr. Kerr will go to Fulton, Mo., in July to become president of Westminster college there at an increased salary and under considerable less stress and financial responsibility.

Bellevue college, located at Bellevue, in the Presbyterian synodical college of Nebraska, having been founded in 1884. Dr. Kerr has been president for fifteen years and during his tenure the school with its enrollment of more than 200 students, practically has been made, being built up largely through contributions and endowments secured by Dr. Kerr in the east. For the last four years, however, members of the board of trustees, led by T. A. Creigh and Dr. W. E. Gibbs of Omaha, are said to have agitated opposition to the broad policy of the president and advocated retrenchment and placing the management of the school partly in the hands of committees with arbitrary powers. To this Dr. Kerr was opposed, holding that the college must continue to improve or lose prestige.

The contest culminated in the annual meeting of the trustees, thirty-five or forty being present, and others represented by proxies at Bellevue Tuesday. The meeting began at noon and concluded at 10:30, when an adjournment was taken for a week, when the members will meet in Omaha, probably at the Paxton hotel. Spirited contention characterized the session throughout, and while a list of officers was elected, trouble was experienced in getting three members of the remainder of the executive committee. A ticket was elected and then annulled, because certain of the officers were not named with them. This, the question of Dr. Kerr's successor, and the change in the rules and the inauguration of the new policy of management, are some tasks confronting the reorganized board.

Dr. Stevenson May Succeed Him. It is said Vice President Robert L. Stevenson, formerly pastor of the Second Presbyterian church in Omaha, is the most available candidate for the presidency. Dr. Kerr's friends assert he is at the bottom of the controversy. Dr. Stevenson is resigning his pastorate in Omaha. Dr. Stevenson has been agitating funds in the east for the institution. Bellevue college at present is quite heavily in debt and the fiscal side of the question of maintenance is a serious one.

The board of trustees elected Charles M. Wilhelm president to succeed H. T. Clarke; re-elected Edwin Hart Jenks as vice president; re-elected Howard Kennedy, Jr., as treasurer, and elected H. E. Hunter as Dundee secretary, in place of T. A. Creigh. With the removal of Dr. Kerr will go Willis Kerr, his son, who is registrar of the college, and the other members of the large family.

Some months ago the trustees of Westminster college extended a call to Dr. Kerr, naming a larger salary than is paid at Bellevue. This school is to Missouri what Bellevue is in Nebraska—the state sectarian college of the Presbyterians.

Members of the city council had no joyful time at the Auditorium hall, anticipating much pleasure therefrom they did no business Tuesday night, but adjourned, so all the members might attend. The body had not been especially invited; neither had admission tickets been forwarded. Various reasons were given by the councilmen that it would cost them $5 apiece. A consultation was held and the city fathers sought other amusement. Dave O'Brien was the only one who frolicked at the hall and he was on one of the Auditorium committees.

"Pay $5 to look on. Well, I should say not," said one of the city officers. "Everybody in the city hall contributed as liberally as he could to subscriptions for the building and they paid the assessments. Now, when the building is opened they are denied the right to enjoy the occasion unless they pay over an exorbitant sum. This is not right and the Auditorium management made a big mistake. I am told there were more than 100 members of the club who take advantage of the trip will be carried in a special train. The dates set for the trip are June 21, 22 and 23, and it is expected that about 100 members of the club will be in the party. One night will be spent at Grand Island and the other at Columbus.

WRIGHT PUSHES THE CASE

City Attorney Gratified with Progress of Paving Controversy. LOOKS FOR FINAL DECISION VERY SOON. President Warren of Boston Comes West to Look After Interests of His Bitulithite Company.

City Attorney Wright says he has made a record for quick court procedure in the sixteenth street paving repair case. The suit against the city was filed in the district court by Hugh McCarty Thursday, was argued and submitted Saturday and decided Monday against the city, the court holding that the repairs constitute repaving, which cannot be done with a majority petition of the abutting property owners and that the charter confers no right upon the city to levy special assessments for paving repairs. Tuesday morning City Attorney Wright filed an appeal with the supreme court and the case was argued and submitted in the afternoon. He hopes for an early decision in favor of the city. Other wise the sixteenth street paving matter will be in as bad shape as ever.

The presence in Omaha of J. Fred Warren of Boston, president of the Nebraska Bitulithite company and head of the bitulithite interests, may have a bearing on the paving question. Mr. Warren will confer with City Attorney Wright and the result may be a change or compromise on the 1904 paving specifications, which are at present satisfactory to Mr. Warren's local representatives.

Not Enough Paving. Some time ago Mr. Warren wrote to the city hall and asked for certain information concerning paving matters, implying that the amount of paving being done in Omaha seemed to be very little. In the reply he was told he had better come out to Omaha and make a personal investigation of the conditions if he wished to do anything toward more paving.

It was made plain to the president of the bitulithite company that even though his firm did succeed in getting paving contracts, these contracts would be contested in court in every case where the cost is assessed to abutting property owners. Furthermore, the existing specifications are liable to attack at any time by competing firms.
