AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Live Stock Exchange Will Hold Lively Meeting on Friday.

RULE REGARDING SOLICITORS COMES UP

Members Claim to Have Proof that the Rule is Being Violated and Propose to Enforce New Rule at Once.

A meeting of more than ordinary importance of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange is to be held on Friday of this week. While last Friday was the regular meeting day, the fact that so many members were at the Alliance cattlemen's convention, caused a postponement for one week. It is desired that every member be present at the meeting Friday as the old solicitor question is to come up.

After the Fort Worth convention the local exchange adopted a rule prohibiting the employment of solicitors. This exchange was the only one that adopted the rule as suggested by the convention. The other exchanges made modifications. Then it came about that the rule here was modified so that each member of a firm might solicit business on the road for six days each month. The statement is now made that this rule is being violated.

In talking of this matter last night a member of the exchange said: "We have found by investigation that firms engaged in business at the exchange here are evading the rule. They do it in this way. Men with headquarters in St. Joseph, Mo., are on the road and traveling in the territory tributary to South Omaha. These men we find are soliciting business for certain live stock commission men here. Yet they draw their pay at St. Joseph, and to all intents and purposes they are working for the yards down the river."

Copies of the new rule to be adopted in connection with this matter are now posted on the bulletin board at the exchange and it is expected that a lively session will be held, especially when some firms are accused of subterfuge in soliciting business by employing men from another city and state.

Library Board Today.

President Bruce McCulloch, of the South Omaha Library Board, has called a meeting of the board for 4 o'clock this afternoon. At this meeting Miss Jane Abbott, the librarian will make her first official appearance. The object of the meeting is to get to work on a list of books to be purchased. At this time the board will spend about $1,500 for books. It is understood that in the matter of selecting books the board will be governed largely by the advice of Miss Abbott, as she is familiar with conditions here and is considered a thoroughly competent librarian.

Wants Boiler Inspector.

Councilman Klewit has started the old boiler inspector ordinance again. Mr. Klewit says that the city needs an inspector of boilers and that it should be a fee office. By this he means that the office should be self supporting. In times past this has been tried, but such an ordinance was never passed. The city attorney acting under instructions from the council will draft an ordinance, but there is little if any hope of such an ordinance being passed. In the first place the packers say that they have to undergo an underwriters' inspection at stated intervals, and they do not see why an additional fee should be paid for the same inspection.

Secretary Bergquist Disappointed.

A. L. Bergquist, secretary of the Fire and Police Board, is disappointed at the action of the city council in turning down the ordinance relating to the payment of a salary of $12.50 per month. Mr. Bergquist said that he had acted as secretary ever since the organization of the board and considered that he was entitled to some compensation. "What I cannot understand," said Mr. Bergquist, "is that the judiciary committee of the council reported favorably on the ordinance and then when it came up for final passage only one member, Klewit, voted for it." The finance committee of the council assert that the funds will not permit of this additional expense at this time.

Repairs to L Street.

It took Street Commissioner Troutan and his men two days to repair L street from Twentieth street west to Twenty-fourth street. The rains of late caused a number of washouts and many loads of dirt were used to fill the holes. Those who live on the street between the points mentioned are anxious to have the street paved and put a stop to the constant washing out of the roadway. The trouble seems to be that a majority of the property owners are nonresidents and are not inclined to sign a paving petition. An effort is being made by residents to bring the paving of the street about this year.

Gainey-O'Toole Nuptials.

Dr. John Henry Gainey of Crawford, Colo., and Miss Tessie O'Toole of this city will be married this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Bridget's church. The service will be conducted by Father Callahan. Within a couple of hours after the ceremony the couple will leave for St. Louis. The groom is well known in South Omaha, having lived here up to the time of his graduation from an Omaha medical college. The bride is also well known, having occupied a prominent position in the public schools for a number of years.

Special Council Meeting.

A called meeting of the city council was held last night. The object of the meeting was to have the ordinance providing for the paving of O street from Twenty-third to Twenty-sixth streets read the second time. This was done and the members agreed that they would sign a call for another special meeting for tonight. Property owners on O street are very anxious to get this street paved by the time the new viaduct is open. Vitrified brick is to be used and work is to commence as soon as the contract can be awarded.

Business Men's Meeting.

On Thursday evening the organization recently formed from the remnants of the old Commercial club will meet at the parlors of the South Omaha club. The new organization is known as "The Hustlers and Home Protective association." Naturally the members are seeking to keep trade at home and propose to agitate the question of home patronage. Nearly all of the business men in the city are interested in the new movement.

Magic City Gossip.

Rev. and Mrs. James Wise are visiting relatives in Lincoln.

PROGRAM FOR THE PIONEERS

Those Who Are to Ride in the Parade Report at City Hall at 1:15 P. M. Friday.

The territorial pioneers of Nebraska will ride in carriages in the semi-centennial parade. This was decided on at the meeting yesterday afternoon of the general committee. It will be arranged that the pioneers meet in the city hall and from there they will be taken in carriages for the parade. The resolution to this effect was introduced by General Manderson. It is as follows:

Vice presidents of the semi-centennial and men and women who settled in Nebraska Territory and were of age before its admission as a state and who desire to join in the parade will report in front of the Farnam street entrance of the city hall at 1:15 o'clock Friday, June 10, when they will be assigned to carriages. It is hoped all who will then participate in the parade will notify N. P. Dodge, Jr., by mail at once.

The parade list has been perfected and the line of march will be as follows: At 2 o'clock the sections for the march will form on North Sixteenth street. When the word is given the parade will move south on Sixteenth street to Douglas, then turning east on that street to Tenth, and south to Farnam. The line of march will then be up Farnam to Nineteenth street, south to Harney, east on Harney to Fifteenth street and then south to the Auditorium. The afternoon ceremonies will take place at the new building immediately following the arrival of the parade. The old settlers' reunion on the contrary will take place in the Orpheum theater. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

At the Orpheum theater Friday night the old settlers will make short addresses. The speakers and their subjects are to be:

G. M. Dodge, "The Pacific Railroads."
Edward Rosewater, "Pioneer Journalism."
J. M. Woolworth, "Bench and Bar of the '60s."
G. W. Doane, "Early Legislature and Legislators."
J. E. Boyd, "Pioneering on the Plains."
Charles F. Manderson, "Reminiscences."
John L. Webster, "Transition from Territory to State."
Henry W. Yates, "Early Banks and Bankers."
E. Wakeley, "First Views and Impressions of Nebraska."

Dr. Miller has received a letter from J. A. Casement of Plainsville, O., accepting an invitation to attend the celebration. Mr. Casement, in fact, is on his way to Omaha. Mr. Casement is the man who superintended the laying of about 1,000 miles of the Union Pacific tracks, part of it at the rate of five miles a day.

All of the retail stores of the city, the banks and the Union Pacific shops will be closed Friday afternoon in deference to the Nebraska semi-centennial celebration.

Inside Facts About Apollinaris.

As such an enormous quantity of Apollinaris water is consumed each year, over 30,000,000 of bottles, so high an authority on matters pertaining to health as the London Lancet recently sent one of its special commissioners to the spring which is at Neuenahr, Germany, in order to place before the medical profession an authoritative description of the bottling of this water.

The report of this commissioner, published in a recent issue of the Lancet, shows that he was given access to every nook and corner of the vast establishment in which the spring is situated and that he saw from beginning to end the process by which the water is bottled there, ready for delivery to all parts of the world. This report is full of interesting scientific details describing the methods of bottling and shows that the purity and healthfulness of the water as it comes from the spring is preserved; it says that the chemical analyses which he made are in accord with those given at various times by the late Prof. Virchow, Prof. Liebreich, the late Sir Edward Frankland and other authorities, and that the water wherever it is bought is identical with the water taken directly from the spring, as Apollinaris is bottled only at the spring and only with its own natural gas. The supply of both water and gas from the spring is considerably in excess of the present enormous demands.

Italian Saves His Money.

Raphole Crezea, an Italian living at Thirteenth and Dodge streets, has come to the conclusion that women are what many writers have painted them. He has arrived at this determination on account of an encounter he had with Lena Burns, a colored woman residing at Thirteenth and Cass streets, and which nearly lost him $35. According to Crezea, the woman came to his house peddling yesterday afternoon and began to talk to him. As Crezea's English is limited to a few words and Miss Burns has no knowledge of what she calls the "dago talk," the conversation did not go on very fast. But by degrees the Burns woman managed to explain to Crezea that at the sight of him there had sprung up within her bosom an unquenchable flame of love. Crezea was, however, suspicious, and when the woman attempted to put her arms around him he resisted strongly. She was so insistent that Crezea felt for his money, and was dismayed to find it gone. Miss Burns saw the action, and thinking it time to be going tried to do so, but was prevented by Crezea, who held her fast. The exclamations in two languages brought a crowd to the scene and also a policeman, at the sight of whom, Crezea alleges, the woman shoved the money back into his pocket. The two were locked up, the woman charged with larceny from the person and Crezea as a complaining witness.

Police and Opium Smokers.

In an interview regarding a recent editorial appearing in the World-Herald, in which the police were censured for allowing opium joints, Chief of Detectives Dunn last night said that the police at once arrested the inmates of a joint as soon as they knew of it. "These people seem to think," he said, "that every person who is found smoking opium is liable to arrest. This is not so. We can only arrest people who enter another person's dwelling, and, while there, smoke opium. A person is allowed to smoke opium in his own room if he likes, but the law forbids others, who are not occupants of the room, to smoke there. And when it is hinted that we are not doing our duty in this respect it shows that the person who says so does not know what he is talking about. A look over the police books will convince doubters that a number of arrests have been made for this crime, and another look into the lumber room at the police station will disclose a heap of smoking apparatus which has been confiscated."

Overhauled with Plunder.

Detectives Ferris and Dunn found Raymond Stump of Benson trying to dispose of a Winchester rifle and a buffalo robe. As he could not give a proper account of the manner in which he obtained the articles he was arrested as a suspicious character. Later is was discovered that the rifle and robe belonged to Robert J. Smiley of Benson, who told the police that the goods were taken without his authority.

LETTER CARRIERS BANQUET

President Keller of National Organization the Guest of Honor.

SPEAKS OF OBJECTS OF ASSOCIATION

Postmaster Palmer Presides and Addresses Made by Local Men, Among Them E. Rosewater and Congressman Hitchcock.

A meeting of the letter carriers of Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs was held Tuesday evening at the Millard hotel hall, which was attended by about 100 of the carriers, and was addressed by President James C. Keller of the National Association of City Letter Carriers. His address bore particularly upon the purpose of the organization and the methods by which it could be made more efficient for both the public and the association's interests.

Upon the conclusion of Mr. Keller's address the association adjourned to the banquet room of the hotel where a banquet of several courses was served, covers being laid for 100.

Aside from the members of the association there were present as special guests, President J. C. Keller of Cleveland, O.; Hon. G. M. Hitchcock, Edward Rosewater, Captain Henry E. Palmer, postmaster of Omaha; Postmaster A. L. Hazelton of Council Bluffs, Postmaster Fred J. Etter of South Omaha and Assistant Postmaster Woodard of Omaha. Captain Palmer of Omaha presided at the banquet as toastmaster.

Congressman Hitchcock Speaks.

Hon. G. M. Hitchcock was introduced as the first speaker of the evening. He said in part:

Mr. Toastmaster and fellow office-holders: We have all got to stand together. However, according to some of my republican friends I am not to remain an office-holder much longer. About the first discovery a congressional office-holder makes after he has traveled 1,500 miles to enter upon his duties is that he is a very small fly on a very large wheel, especially if he be a minority member. Possibly some of you here have collaborated with me in the particular function of seed distribution. As fellow office-holders we each have a duty to perform, that is to give the government the best service we can. I can see no danger in organization. I believe that you ought to unite together. Organization produces results and will improve the condition of each member of that organization and will improve the character of service that you as carriers will give to the government and to the public.

President Keller was the next speaker. He said:

We certainly hope that we shall reap some benefit from the seed that is sown, as referred to by Mr. Hitchcock. I, too, am a believer in organization, for in organization we are capable of doing better for a greater number of people. Large bodies can accomplish more than a number of small organizations. Men are beginning to recognize the fact that it is not independence, but interdependence which succeeds. If we pull down a man from the top of the ladder he will fall upon us. We must assist the man down below, and in his rising he will help us rise. It is a co-operation of all the parts that makes the whole a success. The letter carrier who seeks to put in only his scheduled hours per day and permits himself to become slovenly in his dress and habits reflect upon the whole organization, and the postoffice in which he serves. His prosperity is dependent upon himself. By organization we have accomplished much. Sixteen years ago before our organization was established the number of carriers removed for cause was 18 per cent. Now it is only one-eighth of 1 per cent. Our aim is to build up, not to destroy.

Letters of Regret.

At this stage of the proceedings Toastmaster Palmer read letters of regret from Senator Millard and Postmaster E. R. Sizer of Lincoln, because of their inability to be present.

Hon. Edward Rosewater was then introduced by Toastmaster Palmer as a gentleman who knew more about the Postoffice department and postal matters than any man in the country, and a person always the champion of more efficient postal service. Mr. Rosewater said in part:

It affords me great pleasure to be here and to testify to my high appreciation and esteem of the president of the National Association of Letter Carriers. I met him two years ago in Washington and was much impressed with his intelligence and his conception of business affairs. I was a member of the world's postal congress in Philadelphia several years ago, and remember when 1,200 letter carriers of that city escorted our delegation when we were received by Governor Hartraft. I remember, too, when there were but eight letter carriers in Omaha. In those days they were not so independent as now. The carriers generally marched out of office with the postmasters. They then, as the postmaster did, had to take their orders from political bosses. But now the postmasters may come and go but the carriers remain, no difference who is inaugurated president. I do not wholly favor a civil pension system, even for the letter carrier, but I do believe that they should be paid so well that they may be enabled to pension themselves. I have been wanting to see the telegraph service incorporated with the postal service. I believe that I am the oldest man who has advocated this proposition. Forty years ago I went to the War department and asked that it make the military telegraph a part of the public service.

Postal Telegraph Service.

The speaker continued further along these lines and believed that the time would yet come when there would be a postal telegraph service, and that from 300 to 500 words would be transmitted by telegraph and delivered to its destination by a messenger, at a cost not to exceed 5 cents. He favored a unity of action among the carriers and believed that the carriers could be given an increase of $100 per year without materially crippling the resources of the Postoffice department, "particularly if some of the railway contracts could be lopped off. The time is not distant when your demands will be acceded to and I shall be around to assist in the promotion of your interests."

Short addresses were made by Postmaster Hazleton of Council Bluffs and Postmaster Etter of South Omaha, and the banquet closed with a short talk by President George Kiefner of the local branch of the Letter Carriers' association.

The success of the banquet is due to the efforts of the committee on arrangements and reception, consisting of George J. Kiefner, G. F. Harris, C. P. Daniels, Harry Singafelt and Mr. Saafelt.

Two Mysterious Fires.

The series of incendiary fires which bothered the fire department and detectives a short time ago seems as if it is to be repeated in the locality of Thirteenth and Cass streets. Monday night a fire broke out at 815 North Fourteenth street for which no reason could be given, and last night another one started at 1207 Cass street which on the face of it looks like incendiarism. The fire last night was in a coal shed in the rear of Charles Sunshine's grocery store. A short time before a group of children were seen playing nearby, and it is believed that some one among them started it. Sunshine has had some trouble with the boys of the neighborhood and only last week had to chastise one for spilling a barrel of ice cream. The police are investigating the case.

SCIENCE SETTLES IT.

Dandruff is Caused by a Germ that Saps the Hair's Vitality.

It is now a settled fact that dandruff is caused by a germ. Falling hair and baldness are the result of dandruff. Dr. E. J. Beardsley of Champaign, Ill., got hold of the new hair preparation, Newbro's Herpicide—the only one that kills the dandruff germ. He says: "I used Herpicide for my dandruff and falling hair and I am well satisfied with the result." Dr. J. T. Fugate of Urbana, Ill., says: "I have used Herpicide for dandruff with excellent results. I shall prescribe it in my practice." Herpicide kills the dandruff germ. Physicians as well as the general public say so. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Sherman & McConnell Drug Co., special agents.

Soldiers Look for Trouble.

What for a moment seemed likely to terminate in a serious disturbance among the police and a body of soldiers from Fort Crook last night was stopped by the prompt action of Officer Sandstrom. Yesterday was pay day for the soldiers, and according to the usual custom a number of them visited Omaha to have a good time. Early in the evening a soldier named Michael Kline was arrested by Sandstrom for disorderly conduct and this fact seemed to inflame his comrades, who went about the resorts threatening to damage the police officer if another arrest was made. They got their chance about 11 o'clock, when Sandstrom arrested Hill, another soldier, for creating a disturbance in a resort. Hill showed fight, but was soon put out. About eighteen soldiers who saw the arrest gathered and began to make a demonstration. They followed Sandstrom and his prisoner almost to the doors of the police station, but were kept off by the action of Sandstrom, who drew his revolver and threatened to shoot the first man who attacked him. As Sandstrom came out of the police station he saw the crowd, which in the meantime had begun to gather brickbats and paying stones, and told them to disperse. The soldiers replied with abuse and hooting. Without waiting for help, Sandstrom immediately charged the crowd. For a moment the soldiers stood pat, but as Sandstrom showed no fear, they broke and ran. The officer gave chase and arrested four of them and brought them to the station single handed. The four men who were arrested are Clarence Rose, Thomas Baker, James Stack and Fred Hunter. The others immediately made tracks for Fort Crook, dropping their paving stones as they ran.

Fish Women Fight.

Nellie McMahon, rooming at the Cambridge hotel, and Annie Fisher of 1212 Davenport street got into an altercation yesterday afternoon while fishing, and had commenced to damage each other with their rods when the police stepped in. The women said that the trouble arose on account of the fish not biting.

SEASONABLE FASHIONS.

LADIES' SHIRT WAIST.

No. 6161—So many requests have been made for a plain shirt waist with deep pleat in front at shoulder that we are showing one today that has been especially designed for those readers. In addition to the pleat in front at shoulder, a tiny forward turning pleat is made near the front closing. This not only gives a little more fullness over the bust, but forms an excellent way to fit the waist at the neck. Women who do their own sewing know that there is always a little difficulty experienced in fitting the front in the "hollow" place between neck and bust. With such a pattern as shown this may be readily adjusted by the tiny pleat. The blouse is made with French back and, like all the newer modes, finished with a peplum. Any of the mercerized goods, linen or silk, may be used in fashioning shirt waists. For a waist to a shirt waist suit this would be a good model to follow, as it may be as severely plain as one desires, or it will admit of no amount of elaboration.

Sizes, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure.

For the accommodation of The Bee readers these patterns, which usually retail at from 25 to 50 cents, will be furnished at a nominal price, 10 cents, which covers all expense. In order to get a pattern enclose 10 cents and address Pattern Dep't, Bee, Omaha, Neb.

RE-ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

Retail Liquor Dealers Endorse Administration by Giving Each Another Term.

The convention of the Nebraska Retail Liquor Dealers' association was opened yesterday afternoon in Osthoff's hall, about 450 delegates being present. Besides the re-election of all the officers, reports from the president and secretary were read. In the evening the delegates visited Boyd's theater in a body. The convention will last till Thursday evening. The following is the list of officers elected:

James Nevels, president; A. M. Tillman, vice president; Henry Keating, secretary; Hans Peterson, treasurer; executive board, W. C. Schulz, J. W. Hobson, A. H. Kooys.

HYMENEAL.

McCann-Stoll.

BEATRICE, Neb., June 8.—(Special.)—Mr. J. J. McCann and Mrs. Carrie Stoll, both of this city, were united in marriage at Marysville, Kan., yesterday. The newly-married couple returned to Beatrice last evening where they will reside for the present.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

DOCTORS FOR MEN

Above all other things, we strive to save the thousands of young and middle-aged men who are plunging toward the grave, tortured by the woes of Nervo-Sexual Debility, the result of youthful habits, excesses, etc. We have evolved a special treatment for Nervo-Sexual Debility and special weaknesses that is uniformly successful in cases where success was before by other doctors deemed impossible.

It does not stimulate temporarily, but restores permanently. It allays the irritation of the delicate tissues surrounding the lax and unduly expanded seminal glands, contracting them to their normal condition, which stops night emissions, dries up day drains and prevents prematureness. It tones up and strengthens the blood vessels that carry nourishment to weakened and wasted parts, restoring them to full power, size and vigor.

By our system of electricity and medicine combined we cure quickly, safely and thoroughly all diseases and weaknesses of men after all others have failed. Our object is not so much to do the work that other doctors can do, but rather to cure obstinate diseases which they cannot successfully combat. All that deep knowledge, expert skill, vast experience and thorough scientific office equipment can accomplish are now being done for those who come to us for the help they need.

We Cure Quickly, Safely and Thoroughly

Stricture, Varicocele, Emissions, Nervo-Sexual Debility, Impotency, Blood Poison [Syphilis,] Rectal, Kidney and Urinary Diseases, and all diseases and weaknesses of men due to inheritance, evil habits, self-abuse, excesses or the result of specific or private diseases.

WHAT A GRADUATED NURSE SAYS.

OCALA, FLA., Nov. 28, 1903.

It is with genuine pleasure I recommend Wine of Cardui to women suffering with the troubles peculiar to the sex. In my experience of over sixteen years I have never found anything which would so quickly restore young mothers to strength, nor do I know of any medicine better for a pregnant woman to take to induce easy childbirth, a healthy child and comfort to both mother and child. In my opinion Wine of Cardui is the best medicine for a woman suffering from ulceration, inflammation, falling of the womb or ovarian troubles, and I have known dozens of cases where women were advised by the doctors to submit to operations, but who were cured simply by taking Wine of Cardui a few months. In fact, my personal experience with this reliable remedy has been of such a satisfactory nature that I most gladly give you this unsolicited testimonial.

Mrs. James R. Willis

Graduated Nurse, The Dieu Hospital, New Orleans, La.
