WRIT OF HABEAS CORFUS STILL STANDS

Judges Day, Redick and Troup Concur in Opinion Denying Thomas' Motion and Legality of Mickey's Act.

Judges Day, Troup and Redick yesterday morning denied the motion to quash the in favor of the contention of the petitioner application for a writ of habeas corpus made in the district court in behalf of Thomas Dennison, which means that the state of lowa will have to make a showing court on its requisition for Dennison or, other words, that the writ of habeas corpus will be argued. This will begin at 9:36 o'clock this morning.

The motion was that Dennison's application for a writ of habeas corpus be denied on the ground that the evidence submitted to Governor Mickey and on which he based his authority in issuing a warrant for his extradition was sufficient as to the accused being a fugitive from justice as charged in the Iowa indictment. The question was argued on this ground all of Tuesday and Wednesday by W. J. Connell. J. Smyth and Ed P. Smith for Dennison and Elmer Thomas and H. C. Brome for Christian, the Iowa marshal sent here to represent his state and effect the arrest and transporting of Dennison.

The three judges of the district court who heard the arguments concurred in the judgment and opinion which was delivered by Judge Redick.

The gist of this opinion was that Governor Mickey had not the right to send any citizen of Nebraska into a foreign state to answer to a criminal charge without first having exercised the right to be heard in his own behalf.

Sufficiency of Petition.

Judge Redick said that it was not necessary to make any detailed statement of the case further than on the points on which the court had based its conclusion. The main subject for consideration is as to the sufficiency of the petition for the writ of same. He said:

"The motion virtually admits all the facts as set forth in the petition and were the court asked to pass simply on the sufficlency of the petition the motion to set it is authorized to issue a warrant it must appear to him that the accused is a fugitive by Brigham H. Roberts, was outspoken in question of fact. If the answer to it is in the negative it divests the governor of any power in the matter. It is beyond dispute that unless the accused is a fugitive from justice no extradition can be had, for it is not clear to us that under this motion any right to the accused is made on any other grounds." At this point Judge Redick took up and discussed the two sections, one of the United States and one of the Nebraska statutes, bearing on the natter of extradition and the powers of the governor of a state with regard to it, which formed the shot. Families and wives of the prisoners matter of so much quotation and com- call in an endeavor to see and have a talk ment at the time the case was argued and with the husbands and fathers incarcerdiscussed them at much length to the ated, but in most cases permission is being final conclusion that the respondent in a refused. habeas corpus proceeding must show the accused to be a fugitive from justice as a matter of fact.

Point at Issue.

The petition claims the right to introduce evidence as to the establishment of this bridge that he remove his ceputy, J. C. Joseph Monson, George C. "The governor has no judicial power and in issuing a warrant is not in the exercise of judicial power. It is conceded that this ple Creek Citizens' alliance and Secretary petitioner was notified of the hearing before the governor and invited to be present in his own behalf, but the case is entirely different from that of a judicial proceeding. The prisoner has no legal right to go before the governor and introduce evidence, and if the governor receives and considers such evidence it is a matter of grace and courtesy to the prisoner. The prisoner may stand upon his legal rights in the matter, so that there is a wide difference between a hearing before a judicial power and the executive, and the defendant has no legal rights in appearing before the latter. The warrant issued by the gov- cluded in the proclamation declaring Teller ernor is conclusive upon him when he submits it, but it is only conclusive upon the prisoner when so found by the court. The definition of jurisdiction is the right and power to hear and determine a question, and the governor has a right to determine urisdiction only as provided by the constitution of the United States, and only where the accused is a fugitive from justice."

Not a Fugitive from Justice. "No man is a fugitive from justice unles it shall appear that at or about the time of the commission of the crime of which he is accused he was in the state where the crime was committed. "It has been objected that this testimony can prove an alibi and that it is a matter of defense which can properly be introduced only in the court of lows, where is alleged this crime was committed. This court has nothing to do with the guilt or innocence of the accused, but if its inquiry gives further information than a mere alibi it has a right to pass over that to the determination of the broader question. A man may prove an alibi if he can show he was fifty feet from the place where a crime was committed, but evidence here must go further and prove the existence of a jurisdictional fact, without the existence of which the governor could not the laws of Iowa, it is stated by eminent act. In other words, it doesn't matter if the evidence submitted does prove an alibi it may be reviewed by the United States if it proves another question of fact. Now, what does the warrant of the governor say? Does it say that he considered evi dence and thereupon found any fact or act be true? No. Of course it does not where the prisoner had no right to appear.
