

DENNISON HEARING IS ON

Accused Goes Into Court to Prove Himself No Fugitive from Justice.

COUNTY ATTORNEY FALLON ON STAND

Says Indictment Was Based on Hearings—Sergeant Hayes Tells of Shadowing Dennison at Time of Robbery.

With the burden of proof upon him to establish that he is not a fugitive from the justice of the courts of the state of Iowa, Thomas Dennison appeared in the district court yesterday, by previous arrangement of counsel, and as the first move toward the fixing of the fact of his contention W. J. Connell, counsel for Dennison, asked the court that the evidence to be submitted be heard and passed upon by a jury of twelve men, who should be drawn for the purpose.

The direct examination of Mr. Fallon was conducted by J. M. Cochran of Iowa, who, Mr. Connell announced, had become associated with Dennison's other counsel in the trial of the case.

Based on Hearings. It was sought to bring out the fact that the information on which the witness had sworn on the information charging Dennison with being a fugitive from justice was based on what had been told him and not on his own personal knowledge.

A long legal argument took place between counsel as to whether or not cross-examination Elmer E. Thomas, the Civic Federation attorney, should be allowed to show by this witness what Dennison was doing in Logan at the time he testified to having seen him there, with the result that the court finally excluded the question.

Sergeant Hayes on Stand. The next witness called was Sergeant Thomas Hayes of the Omaha police force. Before he was allowed to testify Mr. Thomas asked that all other witnesses for the petitioner be excluded from the room so that they might not hear each other testify.

The witness further testified that he remembered the time when W. A. Pollack was robbed as having been the night of November 4, 1917; that he was a detective at that time and interviewed Mr. Pollack at the Millard hotel at an early hour the next morning. That afternoon at 2 o'clock, he said, he was detailed by Chief Seavey to watch Tom Dennison and from that hour until 7 o'clock in the evening of the 11th Dennison was never out of his sight.

Dennison Did Not Know It. "Did Dennison know you at this time?" was asked by Connell. "I do not think he did." "How long would he be out of your sight at a time during the period you were engaged in shadowing him?"

The witness was subjected to a vigorous cross-examination by Mr. Thomas and asked to tell in detail everything that Dennison did every hour of the day during the time that the witness was shadowing him. "Why were you detailed to watch Dennison in connection with this robbery?"

Governor Mickey was in the city for the two-fold purpose of being present at the semi-centennial celebration and to testify as a witness in the Dennison case. This latter duty was spared him yesterday by the adjournment of court at noon.

Announcements of the Theaters.

This afternoon and evening and Sunday matinee the Ferris Stock company will repeat the successful comedy, "All the Comforts of Home." Beginning on Sunday night five performances of the sensational drama, "Stricken Blind," will be given.

SEASONABLE FASHIONS.

LADIES SHIRT WAIST SUIT.

No. 6006-6007.—Nothing is more appropriate or sensible than the shirt waist suits for general utility wear, and the woman who appears in these simple but smart gowns is always considered well dressed.

Made in wash material it is both neat and smart and will admit of many variations in trimming. For instance, what is prettier than a blue linen made in this style and wearing with its white stock and cuffs, or crush stock and belt of colored ribbon? Then, too, a collar will give additional charm to such a costume.

The blouse is the popular duress, closing with a plait in the shoulder which loses itself in the fullness over the bust. The sleeve is the bishop style which is attached to a cuff which may open in shirt sleeves style or in the front, which is a much newer mode of fastening.

For the accommodation of the 3500 readers these patterns, which usually retail at from 25 to 50 cents, will be furnished at a nominal price, 10 cents, which covers all expense. In order to get a pattern enclose 10 cents and address Pattern Dept., Bee, Omaha, Neb.

The Modern Youth. "In George Washington's place," said the kindly old gentleman, "would you have confessed to cutting down the cherry tree?" "That would depend," replied the modern youth, "on whether I was caught with the hatchet in my possession, as George seems to have been, caught. According to some of the pictures of the incident, I don't see how he had any chance of denying it."

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

"All the Comforts of Home" at the Boyd.

From an old-fashioned melodrama to an English light comedy—which, by the way, generally means a decidedly heavy comedy—is sufficient of a transition to test the capabilities of any company of actors, and yet the Ferris Stock company makes it with not a little success. "All the Comforts of Home" is English from Genesis to Revelation. It has plenty of humor of its kind, and all sorts of laughable situations, but it keeps the company on their legs, and two of them in particular, Mr. Owen and Mr. Long, are as busy as millers all the time. Mr. Owen shows considerable capacity as a comedian, and Mr. Long gets plenty of opportunity to exhibit his natural bent as a funmaker and hard worker.

GRAVE PERIL TO HEALTH

Dangerous Forms of Adulteration in Candies in Common Demand.

For over a year the New York state department of agriculture has been at work under the new pure food laws making tests of harmful adulterations and some remarkable results have been secured. The cheap candies, which are sold in great quantities near school houses, have been analyzed by expert chemists and found to contain large percentages of such stuff as paraffin, animal tallow, lead poisons and the like. "Velvet kisses," which are a favorite with school children, contain about 9 per cent of paraffin, which is a residuum of petroleum manufacture. It is put in to give this confection a consistency and to wearing quality like gum. In fact, the cheaper chewing gums are made largely of paraffin, but in that case it is not so harmful, because gum is not often swallowed.

Paraffin, while not a violent poison, does lots of damage when introduced into the human system. It often ruins the digestion and produces chronic indigestion. As a mineral oil it cannot be digested and, in fact, indigestible. Even the strongest acids fail to affect it. When workers wish to cut iron with acid they cover it with paraffin except the line where the fracture or disintegration is to occur. The rest of the metal is fully protected by a coating of the material. Paraffin clogs the digestive system and coats over the lining of the stomach and other digestive organs. This excludes the secretions intended to digest the food and causes the greatest disturbances often.

When the paraffin is scraped off it is seen that the chocolate is not thicker than the paper. The reason for the use of this mineral grease is not easy to determine, unless it is recalled that chocolate costs 40 cents a pound while paraffin is worth only 13. It is possible also that the idea is that by ingesting the cake in this manner it will be indigestible. Even the strongest indigestion has been caused by the eating of these cakes, the physicians say.

In the sample prepared by Dr. Geisler, which is to be used in prosecutions, one is surprised at the amount of the material extracted from four tiny caramels. It is so faintly in the cut above the label and makes a strip a couple of inches long and nearly an eighth of an inch thick. The eating of these little confections would be apt to create a disturbance in any but a strong stomach which would be remembered for some time.

There are 15,000 grocery stores in Greater New York and almost every one of them has these cakes for sale. Of course, it is probably a fact that the grocers are not aware of the fact that the cakes are adulterated so largely. The adulteration of "Velvet kisses," which are extensively sold to children and some grown-ups, have anywhere from 2 to 8 per cent of paraffin in their composition, the reports to the department show. The rest is molasses, or other adulteration. Chocolate caramels, which are affected by those who have a sweet tooth, have paraffin added to give them a consistency or stiffness, especially the cheaper sorts. The average is 2 1/2 per cent, ranging from 2 to 8.

The sorts of candies which are wrapped in tin foil absorb considerable quantities of oxidized lead, which is a rank poison. In the colored candies which have high colors there is apt to be plenty of poison, the least harmful of which is aniline dye.

The result of these tests have been sent to the department at Albany and will be forwarded to the attorney general, who is expected to institute proceedings. The persons selling such stuff are liable either to civil or criminal penalties. On a civil action the penalty which can be recovered is $100 in each case. The criminal penalty provided is $50 fine in the first instance and imprisonment for six months without option.

These tests are not all that has been done by the department. It has been discovered that pickles and fruit jams have been adulterated with formaldehyde, a chemical used by undertakers in embalming dead bodies. This has been largely stopped. Cream has been made by condensing skim milk to give it a thickness. A law was passed at the last session of the legislature to prevent this and requiring cream to contain 12 per cent of butter fat. Sometimes a mixture of lime and cane sugar has been used to thicken thin milk. It has been colored with annatto to make it creamlike in appearance.

Pickles and fruit jams have been colored with dyes sufficiently to color white cloth permanently. "The people who adulterate food products can always keep ahead of the chemist," said Dr. Geisler. "They are always devising something new which taxes our ingenuity to discover."—Brooklyn Eagle.

REBUKED FOR HIS CHARITY

City Prosecutor Lee Gives Newsies Money and They Turn Up in Court.

City Prosecutor Lee has a warm spot in his heart for the newsboys. He often gives them a word of encouragement and at often the price of a good meal or a ticket for the "show."

Thursday afternoon Orver Shively, I. Siskind and Fred Mehan, newsies, approached the city prosecutor with a hard luck story about financial reverses and bankruptcy, so "old" hands went down into his trousers pocket with all the enthusiasm of a boy making his entry into an ice cream barrel at a Sunday school picnic. Lee gave the boys two bits each and then hurried on, picturing in his mind the good time the boys would have on the morrow. A few hours later three boys were arrested and taken to the police station on the charge of "shooting craps." When arrested in police court the prosecutor rebuked the boys and after giving them a little curtain lecture on the evils of their ways, secured their discharge.

TO FORM WISCONSIN CLUB

Natives of Beaver State in Omaha Plan to Organize a Society.

A club to be composed exclusively of former residents of Wisconsin and now living in Omaha is the latest social organization of the kind proposed. Albert F. Mayne, deputy organizer of the Sons and Daughters of Security, is heading the movement and is trying to collect a list of names and addresses preparatory to calling a meeting to form the club. Mr. Mayne estimates that there are possibly 80 old Wisconsinians in the city and that the membership will be as large or larger than this. Several of the early pioneers came here from Wisconsin. Mr. Mayne is anxious to receive names and addresses, either by mail or in person, at his office, room 408 Bee building. He himself once lived at Plattville, Wis., in the southwest part of the state.
