OMAHA'S CONDITION OF TRADE

Warmer Weather Stimulated the Demand for Seasonable Lines.
FUTURE ORDERS LARGER THAN LAST YEAR
Exceptional Outlook for Hountiful Crops, Together with Advance in Price of Cattle Gives Much Promise for the Future.

All lines of summer weight goods moved to better advantage last week than the week before, owing, no doubt, to the more seasonable weather. The demand from farmers did not show any great improvement, as they were too busy with their crops, but trade in general was in very satisfactory condition. The fact that crops are much more promising than they were a year ago at this time gives to all lines of business an air of confidence not often seen. Retailers feel that if they do not sell quite as much of their stock now as they anticipated, that the demand will come later, and wholesalers and manufacturers react before the season has been a little backward, but that the good outlook for hountiful crops is sure to make the total volume of business for the year far above the record established last season.

Another encouraging factor is the sharp advance in the price of fat cattle. Until the last three or four weeks, the price was either selling their fat cattle at a loss or else were making no money. At the present time, however, the market is $1 per 100 higher and feeders are all making good money.

The confidence which merchants have in future business is well shown by the way in which they are placing orders for fall. Jobbers all agree that they have more orders for fall on hand at the present time than ever before at this season of the year, and that traveling men are still meeting with good success.

The market has not fluctuated to any great extent, with the exception of groceries, which move up and down more or less each week. There is the same firm feeling all along the line, though, that has characterized the situation all this year. Collections are reported as being quite satisfactory.

Sugar a Little Lower.
Wholesale grocers report the demand for their line of goods as being of very satisfactory proportions. The market is also in good shape and prices on most lines are a little higher abroad and as a result refined grades are quoted about 5 cents per 100 lower. The most interesting feature of the situation, though, is the fact that the railroad, which has come upon the rate question and have announced a sharp advance, to take effect July 1, which means an increase on the cost of raw sugar of 17 cents per 100 pounds. Previous to the break some little time ago the rate from New Orleans to Omaha was 20 cents and it was cut to 30 cents. The new rate is 30 cents, or an advance over the old rate of 10 cents. The rate from Chicago was 27 cents, and that was reduced to 20 cents and is now put back to 27 cents.

condition of the pastures, which enables all crops to be in full operation. The dried fruit market has shown very little change during the week under review, the demand being of a kind to mostly character, as is generally the case during the berry season. A much heavier demand is anticipated as soon as the berry season is over. Any ordinary harvest demand is thought will practically clean up the stock of apricots and peaches and take a very large part of the present holdings of these fruits.

Interest in the canned goods line is centered very largely in spot tomatoes and of the spot crop the demand for them in the west has been cleaned up at full prices and holders are anticipating an advance in the price of the crop. Any ordinary demand it is thought will clean up every case before the new crop is available for use.

The spot tomato market has advanced on Monday, and on standards $3.75 per dozen, according to holders. Packers in Maryland claim that they cannot pack tomatoes at prices now ruling on spots without a loss of 25c per dozen. It therefore looks probable that the ruling on futures, which means a further advance of 5c per dozen.

The rice market is a little higher than it was a week ago. Choice heads have advanced 4c per pound and fancy heads have been marked up 8c per pound. Any mill which holds a good stock of Japan is very firm in its price and the cheaper offerings are coming only from such mills as are clearing out their remnants.

Other staple lines of groceries not mentioned above have shown very little change during the week, prices being firm.

Dry Goods More Active.
From the country comes the report that the demand for all staple and seasonable lines has shown considerable improvement in the last few days. People are beginning to feel the need of light weight clothing and as a result they are buying quite freely. Merchants now are doing very little complaining and, in fact, are greatly encouraged for the future, because of the fine outlook for hountiful crops. They no longer have any doubts about their being able to clean up their stocks in good shape.

BAD SINGING MAKES TROUBLE

Inability to Properly Chant "The Blue and Gray" Causes Fight and Severs Friends.

J. H. Donnelly's inability to sing "The Blue and the Gray" in a manner pleasing to his former friend, Zebe Turpin, caused Donnelly to sustain a pummeled face, Turpin to pay a fine of $30 and costs in police court and each of the men to lose his other's friendship.

According to the evidence the men were guests at a wedding Sunday night. The merry-making continued until 4 a. m., when Donnelly and Turpin started home together apparently the best of friends. A discordant note, however, came between them. Turpin, it is said, was feeling blue in the "old, gray dawn of the morning after," so when his companion's exuberant spirits broke out with the first strains of "The Blue and the Gray," Turpin felt moved to tell Donnelly that he was not singing the song as it should be sung, so the latter work to proceed uninterrupted and the effect was very noticeable in the demand for staples and seasonable lines of hountiful crops. Retailers did a better business and as a result their orders with jobbers were more liberal. There seems to be no special feature to the trade, as the demand is general for all lines and in volume is running considerably ahead of last year.

There is practically nothing new to report regarding the market situation. Prices are just about where they have been for some time past, with the exception of a few changes which are not of enough importance to be worthy of mention. At the present time jobbers say there is no indication of any important changes going into effect during this season, as the market on all lines is in a good, healthy condition.

GETS TWO DAYS IN CUSTODY

Man Who Marks Dunning Letters "Bad Debt" Receives Mercy of the Court.

Frank R. Sels, charged with sending out duns addressed "bad debt," appeared before Judge Munger in the United States district court and changed his plea of not guilty to guilty. His attorney pleaded in mitigation that Sels was an old man and was not thoroughly familiar with the law and the inhibition against paying slow pay debtors with large type and comments of the delinquencies.

WILL GIVE CONCERT DANCE

Next Saturday evening Inner's band, under the management of the Auditorium company, will give a concert dance. The program will include concert numbers for about an hour, after which the chairs will be cleared away and for an hour and a half dances will follow.

These dances will give an opportunity to those who did not attend the opening ball to try the new floor. Everyone who attends an entirely popular dancing party, and if the first one is a success two will be given the following week.

Conductor Inner instituted this form of dance at Marragawett pier and proposed it to the Auditorium directors when first here. It was heartily embraced.

Sunday night will be a particularly attractive concert, Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" being given. This is one of the two long compositions practiced by the festival chorus and is thought by many to be its most successful work. The music will be largely of a character fitting to the Sabbath. The directors, after considerable discussion, have decided to keep the book tickets on sale during next week. They said many people did not avail themselves

ADVANCE, WHILE AS A MATTER OF FACT HE HAD NO AUTHORITY TO DO.

Lizzie Durdorff and Fred Schneider and May Eberhardt, who on account of outstanding charges against them were indicted on the ground of adultery.

James Smith is charged with daylight breaking and entering and larceny. It is alleged that he forced an entrance to the home of James Daley and stole therefrom $3 in cash.

Ella Hurst, the domestic whose case attracted much attention some weeks ago, was indicted on one charge of grand larceny, the specific case being that of Ernest W. Arthur, from whom it is charged she took $250 worth of jewelry and clothing. It will be recalled that a dozen or more of her former employers made similar charges.

Charles Waters is accused of having broken into the store of John Wright in the night time and stolen therefrom $23.75. This was done in the night time.

Ferdinand W. Church was indicted for obtaining money under false pretenses by means of a forged check for $11. Church once in the night time was taken before Judge Munger, who on account of extenuating circumstances in the case let the prisoner off with thirty days in the county jail.

Several minor matters were stricken from the docket of the district criminal court and otherwise disposed of by the court and County Attorney English. The case against two mischievous boys, named Dellone and White, was not pressed, as was also the case against Charles Dyerher, who the grand jury failed to indict for maintaining a lottery.

Of the thirty-three indictments returned by the grand jury warrants have been served and returned to the clerk of the court in ten cases. An indictment was found against Rosa Humelstein for obtaining money under false pretenses. It is charged that she took a postoffice money order belonging to her husband and claiming that it was her own induced John Kosterkerwich to identify her and incidentally to endorse the order at a bank. Kosterkerwich eventually had to pay the bank the $100, which was the face of the order, the same having been repudiated by the postoffice authorities.

Edward Stegeman and Bert Smith are charged with burglary, it being alleged that they broke into the barn of Michael Sullivan and stole therefrom one pet lamb of the value of $7.
