The number of these craft constantly grew and not the least dramatic incidents of the catastrophe were the efforts of the people in these boats to rescue those who had jumped overboard from the burning vessel.

Men crowded to the ralls of the tugs and caught up the drowning persons as they were borne by the current. There were many thrilling rescues by this means. North Brother island, where the vessel was beached, contains a scarlet fever ward. The patients, who witnessed the disaster, were ordered indoors and the doctors hastened to the rescue of those who had been washed ashore, but some scores of persons died while they were being attended to. Captain VanSchaick and his two pilots, Edward VanWert and E. M. Weaver, have been arrested.

Burns to Water's Edge.

The General Slocum left Third street, East river, at 9:30 o'clock this morning, having on board the Sunday school excursion of St. Mark's German Lutheran church, located in Sixth street. Its destination was Locust Grove, one of the many resorts on Long Island sound.

The excursion was in charge of Rev. George C. Haas, pastor of the church. The vessel was commanded by William Van Schaik, one of the best known excursion bost captains in New York harbor,

He has commanded the General Slocum for almost the entire time since it was built, in 1891.

The steamer after leaving its dock this morning proceeded up the East river, all three of its decks being crowded with merrymakers. Bands played and the great stem to stern.

Efforts were at once directed to subduing the fire, but they were

Pot of Grense Overturned. The blaze spread aft with almost lightning rapidity. Captain Van Schalk in the pilot house had been informed of the outbreak of the fire and, realizing the danger to hundreds of excursionists, decided to send his vessel to shore at One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street. At this point there are a number of lumber yards and several huge oil tanks and the captain was warned that to attempt to land at this point would endanger the property and further imperil the scores of people who had already been frightened into a state of almost uncontrollable excitement. Changing the big steamer's course slightly he headed it for North Brother island, half a mile away. By this time the flames were rushing by leaps and bounds from the forward part of the ship aft.

The great open decks, built for excursionists, with little obstruction from bow to stern, offered a clear sweep for the fire. As the Sipcum dashed forward the flames caught stanchion and cabin woodwork, eating and tearing their way across the vessel. The excursionists, but a few moments before in the full enjoyment of an ideal summer's day on Long Island sound, were driven to the after part of the steamer to escape the heat, flames and smoke that were constantly incerasing. Policemen and deck hands aboard the boat struggled hard to quiet the panic, but their efforts were in vain. The wild disorder increased as frantic mothers sought to find their children, who had been at play about the

Notified at Last Minute After Council Bluffs Has Had Time to Present All Its Argument.

Euclid Martin, E. E. Bruce, C. H. Pickens and W. S. Wright, who went to Chicago the first of the week as a committee from the Commercial club to attend the meeting of traffic managers of western trunk lines, have returned and report that at present the outlook for preventing a restoration of the old bridge arbitrary of 5 cents per hundred on shipments of class freight from Omaha into Iowa is quite discour- fore they could reach the shelter of their aging. They say that unless something is done and done at once the arbitrary is very likely to be restored to the great detriment of the jobbing interests of Omaha. It was learned by the committee that the Council Bluffs Commercial club has had the for the last six months and that three meetings have been held with the Iowa representatives in attendance, and that during all these meetings and the lengthy consideration of the question the railroads have not considered their interests in this city of enough importance to even notify the jobbers here what was going on until last Friday, after, it is believed, the matter had been definitely settled and it was agreed to restore the arbitrary. those below. It is thought that most of

The Council Bluffs club has not gone at he matter in a haphagard way, but has employed eminent legal counsel in the person of Congressman Smith of Council Bluffs and has called to its assistance the lows railroad commission, which it is said has exerted every influence to secure the restoration of the arbitrary. April 1 the egal representative of the club appeared before a meeting of the railroad men in Chicago and delivered an address covering thirteen pages, closely typewritten, as an argument why the arbitrary should be restored. At other times meetings have been held and all the evidence which could be collected to help out the Council Bluff's had on life preservers. When the matter had practically been settled a meeting was called in Chicago Tuesday, it is thought, for the purpose of officially restoring the arbitrary. At the last moment notice was sent to the Omaha Commercial club that representatives might be present at the meeting if the club so desired. Everything was ready to retire, howver, and the Russians returned to Port Arthur by train, leaving behind them only some old Chinese guns, the breech locks of which had seen destroyed: The Japanese artillery fire was well directed, but the Russians suffered more from the fire of the Japanese of the gunboats.

When the Russian merchant from whom these details were obtained left Port Arthor the Jananese were within twelve miles of that place. The Russians have trenches and earthworks at intervals of wo miles throughout this distance.

The Japanese fleet is no longer able to support the army, the water along the river being too shallow to permit the vessels to approach. Port Arthur is well proisloned. There are 8,000 head of cattle there, and the firm of which this merchant is a member has just turned over to the authorities 92,000 pounds of salt beef. Other firms also have supplied the authorities at Port Arthur with provisions. This merchant estimates the number of men at Port Arthur at 30,000. This exceeds the Chinese estimates by 20,000.

Proprietors of Omaha printing houses, of which there are no less than ten large ones, are indigrant over the action of the board of governors of Ak-Sar-Ben in giving to a Milwaukee house the job of getting out the lithograph hanger for the fall festivities. The work will come to between $6% and $700, and the local printers regard it as a direct injustice not even to have had the privilege of bidding for it. Never before, according to the local concerns, has this work been done outside of Omaha. One house, Klopp-Bartlett, has done the work "And," said J. B. Redfield, secretary that company, "on an aggregate of $2,400 for these six jobs we realized less than 10 per cent profit. But it is not for the money consideration entirely that we are opposed to this work going out of Omaha. The printers of this city cannot afford to have such work taken to other cities. We are perfectly able and competent to do it. I suppose $500,000 is a conservative estimate to place upon the value of the combined printing equipment of about ten of the best concerns in Omaha, and they pay an aggregate of probably $250,000 or more year in wages. They are constantly spending money for the improvement of their equipment and for the population of the city have the very best service in the country. It is amazing that they should be arbitrarily refused this work. They are among the most aggressive and progressive advertisers Omaha has.

"Mr. Mel Uhl, manager of the Dally News, is secretary of the board of governors and chairman of the printing committee, and in this capacity has control of the letting of contracts. We charge him with the responsibility, for Mr. Uhl exacted of the governors the concession of sending this work where he pleased and told them they had to support him in the matter, which they did.

Blame Mel Uhl.

"When we learned of the intention of sending this work out of Omaha I wrote Mr. Uhl for our company and also wrote the governors, asking for the privilege of submitting bids, but this was not allowed me. We offered to do the work for nothing rather than see it taken out of the city but they said they didn't want anything for nothing. I was advised that the board had confirmed the action of Mr. Uhl in sending the work abroad. The invitations were sent to St. Louis houses, so it seems

"The Ak-Sar-Ben is intended for nothing if not an Omaha boomer, organized and maintained for the essential purpose of advertising and promoting the commercial interests of Omaha; to take the lead in fostering and upbuilding home industries, discriminating against none, but favoring all. What have we here? This prime minister of home industry taking the initiative in ignoring domestic markets and patronizing foreign trade. It is almost too incredible to believe. OMAHA PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The tension that always attends the closing weeks of school is somewhat relaxed and Thursday will see the completion of examinations and a general scattering for the summer, of teachers and pupils. It is anticipated that a most satisfactory proportion of the eighth grade pupils will make their grade and enter the high school in September. The class is estimated at between 700 and 750 pupils. There are, of course, several schools that have eighth A classes finishing their work this spring, and these classes will, with the pupils who fail to pass, be condensed in three or four of the more centrally located buildings in the fall until February, when they will enter the high school. Mason, Comenius, Long and Lake were the schools selected last year and will probably be used again.

As a diversion from the close work of the past few weeks, the class day exercises of catarrh. Its good effects are quickly gained, last week afforded a number of programs of exceptional merit. Among these were the closing exercises at Vinton school, Mrs. Woodward principal and Miss Ross, eighth if, after using, you can say that it did not grade teacher. Friday morning, at the close of the session, the members of the eighth grade entertained the entire school, holding a reception for an hour.

Out of respect for Miss Lillian Littlefield, late principal of Park school, no closing exercises were held at that building. Park, however, has an honor roll of which it is especially proud, twelve eighth grade pupils who have not missed a day of school during the last year. The list includes Misces Bessie Townsend, Edith Lyon, Ruby Frazier, Nellie Kearns, Blanche Bellis, Mabel Vierling, Masters Earl Ayer, Elliott Gilmore, Alan McDonald, Harry Cockrell, Albert Cook and James Allan.

Has a Most Gratifying Daily Attendance-Bathing the Chief Sport Now. Courtland Beach continues to draw large rowds afternoon and evening, due partially to Russell's sensational dive, which is given afternoons at 5 and evenings at 9, but mainly to the delightful weather of the resort. Yesterday twenty-five automobiles made a run to the beach, unloading a large number of people, mainly young women who indulged in a pleasant dip in the water after spending the day boating, fishing and picnicking. Frement and the Black Hills were represented by 150 people who had come to Omaha on a shopping visit. Nordin's brass band of forty pieces disourses splendid music both afternoon and evening at the pavilion, while Becker's Ladies' orchestra makes melodious music in the cafe. The Washington Star quartet sings on the platform. A veritable festival of music is presented. Were it not for the engagement of the band at the Auditorium Courtland Beach would put in a bid for musical patrons. In a week or so Prof. Nordin will inaugurate a series of band concerts, one night playing rag time music, other nights military, comic opera, musical comedy and the like. Mile. Sangre makes a balloon ascension daily.
