BEGIN NAMING PICNIC DATES

Grocers and Butchers Venture to Say They Will Have Outing This Summer.

The weather department is all very well in its way. It is the official source of weather and anything which comes from any other source is not the real, genuine, union made. But the weather department cannot, despite its best efforts, assure the farming population that the coming summer will be free from drought or satisfy the man who has his year's crop at stake that he will have ample rain. But now comes forward the Omaha Retail Grocers' Association and the Omaha Retail Meat Dealers association, and at a brief session of a few gentlemen set at rest all fears in this direction. They have named the date for the annual picnic.

Last summer the most and miscellaneous food retailers set the date off on from early June until late August and kept the country inundated. Some complaint arose from patrons in the low lands so that this season the association will take care not to bring too much rain. It has set the date late. It also has set it several times at the beginning so that the picnic may be postponed as the weather makes necessary from one regularly appointed day to another. The days named first by the committee are July 30, 31, 32 and August 4. After it has rained on these days others will be selected. The grocers and the butchers also will have to await to a certain extent the convenience of the railroads in the matter of excursion coaches. A committee of J. B. Conington, Harry Fischer and V. E. Kuntz went to Blair Thursday to inspect the three parks there and the ball grounds to see if they will do as a picnic ground. Dryness during rainy weather is the sole consideration. Other towns will be investigated and the first place which can show a modern, thoroughly drained and insulatiably soiled park will get the dealers.
