NEARLY CAUSES A RATE WAR

Edgar Allen Springs Good Joke While Prisoner with John Utz.

BOTH ARE LOCKED IN ROCK ISLAND OFFICE

Allen Sticks Out Rate Notices on Windows, Parties Read Them and Call Up Competing Company.

Edgar Allen of Allen Bros. came very near causing a serious rate war in Omaha. J. E. Utz, general agent of the Rock Island and Mr. Allen are receiving congratulations from their friends on a narrow escape which they had Thursday evening from being all-night prisoners in the office of the Rock Island at Fourteenth and Barnum streets. The congratulations, however, touch a sore spot, but are accepted as graciously as possible.

One of the parties on the inside—that is, of the facts, not the office—relates the following story of the affair: "Mr. Utz and Mr. Allen were busily engaged in Mr. Utz's private office about 9 o'clock in the evening talking business. All of the clerks but one had left for the evening, and he sat at his desk and walked out, locking the outside door after him. A few minutes after his departure Mr. Allen said he would have to hurry home, as he had friends invited to dinner, and the two walked to the door. When one of them grasped the knob and attempted to turn it he found the door locked. They tried the other door and found it likewise locked.

have to telephone to one of the boys to come—and let us out."

Ferkins Not at Home.

"Accordingly H. A. Ferkins, commercial agent, was called up. Some one at the house answered and the circumstances were related, and it was requested that Mr. Ferkins hurry right down and let them out, but unfortunately Mr. Ferkins had departed some time before for the Field club and was busily engaged playing golf. When the club was telephoned Mr. Ferkins could not be found. At this juncture both parties searched their clothing for a key which might pushily fit the lock, but no key was found.

"The telephone was again resorted to, but without result. One of the boys had gone to Manawa and would not be back until late at night. Others had also gone out and probably would not return until late, and still others could not be reached by phone. At last a happy thought struck Mr. Utz. He called up Kern's saloon, which is but a few doors away from the Rock Island office. Mr. Kern said he would be right over with a ladder and assist them to get out through the transom. The ladder came and was placed against the door on the outside, but there was then no way to get to the top of the door on the inside, so another ladder was brought. A man climbed up the one outside and shoved the other inside through the transom. Mr. Allen climbed it, but found the transom too small to squeeze through. Mr. Utz then tried and also found he was too thick or the transom too narrow. He has not decided as yet which.

"Well," said Mr. Kern, "you won't starve, for I will bring you a lunch." Some sandwiches and drinks were brought and pushed through the transom. After lunch Mr. Allen called his house and informed his wife that he guessed he would not be home to dinner—at least it would be late as he had been detained down town. The guests talked to him over the phone and urged him to come home as quickly as possible. He said he was perfectly willing to go, but business was so pressing he could not see his way clear to get there before late in the evening.

"A long wait followed the conversation, with nothing doing in the way of breaking their way out. During the wait Mr. Allen amused himself by writing notices which he pasted in the windows. Some of them read: "Low rates to Denver, $4 for the round trip." "I can go to Des Moines for 20 cents."

The notices attracted a crowd which looked through the windows at Mr. Utz and Mr. Allen. The crowd did not quite understand the proceedings. The notices were not taken down Thursday night and as soon as the office were open and asked if the management had gone crazy. Finally matters were explained and rates regained their normal condition.

"About 9:30 in the evening after the prisoners had sought out the two sootiest desks in the office whereon to sleep City Ticket Clerk W. R. Fisher unlocked the door and entered the office. He had come down town late to write a letter to a friend which he had forgotten to write during the day. The two men sat up and rubbed their eyes. They walked out looking kind of sheepish and found their respective ways home."

be held next week at the high school by the examining committee composed of H. A. Bender, Virginia White and Clara Cooper. Tuesday and Wednesday the examinations will be for primary and grammar grades and the kindergarten, and on Thursday for the high school. It is not known how many applicants there will be.

MILLER GIVEN TEN YEARS

Criminal Who Operated in Omaha Convicted for Murder in Second Degree.

Sheriff Deuman of Fremont telephoned Captain of Police Mott's yesterday that James Miller, alias James Kelly, has been found guilty of murder in the second degree by a jury at Columbus.

Miller was tried for killing Arthur Snowden of Kearney, the young man who was found March 28 in an empty house near Humphrey with a bullet wound in his head. A number of articles, identified as taken from a hardware store robbed at Leigh the night before, were found beside the bed. Through the efforts of the Omaha and Fremont authorities, who assisted Sheriff Carrig of Columbus, Miller and Snowden were identified as having been released from the Fremont jail a few days before the robbery at Leigh. Snowden was identified as with Miller the day before the store was entered and Miller was identified as the man who created something of a scare in an Omaha hotel last November. Miller had seven sticks of dynamite with him when arrested here. He was released in a few days, there being nothing specific against him at the time.

"At the time of the Leigh robbery the Platte county authorities offered a reward of $50 for Miller's capture and asked the Omaha police department for photograph and description of any man who had been recently arrested in Omaha and who might be traced with results. Miller's picture and measurements were sent from Omaha, with the result that he was found serving ten days for petit larceny at David City, fifteen miles from the county seat, where he was wanted.

Miller's conviction is of particular interest in this part of the country, where the man and his pals have operated for the last fifteen years. At the time of Miller's arrest in Omaha last fall his three companions were under trial for robbing the John Fisher bank at Byron, Neb. The men were sentenced to ten years each.

CASE IS UNDER ADVISEMENT

Arguments End in Council Injunction Suit and Judge Considers the Matter.

The arguments and citations which during the last two days have been submitted to Judge Sears, tending to determine whether the court has or has not the right and authority to enjoin the city council as a body from passing certain city ordinances, was brought to a close yesterday with the end of the argument of City Attorney Wright.

The restraining order on which the arguments of counsel were based is that issued by Judge Sears enjoining the council from passing an ordinance prohibiting Omaha railroad ticket brokers from selling out rate tickets from this city to the St. Louis exposition. This ordinance purported to have the interests of the city in view on the ground that if the "scalping" of tickets was allowed the railroads would refuse a stop-over privilege to persons enroute to the exposition and that the business of the city would suffer as a consequence. The order of the court was disregarded by a majority of the members of the council on the ground that it had exceeded its authority.

Five of the ticket brokers of Omaha joined to oppose the action of the council, and to have them show cause why they are not in contempt for having disobeyed the order of the court, and also to determine whether, inasmuch as the ordinance passed is in violation of the court's order, the brokers are in any way bound by its provisions.

Judge Sears now has the matter under advisement.

OUTSIDER MAY NAME WEBSTER

Republican from Other State Than Nebraska May Make the Nominating Speech.

John Lee Webster, Nebraska's candidate for the vice presidency, H. C. Brown, chairman of the delegation, and the five assistant sergeants at arms from Omaha left for Chicago tonight in order to be on the ground early for the national convention.

"Mr. Webster will make no attempt at convincing or stirring for the vice presidential nomination, simply being on the ground so that he may be present if his friends succeed in forcing things his way," said one of the delegates. "The delegate who will place his name before the convention has not been determined upon and will not be definitely until after the Nebraska delegation gets together in the Auditorium Annex Monday morning. The nomination may come from some state other than Nebraska, this being one of the unsettled questions.

The five assistant sergeants at arms from Omaha are F. A. Shotwell, Sidney Smith, Charles G. McDonald, John G. Peacock and W. R. Adair. They compose about one-fifth of all the Nebraskans who will fill like positions at the convention and go early to receive necessary instructions. The Omaha list was presented by the Fort-tanville club, endorsed by Chairman H. C. Brown of the delegation and passed upon favorably by the convention committee.

Most of the delegation and visitors from the city and state will not leave for Chicago until tonight.

TWO SENT TO SIOUX FALLS

Westcliffe Rubber Gets Four Years and Colored Cavalryman Fifteen Months.

Ed Gordon, convicted of robbing the post-office at Newcaston, appeared before Judge Munger in the federal court and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and to four years' imprisonment in the Sioux Falls penitentiary. His attorney made an earnest plea for a new trial, but the motion was overruled by the court.

Peter Bullard, colored, a member of the Tenth United States cavalry, convicted of cutting with intent to wound a hachman on the Fort Robinson military reservation in February last, was assigned for a sentence before Judge Munger and was given a sentence of fifteen months in the Sioux Falls penitentiary.

Gordon has been in the Douglas county jail since January 3 and Smith since December last. Peter Bullard, a Winnebago Indian, held under a charge of "bootlegging," was released on $200 bonds until his case can be investigated by the federal grand jury in November.
