DMAHA'S CONDITION OF TRADE

Both Wholesalers and Retailers Did a Good Business Last Week.

NOT MANY CHANGES IN RULING PRICES

Jobbers Getting in Their Stocks of Fall Goods Preparatory to Filling Early Advance Orders and Also for Buyers Next Month,

Conditions were quite favorable last week for a good demand for all seasonable lines of goods and as a result both wholesalers and retailers in Omaha and surrounding territory did a very nice business. There was a noticeable increase in the number of filling orders received by local houses, which is the best possible proof that relialers stocks are getting low. According to reports received from the country, with very few exceptions retailers have sold fully as much of their stocks as they had up to this time last year. Most of them no doubt expected to do better than they did a year ago, but the lack of warm weather has, of course, affected the demand for a number of classes of goods. The demand will undoubtedly come later, but the profits to the retailer are never so good toward the end of the season as they are early and that is one of the reasons why merchanis always like an early season laking everything into consideration, though, there are very few complaints and merchanis are very hopeful for the future. Advance orders are still coming in quite freely and wholesalers are already getting their fail stocks in shape to begin filling their advance orders. It will not be long now before they will begin shippings goods to the far west and north. Prices have fluctuated back and forth to some extent during the week under review, but still the changes have been confined largely to groceries. Such lines as dry goods, hardware and leather goods have shown practically no change. Collections are reported as being only fair. Retailers find it difficult to make their collections and that being the case no great improvement is looked for until after harvest time, when the new crops begin to move. Prices on California Canned Goods.

Prices on California Canned Goods.

Wholesale grocers report the demand for their line of goods as being exceptionally heavy for this season of the year and much shead of the demand a year ago. The market is also in a good, healthy condition, with prices firm in nearly all lines.

California canners named their prices last week on the new pack of canned fruits for fall delivery. Upon investigation it is found that these prices are about as the trade expected, with the possible exception of lemon cling peaches, which are being quoted from 10c to 20c per dozen higher than the opening prices last season. Yellow Crawford peaches and pears are from 5c to 10c per dozen higher than these prices are justified by conditions existing on the coast. The crop of peaches in the north of California as well as in the extreme south will be very much short of last season and this shortage is most pronounced in the lemon cling varieties.

The demand for spot tomatoes is very

The demand for spot tomatoes is very active from all parts of the country and under active trading weak holders have been closed out, establishing an advance of Pác to 5c per dozen. Spot corn is without change, but is in active demand at scarce and this is particularly true with the new crop.

There has been no quotable change in sugars, either on raws or refined. The demand, however, is very heavy and refiners are largely oversold so there is more or less delay in making shipments. Local or less delay in making shipments. scarce and this is particularly true with the new crop.

There has been no quotable change in sugars, either on raws or refined. The demand, however, is very heavy and refiners are largely oversold so there is more or less delay in making shipments. Local jobbers predict that because of the exceptionally large fruit crop in sight the demand will be almost unprecedented.

Preparing for Fall.

Local dry goods jobbers are devoting a large share of their attention at the present time to getting their stocks of fall goods in shape for early buyers and also to be prepared for making their early shipments to the far west and north. They expect to start on the work of filling the large number of advance orders which they have on hand the latter part of the month and shortly after July 4 it is thought the largest buyers will begin to arrive to place their fall orders. Jobbers say that if crop prospects continue as favorable as they are at the present time they will break all previous records for fall business by a wide margin.

Retailers in some cases have not sold quite as much of their spring and summer goods as they expected to up to this time, but they have no fear of not being able to close them out before the season comes to a close. The only thing that worries them is that they have to do so at a sacrifice, which eats into the year's profits.

The markets are in just about the same position they were at last report. There have been no quotable changes worthy of mention and at the present time none are being predicted. The new crop of cotton is of course being closely watched by all those who are interested and on the outcome of that depends very largely the future of the market. Many fall and winter Preparing for Fall.

those who are interested and on the outcome of that depends very largely the future of the market, Many fall and winter lines are made up so that the market on such goods is practically independent of the future price of raw cotton, but there are other staple lines which fluctuate back and forth with the cotton market. It is entirely too early yet to tell anything about the final outcome of the crop, but the general impression seems to be that twill have to be a record breaking crop about the high outcome of the crop, but the general impression seems to be tha it will have to be a record breaking crop to carry cotton down to anything like of cheap price. With a short crop cotton goods will become very valuable.

Hardware Active and Steady. The demand for all seasonable and staple lines of hardware is reported as being exceptionally good for the time of year.
In fact jobbers have about all they can do to keep up with their orders in some departments and in some lines it is impossible to get enough stock to supply their trade. This shortage, however, is limited to a few classes of goods so that retailers are being served promptly. The demand is not limited to any particular class of goods, but covers practically all kinds that are used at this season, so there is no special feature to the trade except its activity.

The market is also in the same position activity.

The market is also in the same position it was a week ago and so far as jobbers can see at the present time there is not likely to be any important changes in the hear future. It is simply a good, healthy situation all along the line.

No Change in Leather Goods. No Change in Leather Goods.

There is nothing particularly new to report of the leather goods situation. Sizing up orders are more numerous than they were a short time ago, but still they are not exactly brisk. Present indications are that retailers will close out their stocks in good shape, but that they will not need any great quantity above what they now have. The backward season is very largely responsible for this situation, but as the majority of merchants bought quite freely to start with the total volume of their to start with the total volume of the business will still be quite satisfacto. Bubber goods are seiling slowly the sas usual at this time of year. These no special feature to the trade.

The movement of dried fruit is reported as being very slow, no special interest in any line being manifest. A better demand however, is anticipated for harvest time and stocks of peaches and apricots are so light that it is thought the market can be easily sustained.

The cheese market is quoted from 4c to 4c per pound higher than it was a sweek age, owing largely to the fact that speculators were taking all offerings last week.

The coffee market is still on the advance. There was a slight rise early in the week and the latter part of the week there was a harp advance. It is generally expected that there will be an inportant increase in the price of packars coffee in the near future as a result of these advances. Desirable roasting grades of soffees are very Fruits, Vegetables and Produce.

TO BE NO DELAY ON CANAL Money on Hand Will Be Sufficient to Start Work Pending Congresaional Action.

(Copyrighted by N. Y. Herald Co., 1904.) WASHINGTON, June 18 .- (New York Herald Service-Special to The Bee.)-It is emphatically asserted at the treasury and offices of the canal commission that there will be no delay in the work of canal construction at Panama by reason of the failure of congress to authorize the proposed issue of bonds. The $10,000,000 at the disposal of the commission, to be paid from funds in the treasury, will be ample for all the work that can be performed to good advantage before congress at its December session has opportunity to act.

At the commission's headquarters it was ful examination of the route must be made as a basis for writing specifications for contractors, than was necessary in the Walker commission report upon which congress might decide the relative merita

Congress will, next winter, doubtless put the proposed bond issue into a form attractive to the banks as well as providing for the government of the zone. MAY RUN CARS AT HIGH SPEED notwithstanding. New York Inventor Expects to Attain One Hundred and Sixty Miles an Hour.

(Copyright, 1904, by New York Herald Co.) NEW YORK, June 18.-(New York A. C. Albertson, an inventor, risks the statement that material is on the ground and work will be commenced at once for the construction of an electric railroad between South Beach and Midland Beach, Staten Island, on which it is expected a speed of 160 miles an hour will be made. According to the inventor, this experi mental line will cost $20,000 for the mile and a half. The principle is that by a series of electric magnets trains raise themselves from the track, reducing friction to practically nothing and making speed of a terrific rate possible.

GERMAN CREATES A SENSATION Tells Members of Woman's Club They

Should Resent Actions of Officials. BERLIN, June 18 .- Count von Hoens broeck, the well known political writer created a sensation today at the session of the Women's Congress. When the fourth section, which was discussing woman suf frage, had completed the list of program speakers, it threw the subject open to discussion. Count von Hoensbroeck asked per mission to speak and criticised the delegates to the congress for accepting invita tions to garden parties, those of Chancel lor and Countess von Buelow and Interior Secretary and Countess von Posadowsky Wekner, immediately after the government has declared that it would not accept the woman suffrage amendment to the law creating boards of arbitration for mer chants and their employes. Von Hoens broack said the women should have politely informed the ministers that they were unable to accept social courtesies under the circumstances "The secretary of the interior," said vor Hoensbroeck, "snubbed the suffrage movement, but gave you strawberries and cream. Fraulein Freundenborg of Munich, who presided, instantly repelled the count's criticisms, and later Fraulein Helene Lange returned to the subject and said the advocates of women's rights hoped to have an opportunity to meet their direct enemies cially and explain their views. The congress closed this afternoon with an enormous meeting. The Philharmonic hall was overfilled and a large overflow meeting was held in an adjacent hall where the speeches made in the Philhar monic hall were repeated. The leading speaker in the main hall was Mrs. Perkins Gilman, who discussed Prof. Lester E. Ward's theory of the biological origin

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt of Wyoming, Rev. Anna Shaw and Mrs. Gilman developed into great favorites with the audiences, and Miss Susan B. Anthony received an ovation whenever she interjected the fewest simplest remarks, often writing autographs in the intervals for her German admirers. The delegates were worn out with the work of the congress and the numerous social functions, at which they were overwhelmed with kindness. The municipality tonight will give the delegates a great farewell reception at the city hall.

NO DISTURBANCE IN FINLAND Russian Newspapers Say Finns Should

The conservative class of Finns deprecate

the deed, not only because of its immediate effect upon them, but because it is calculated to alienate the sympathy of the out side world, which is essential for their campaign. Members of the senate who had insisted that the responsibility of guarding the governor general inside the chamber should rest on their shoulders publicly condemn the act and are apprehensive that it may lead to a curtailment of their powers. Beveral Finnish senators have already gone to the emperor to express their regret and endeavor to prevent the adoption of harsh measures, which they fear would further alienate the Russians and Finns. The Russian officials seem absolutely convinced that no popular movement will follow Schaumann's act and are reposing confidence in the better feelings of the people. They drive about Heisingfors without guards and attend to their usual duties apparently without fear of personal violence.

Although Schaumann left a letter saying he had no accomplices and that he acted entirely on his own initiative the authorties firmly believe that a plot existed. Several friends of Schaumann have been placed under arrest, but no evidence has yet been obtained. The father of the assassin, who was dismissed from the senate at the time of the opposition to the introduction of the Russian language, has convinced the police that he knew nothing of his son's purpose, The assassin had been on bad terms with the police for a year, having been arrested in 1906 for public criticism of the conduct of the Cossacks in connection with the dispersion of the rioters on the occasion of the conscription troubles. The papers continue to discuss the matter with great eagerness, with the exception of the Svet, counseling against harsh measures.

The Viedomosti strongly insists that the Finnish nation should not be held responsible for the crime, and that repressive measures would not only militate against the situation in Finland, but prejudice the interests of the whole empire. "The necessity for equal, friendly and loving relations toward all nationalities under the empire," the Viedomosti says, "is one of the plain teachings of history."

The Novoe Vremya says: "The Finnish nation at heart realizes that Russia is the best guardian of its interests. Mr. Gummere expressed grave doubt as to the advisability of making this payment before Perdicarts and Variey were actually released and safely returned to Tangler. Based on past experiences, it is feared that Raisouli is not to be depended upon and that once he has the money in hand and sfill controis the prisoners, he will make fresh demands.
