BOYLES COLLEGE, THE SECRET OF ITS SUCCESS.

can attrabute its success to a self-evident MOSHER SHORTHAND-Is the most legible, rapid, modern and up-to-date system Boyles' College-young, vigorous, grawing cause-a demand for a school possessed of a good morale, instructors who understand the different branches they are teaching. imparting to pupils that learning which enables them to hold their own in the struggie tor a livelihood.

The school-from entering the president's office in the handsome home in the New York Life building to the elevator entrance when departing-is a model of beauty as well as of capability. The banking fixtures, typewriters, etc., are new, and have the appearance of careful attention. The earnest attitude of the students and the enthuslasm manifest, together with the homelike air pervading, is most destrable.

The branches taught are Business, Shorthand, Typewriting and English. The teaching is practical and thorough. There is no wasted energy here. To such a school the success it has achieved is but the natural result of principles well applied."-A. D.
