DEMOCRATS ARE GATHERING

Delegates Find Small List of Candidates to Select From.

ONLY ONE AVOWED ASPIRANT FOR PLACE

Several Others Are Mentioned, but They Are Not Cultivating Their Rooms with Any Degree of Vigor.

Delegates from the county precincts to the democratic county convention to be held today began to arrive in the city last evening in goodly numbers. So far as the candidates for the several nominations are concerned, the delegates appeared to be completely at sea and it was particularly evident that no state had been fixed. Indications are that the convention will result in a fight between the two wings of democracy. According to the statement of a prominent member of the party yesterday the silver element will attempt to nominate a "knife" in November, and the gold element, or followers of Judge Parker, will try to nominate adherents of Bryan and Hearst so that they, the gold plank men, can have the pleasure of thrashing the harpoon into them when election time rolls around.

DISPOSE OF THE RAILROADS

State Board Strikes a Snag in the Express Company Assessment.

CASE OF LESS TAXATION OR A FIGHT

Terms of Parole Which Forfeit Good Time Allowances of Prisoner Held by Court to Be Invalid.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Ia., July 13.—(Special.)—The state executive council disposed of the matter of the hearing of the representatives of railroad companies in shorter time this year than for a long time. Today they took up other matters, and especially the assessment of express, interurban and freight lines. They came plump against a new proposition in regard to the assessment of express property. The two big companies, the American and United States, filed with the council letters which indicate that under the assessment as reduced there will be a test of the matter in the courts and the Iowa assessment or law may be knocked out. In both cases the companies cite a decision by the United States supreme court rendered last year in which it was held definitely that a state cannot tax interstate business and that including property values in other states in making a prorate valuation on mileage in any one state is an indirect form of taxing values in another state. Now the express companies claim that when the Iowa assessment makes a prorate valuation including property in other states, and especially real estate not used in the business, in estimating the per mile values, it is contrary to this decision of the United States courts. While the companies do not directly say so, they are intimating in the letters filed with the council that they intend to sue on hand if the assessment is not reduced.

RAINS ON A CARNIVAL

Despite the threatening appearance of the weather there was a very fair crowd at the Eagles' carnival last night, although the wise ones were early and thus avoided the drenching rain which came down shortly after 10 o'clock. Tonight will be South Omaha and Omaha night and large delegations of Eagles are expected from both these cities. A number of the features have been planned for tonight and if the weather holds will provide a decent kind of weather the attendance tonight promises to be a record breaker.

MRS. GALLAGHER WILL APPEAL.

Mrs. Sarah Ellen Gallagher, about to be tried for perjury in the case in which she was accused of murdering her husband, has served notice on the lower court, Judge Brynning, that she will appeal from his decision in sending the case to Iowa county for a change of venue. Her attorney, George B. Holden, has advised the county as is adjudged as the court admits Johnson is. The attorney also says that the supreme court has dismissed the case entirely in reversing it. This point will also go to the supreme court. Another bitter fight in this notorious suit is evidently ahead of the state and defense. Judge Brynning has taken under advisement the plea for a postponement of the trial pending the supreme court's ruling on its own decision.

The dogs were then put in the pound and Coates at night took them from the pound and again delivered them to the police, where they were paid for the second time and a description taken. The police became suspicious of the prosperity the two men enjoyed.

Crocker. He was a fine soldier who went out with the Second Iowa infantry during the war and after a short and brilliant career broke down in health, returned home and died. His regimental officers of the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth regiments arrived today.

MIDNIGHT SHOOTING AFFRAY.

As the result of a drunken carousal and a series of street quarrels culminating at midnight last night, Solomon Bousard, known as "King of the Greeks," is at Mercy hospital with a bullet wound in his liver and a bruise on his head, and Mart Maloney is in jail to await the outcome of the injuries he is alleged to have inflicted on the Greek. The affair grew out of a misunderstanding of a trivial nature, and the police were called three times to suppress the quarrel. Finally Maloney shot Bousard. He was arrested this morning.

PAYNE WIRES TO DIETRICH

Postmaster General Tull Senator Why Omaha's Lost Rural Mail Service Headquarters.

Senator Charles H. Dietrich has received a frank statement from Postmaster General Payne at Washington of the reason for removing the rural free delivery service from Omaha. That statement was transmitted to Senator Dietrich at his home in Hastings in this telegram: "WASHINGTON, July 13.—Hon. C. H. Dietrich, Hastings, Neb.: Congress has passed the act of July 12, 1904, and after deductions there remains in hand a surplus property valued at $7,106,968. A proportional valuation would give $35.50 as actual value per mile in Iowa. But excluding one mileage it is figured out at $34.75 per mile. The reason for this would be on property in Iowa valued at actually less than $28.00. The United States Express company made a computation showing actual value of property per mile including one mileage to be $12.12, and excluding this, $33.61. But the company would not consent to reduce the mileage equal to one of land mileage and this would give $5 a mile as actual value. These computations show something of what the companies will claim if they go into court to have determined the question of the justice of the Iowa assessment.

PAROLED CONVICT A WINNER.

The supreme court of Iowa today decided a case of the greatest importance to the state, and the result is a landmark in Iowa. The case decided in the case of Frank Davis versus Warden Hunter, from Jones county, that the "good time" earned by a prisoner cannot be revoked by the governor, even though the convict has entered into a contract to do so. It will be revoked in case of violation of a parole granted. Davis had been sentenced to a term of seventeen years for murder in the second degree. He served nine years and, counting his "good time," had yet to serve only six months in the state prison. On the expiration of his term, three days he was released on a writ of habeas corpus from the district court of Jones county. Today the supreme court upheld this decision, stating that the "good time" provided for is statutory and cannot be revoked by contract made by the governor. It has been customary for the governors to revoke the good time as well as the remainder of the unexpired term when a parole is violated, but Governor Shaw issued an order under which no attempt was made to revoke good time. Governor Cummins rescinded the order, hence the suit. It will affect every paroled prisoner and probably result in the revision of the entire law.

COURT DISPENSER AGAIN.

The supreme court filed a large number of decisions today, generally of minor importance. In Connecticut and in session, but there were no submissions of cases. The judges had a good many cases ready for announcement and met informally to file the decisions after consultation. They will not get together for consultation until the fall, but they have a large number of cases in hand on which they will work during the summer months. The members of the court will nearly all attend the State Bar association meeting at Ottumwa this week.

COURT'S DECISIONS.

The following were the decisions filed by the court today: I. J. Long, appellant, against L. A. Andrews; Carroll county, Judge Church; affirmed by Sherwin. J. P. PRESIDENT IS PREPARING HIS SPEECH

Loeb Explains Reason Why Executive Failed to Meet the Committee of Miners at Oyster Bay.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 13.—President Roosevelt and Secretary Loeb were engaged today for several hours in the transaction of official business at Sagamore Hill. A part of the time was devoted by the president to work in preparation of his speech to be delivered on July 27, when he receives his notification of the nomination. Prior to the arrival of Secretary Loeb the president spent considerable time in exercise about the grounds. A favorite exercise of the president is chopping wood and he indulges in this every day. It serves to keep down his weight and he enjoys it more than any other of his diversions except horseback riding.

CONCERNING THE VISIT TO OYSTER BAY

Yesterday of the committee representing the Central Labor unions of Lackawanna and Luzerne counties, Pennsylvania, Secretary Loeb today received the following telegram from John B. Barrett, editor of the Truth of Scranton, Pa.: "Did President Roosevelt personally refuse to see a committee of miners yesterday, as reported in the morning paper?" In response to this inquiry Secretary Loeb sent Mr. Barrett the following telegram: "Many thanks for your telegram. The committee came here and insisted on seeing the president to present a petition at a time when I could not arrange it for them. The president did not know they were here. If they had sent word they desired to see the president, I should have been glad to arrange for them at some convenient time. As it was, I offered to bring the petition to the personal attention of the president. The statement that the president had any knowledge of the committee's presence in Oyster Bay is not true." It was stated in the Associated Press dispatches yesterday concerning the visit of the committee that the president did not personally refuse to receive them.
