TURNING POINT IN CONTEST

Lawyers Are Arguing Vital Questions in Bingham-Broadwell Case.

FINE LINE OF DISTINCTION IS DRAWN

Effort of Bingham Lawyers is to Throw Out Broadwell Precinct in South Omaha and Count Florence Precinct.

Lawyer Frank S. Howell divested himself of his coat and vest before Judges Day and Sears yesterday and waded into a lengthy and vehement argument for the purpose of landing W. W. Bingham into the comfortable office chair of clerk of the district court, occupied by Frank A. Broadwell. Mr. Howell, in justification of his scant attire, cited the precedent established by Judge Ben Baker several years ago when he declared that during July and August officers of the court might with propriety appear before the bar of justice in shirt waists. "This is a shirt waist court," remarked Mr. Howell as he recalled Judge Baker's ruling.

The means by which the lawyer proposes to win the contest for Mr. Bingham are two in number; first, the throwing out of votes cast in the First precinct of the Sixth ward of South Omaha, where the Broadwell majority was 42, and the counting of the votes of Florence precinct, which Bingham carried by 40. In the county court both of these precincts were thrown out because the ballots had all been endorsed by one judge and one clerk of election, whereas the law provides that the endorsement must be by two judges.

Change in Tactics.
Since the trial of the case in the lower court, the attorneys for Mr. Bingham have been looking up facts and law, and in consequence they have changed their tactics so as to count the Bingham precinct and throw out the Broadwell balliwick, although in both precincts the ballots are endorsed by one man appointed as a judge and another man appointed as a clerk. The point of distinction made by the Bingham lawyers is that in the Broadwell precinct the clerk who endorsed the ballots really acted as a clerk while serving on the election board and cannot be regarded as a de facto judge, while the clerk who endorsed the ballots in the Bingham precinct acted only as a judge and was de facto judge. To make this distinction perfectly clear to the court Mr. Howell had before him about a hundred law books, from which he quoted copiously as he proceeded with his argument.

Mr. Broadwell's side of the controversy was presented by Smith & Smyth, who contend that the clerk in the Broadwell precinct was legally selected to take the place of one of the appointed judges who failed to appear on election day and that the clerk in the Bingham precinct was away as a judge or designated in any legal way as a judge. Mr. Smith argued for his side two hours Thursday, but Mr. Howell has already taken up twice that amount of time with his argument. The decision of the court on the questions involved in this argument will be the turning point of the long drawn out election contest.

GOSSIP OF THE CAMPAIGN

Chairman Burgess Invites Everybody to Call at Headquarters.

LOCAL DEMOCRACY SPLIT, AS USUAL

James E. Boyd is Denied Democratic gubernatorial nomination on "Gold" Platter by Delegates from His Home County.

A big canvas banner bearing the words "Headquarters Republican State Committee" was stretched across the front of the Murray hotel porch this morning. Chairman Burgess remarked that if there had been room he would have had "very body Welcome" added to the inscription. "We are right at home here," said the chairman, "and we want all the good republicans and the good democrats in the state to come in and see us. Here is where we are going to preach the doctrine of republicanism for the next few months and we don't care for any vacant pews. So far the work has not begun in earnest, but things will get in motion very soon. I expect to appoint the executive committee in a day or two."

"I have been busy since my appointment as chairman of the committee with the work of getting in touch with the county organizations and promoting my personal acquaintance with Omaha republicans. I can say that the republican party will go through this campaign with one of the best and most thorough organizations it ever had and by this means we will roll up the largest republican majority for some years."

"If James E. Boyd expects to have the democratic gubernatorial nomination handed to him on a gold platter," said a Douglas county delegate to the state convention, "he will be disappointed. Why, he can't even have the support of the solid Douglas county delegation, and if that is so, how can he expect to receive anything from out in the state. I have heard that Boyd will not be a candidate for the nomination unless Mr. Bryan will promise to support him if he lands. I should think it would be very easy for Mr. Bryan to reply to such a proposition by saying that Bryan would support Boyd just as he would support Bryan."

The sentiment among the local democrats is nearly all for fusion, but an occasional brave will say it's about time to cut out the pops. There is no doubt that any fusion program proposed at Lincoln which gives the head of the ticket to the democrats will be acceptable to the majority of the Douglas county delegation. The men most talked about for the head of the ticket are W. H. Thompson, former Congressman Shanleyberger and James E. Boyd. The "Little Giant" from Grand Island has more supporters among the Douglas county delegation than any other of the candidates, although the vote from here will be pretty well divided.

A boomlet—and just a boomlet—has been started for Ed P. Smith for the democratic nomination for governor. Some of his friends who are to sit as delegates in the convention are talking about his availability. They say he is a good, competent man and has the advantage of having swallowed every dose ever concocted by the Nebraska democracy. When Mr. Smith was asked if he would be a candidate, even a passive one, he merely answered "Nonsense."

GOLF EVENTS AT FIELD CLUB

Two Matches, Including Porter and Sherraden for Silver Cup, to Be Played.

Kemper and Cope were defeated last Saturday and dropped from the contest, which now lies between Porter and Sherraden.

ON HIKE AROUND THE WORLD

Cleveland Man Pushes Wheelbarrow Over Globe to Settle a Freak Wager.

D. V. Evans of Cleveland, O., is in the city with his wheelbarrow, which he is wheeling around the world. The novel trip was arranged to settle a controversy between the Algontha and Olympic clubs of the east. It was agreed that Evans should have nine years to complete the trip. He originally left Cleveland May 2, 1898, and was taken sick in China during August of the following year, and sent home. When he recovered he was given the choice of two itineraries to complete his journey.

He chose a route from Cleveland to Denver, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, New Mexico, New Orleans, Savannah, New York City and finishing at Cleveland. Evans now has nearly three years in which to complete the long hike. His barrow weighs twenty-five pounds and baggage about forty-five pounds. He travels about forty miles a day and stops only when it rains or when he reaches large cities.

Robt Slot Machine.
George Hoffman of Eleventh and William streets pleaded not guilty when arraigned in police court on a charge of petty larceny. It was charged that Hoffman, with several other boys, robbed a slot machine in front of the store of J. L. Brown. Young Hoffman explained to the judge that he placed four or five pennies in the machine without results, as he and his companions thought they would take the law and the machine in their own hands and get returns for their money.

Nervous Trouble— Its Cause and Cure

Nerve disorders are largely caused by Eric Acid, a poison. These poisons by thickening the blood and clogging its circulation prevent the proper nourishment of the nerve centers. This results in nerve weakness, nerve exhaustion, Neurasthenia, etc.

At other times these same poisons set the back out of the blood into the tissues and cause great irritation and pain. These deposits along the nerves may suddenly develop Neuralgia, Sciatica, Cramp, Twitchings and Jerkings, or Insomnia, Troubled Sleep, Pain in the Head, Dizziness, Ravings and Mania.

The only satisfactory remedy for relief and cure is The New Treatment by Elimino. It acts promptly by dissolving and clearing out the urate poisons that cause the trouble.

ELIMINO clears the thickened blood and is the remedy for the periods of depression. Beware of stimulants used to whip up the heart to drive the thickened blood through the vessels.

ELIMINATUM removes the irritating deposits from along the nerves and is the remedy for the times of pain and restlessness. Shun the use of Opium, Anesthetics and Narcotics that only stop pain by deadening the sensibilities.

Get the Elimino Treatment today of your druggist. Clear out these poisons and give your nerves a chance to rest and rebuild.
