I understand that local officials of the express company advised acceptance of the offer, but final acceptance rests with George J. Gould and E. H. Harriman, and when it reached these two gentlemen they returned a request to our company to make a higher bid, which we have refused to do.

The idea of our company in buying the building was to make it a first-class office building for insurance purposes, which we about $15,000 in fixing it up. We had ten- desk and read as follows: ants secured-enough to fill the entire building.

NEWSBOYS HAVE A DAY OFF Several Hundred Little Street Merchants Go to Picnic at Krug Park.

If his aquatic majesty Jupiter Pluvius thought he could beat the Omaha newsboys out of a picnic by opening his flood gates on the morning of the day set for their jublice, he reckoned without his host. Yesterday was marked down on the calendar about a month ago as the day when the newsboys would have their annual celebration at Krug park, and as there is no such word as fall in the vocabulary of a newsboy, the picule was started on schedule

As soon as the morning papers were sold the little merchants began to congregate at headquarters, where ribbons and cards were pinned on every boy by Mogy Bernstein and his staff. Then to get things started and to relieve the boys who were chafing under the seeming delay Mogy marched the crowd around to all the newspaper offices.

"Bruno" and "Rats," the two canine newsboys' mascots, were also in attendance and appeared to know by instinct that it was pionic day.

At 10:30 between 300 and 400 of the newsboys loaded themselves and their pent-up enthusiasm into special cars at Fifteenth and Farnam streets and were quickly borne away to Krug park, the freedom of which had been tendered them by Manager W. W. de. Earlier in the morning two wagonloads of buns, ham, fruits, ice cream, cakes, nuts, candies, watermelons, ples and other articles attractive to the internal economy of a newsboy were sent out to the park. charge of the commissary department and presided at the tables.

The picnickers sat at the tables at 1 o'clock and surrounded the flesh pots again at 6 in the evening. About 8 o'clock the picnic broke up so that all might be home before the curfew whistle sounded the hour

provement League on System of Prizes Instituted.

Omaha has been receiving excellent returns from the 25,000 packages of seeds given away by the Civic Improvement league. The seeds and the cash prizes have induced hundreds to enter the competition to make the various awards from among 1,000, more or less, candidates. The executive committee of the league met yesterday and appointed a subcommittee to call on the business men of Omaha in order to secure fiscal assistance and also additional membership in the league,

The work of examining the lawns will be laborious and vehicle and automobile transportation will be gratefully accepted by the committee on awards. In a word the move ment has exceeded greatly all expectations.

The suit is the outgrowth of the trade which it appears was not consummated, although Attorney Dundey, for the plaintiffs, filed the bill of sale this morning with Gordon's name attached. It is said that Gordon, after having proposed to trade the property and business of the Expressmen's Delivery company for the ranch, thought better of it and never made the trade, refusing to give the plaintiffs;

The trade is alleged by the plaintiffs to have been consummated March 19, to beome effective April 10. They therefore demand the net proceeds of the Omaha business since that date, which, the complaint alleges, amounts to from $75 to $100 a day. The suit involves property to the value of several thousand dollars. Mr. Gordon said with reference to

"This suit is unjustifiable, for this des never was consummated, since the cor tract was only partially signed."
