which may be taken regarding the seisure of the British ship Ardova by the Russian volunteer fleet ateamer Smolenak is a mate ter for the British government. It is not a matter which in the least concerns the United States. This is the view taken in official circles here. However, the decision of the Russian government to withdraw the authority given to the volunteer feet to make searches and satures simplifies the situation very materially. Presumably in view of the attitude of the Russian government the Ardova will be relassed promptly, the seinure disavowed and the incident will be closed without delay. There are no shipments of stores or other supplies made by the army or the
