

OMAHA SHUTS OUT ST. JOE

Home Team Wallops Hodson, While the Visitor Cannot Get Quick.

JOE DOLAN GETS IN THAT HOME RUN

Empire Mallette Again Takes Seven Runs Part in Proceedings, Leading Two of Chamberlain's Men off the Field.

De tell! Omaha, 10; St. Joseph, 0.

That is what happened yesterday afternoon on the Vinton street pasture, where Pa's young men burned up nearly every vestige of green on the lot, running around the bases. They touched up Hodson for fourteen safe hits, five sacrifices and four walked to first without a protest. Dolan walked around the bases in the second inning and scored a home run trying to find what Dolan struck at—touched the home plate and blushed when the crowd called his name and told him he was a good boy. From this time on it nearly gave the visitors the lockjaw as they watched, with open-mouthed wonderment, the movements of the Bourke children.

The good book shows that every one of the Omaha team scored one or more hits; that Howard and Thomas got three apiece.

Thiel, the new leftfielder from Des Moines, for whom Pa swapped "Dusty" Miller, made a fine showing. He caught McBride's, Garvin's and Lemotte's long-range flys in excellent style, two of the three being hazardous. In the fourth he made a three-base hit, advanced Quick in the eighth on a sacrifice and in the second out on an encouraging rightfield fly, but LeCompte was on the ground in good season.

Omaha's last inning was like a lot of happy Sunday school boys at a picnic. Seven Rangers had scored. Hodson in this inning, three made safe hits, one a sacrifice, one walked to first, while two struck out and three brought in runs. Quick started the last act by being shipped to first on a free ticket, then Thiel sacrificed. Quick was next seen, chewing his cud on second, Carter struck out, Howard then made a hit and Quick could see on third after the dust had settled. This made the men on base. When came to the plate, Carter sent out a three-base hit and Quick and Howard came home with alacrity and two runs.

Dolan shot out a double and Welch scored the third run of the inning. Then Thomas struck out and Dolan was left owing on second base. And ended it.

Umpire Kelley again was a very strenuous person. He was constantly wrangling from the first to ninth inning, not only with St. Joe players between himself and whom there seems to be a special antagonism, but would stand in the middle of the diamond, like a pugnacious schoolboy and jut with fans in the bleachers and grandstand. The excitement of the game, while accentuated by Mr. Kelley's participation, certainly would have been fully as enjoyable without so much talk. Kelley was badly off on many decisions.

In the fourth inning Kelley sent Schellbeck to the bench and Diboll was sent out to cover third. And in the seventh inning Hartman was relieved in centerfield and Maupin succeeded.

Could Not Hit Quick.

But, as pugnacious and belligerent as Mr. Kelley might have been, St. Joe could by no stretch of the imagination have attributed its defeat to the "umpire." The Missourians were defeated simply because they were outplayed-outplayed at every turn of the road. In the first place they could scarcely see Quick's benders, let alone hit them. They were completely at the blonde young man's mercy and two little scratch hits were all they could muster up. Quick and his men out of the field and walked out two miles before the game was over.

On the other hand, Omaha simply pointed Hodson all over the lot, hitting the ball at will. Hodson made several strenuous efforts to stem the tide, but it was no use. The home team had the hotting clothes on and as Hodson was led with Omaha he was treated to a first-class walloping.

Neither pitcher could complain of the support he got. True, Omaha's error column shows five misses, but they don't signify much. As a matter of fact, most of them came on desperate chances and didn't count for anything. With St. Joe sending one and two men to bases several times and making the most desperate efforts to reach the plate, it was up to every man to take chances and no one shirked.

Hodson was given the glad-hand and deserved it for he displayed himself brilliantly in leftfield.

Today is women's day and the teams close the series, of which Omaha has taken

How to Get Health

The Secret of Restoring Freshness to the Body That Have Become Impoverished or Wasted

By disease, overwork, worry, exposure or abuse. When you are run down, getting thin, weak and tire on the slightest exertion, the life and strength of your blood are wearing out. When you grow irritable, melancholy and nervous your nerve force is decaying and vitality is becoming low. Disease acts on those whose blood is wasted, impoverished or impure, and never affects persons who have plenty of rich and pure blood. Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food supplies what is lacking in the blood and nerve force. It contains everything that makes new and rich blood and perfect nerves, in fact, it is blood itself—the very essence of nerve force, making it the greatest of all tonics for the sick, convalescent and overworked. It restores vim, vigor and vitality to aged and worn out people, and imparts a glow of health to pale and failing people. Price 50 cents.
