Reason and Local People Still Hope to Brenk the Diserimination.

.he wlight hope advanced for a decrease in the Omaha coal rates by the Northwestern's new tariff, which quotes a rate of IL16 per ton from Iowa points to Lincoln on slack, it seems, will have to be abandoned. Word has been received at local Northwestern headquarters that the new tariff issued by that line to apply from lowa points to Omaha would remain in effect and the rates to Lincoln would be raised to correspond with the tariffs issued by other lines at once. This will make the Lincoln rate from points on the Northwestern in Iowa $1.00 per ton on slack,

Local cost dealers say the new tariff quoting a rate of $1.16 to Lincoln will have to remain in effect until August 25, as the Interstate Commerce commission will not allow its withdrawal until that date under the provision of the interstate commercial law, which provides that ten days' notice must be given before a rate can be ad- buying hats for the spring season.

Not only has the intention of the Northwestern to advance the Lincoln rates been announced by that line, but other railroads converging in the city have received notice from Chicago that a promise has been secured from Morthwestern officials that the new tariff will be forthcoming at once. The message received at Northwestern headquarters states that the rate of $1.30 would have been made effective to Lincoln in the tariffs already issued but for an oversight in making up the schedule. Deeper Reason than That.

The coal men say there is a deeper reason than this for making the rates lower than those agreed upon, for the reason that not only was the Lincoln rate left 15 cents lower than that quoted by other lines, but the rates to surrounding towns lower than they should be under the agree-

Omaha who have been taking a lively interest in the matter have a card up their sleeves which has not yet been played, and the rumor has it that the publication of the Lincoln tariff is a part of the plan agreed upon between the Northwestern and the members of the Commercial club in this city who are carrying on the fight. It to probable the plans will be made public after the meeting of the executive committee of the Commercial club this afternoon which has been called to discuss the hatter of coal rates. If the Northwestern is playing into the hands of the Omaha sumers instead of staying with its competitors in the rate agreement the competitors have evidently not yet found out which have agreed to advance and maintain the rates.

The latest incident in the war between the Barber Asphalt company and the Warren Bitulithic company that has prevented new paying of any kind is Omaha during the last two years is the announcement that the Barber company's general office for the district of lows and Nebraska will be removed to Des Moines August 15, Nothing will be retained in Omaha except a small room, where business may be transacted once in a while. It is a time-honored custom with the police department to arrest a man intact when an arrest is made. Whether he be in the garb of citisen or soldler, full dress or overalls, an affort always is made to protect the individual's property rights as far as possible. This is not always possible as was evidenced Monday svening in the case of Fred Moriarry, arrested on the charge of being drunk. When Moriarty and his bibulous troubles were gathered in by Officer, Murphy the stranger was sans hat and address. He was registered by Desk Sergeant Havey as "Fred Moriarty. No hat nor address." As Captain Haze was going to supper he found a hat at Eleventh and Doughas streets. The headgear proved to be Moriarty, but the police were unable to find the man's address.
