MUST BE STOPPED OR MILITIA COMES

Jolice Have Been Unable to Secure Trace of Sims, Who Stabbed and Killed Hanson in Gamb-Hing Row,

"This is the last time I propose to be hooted and jeered at by a crowd of strikers. In case the performance which has been going on at quitting time for several evenings is not stopped at once I shall declare to the governor that I am through and he can do what he considers best about sending the militia."

Sheriff Power delivered himself of these remarks while at the city jall last evening. The sheriff and Chief Briggs and Captain Shields had just returned from a trip along Q street and had gone through the ordeal of being hooted, hissed and jeered at by hundreds of strikers.

Continuing, the sheriff said: "I have told Stephen Vall that such disorder morning and evening would have to stop or else I ould be compelled to report to Governor Mickey my inability to preserve order among the strikers. Ed. P. Smith was lown from Omaha for the purpose of witessing the usual evening maneuvers, but vas compelled to return to Omaha before the nonunion men commenced to leave the packing houses. Mr. Smith is one of the attorneys for the strikers and he stated to me that if there was any disturbance of the kind I had reported to him he would at once withdraw as attorney for the unions and have nothing more to do toward defending the strikers in the courts. "I have tried my best to be fair with the strikers and fair with everybody, for that matter, but I will not telerate being hooted and jeered at the way I am. I do not like the way my deputies are treated, either. You may make it as public as you can, that if this thing occurs tonight I am through and it will then be up to the gov-

Give Deputies a Chase, One of the bypiays on Q street last night was the kicking down the street of a dummy made up to represent a man-Sheriff, deputies, police, regular and special, were led to believe that an assault was being committed and a run down the hill was made after the howling, hooting crowd of strikers. At the west end of the viaduct the crowd left the dummy and scattered, not, however, before giving the sheriff and the police a hiss and a jeer,

Ever since the strike started labor leaders, from President Donnelly down to the stewards, have cautioned the union men to keep off the streets as much as possible and to avoid congregating and causing any disturbance. For a time the leaders seemed to have excellent control over the men, but ithin the last few days these orders of the eaders have been disregarded to some ex-

No Drinking in Packing Houses. Cambling and drinking in the packing houses must be stopped, say the police last evening Chairman Masson of the board said; "We propose to put a stop to drinking and gambling in the packing plants. It must be done. The packers have no more right to permit gambling in their plants than has any one else. Had there been no drinking or gambling it is more than likely that Andrew Hanson would not have been murdered Thursday night. We propose to stop gambling in the pushting houses if we have to send an officer through the plants several times during the night. If the special officers at the packing houses cannot atop gambling inside the plants we will put ad no officers there who will. We mean just what we say." Packing house superintendents and watchmen assert that it is a difficult matter to keep the men from gambling. Just as soon as a game is broken up three or four men get off by themselves and start another, and when this is broken up the number of times to break up gambling among the nonunion men, but so far have been unable to do so. Coroner Brailey visited South Omaha Friday afternoon and set 2 o'clock this afternoon as the time for holding the inquest over the remains of Andrew Hanson. Very likely the inquest will be held in the police courtroom. Besides the four witnesses in fail now the police expect to gather in several more today. Drs. Curtis and Davis performed an autopsy on the remains of Hanson Friday afternoon and will testify before the coro ner's jury this afternoon.

is about 3,000. E. A. Cudahy left for Chicago last night and this is taken to mean in some circles that a settlement of some kind is in sight. The strikers still appear confident that the packers cannot get along without them much longer and that when a settlement is made it will be the acceptance by the packers of all of the demands of the allied trades and the Amalgamated association.

The police spent a large portion of Friday in searching for Sims, alias Shepherd, who is wanted for the killing of Hanson. No trace of the negro was found, although the police had a clew at one time which showed prospects. After the coroner's inquest today it is the intention of Chief Briggs to send out circulars giving a description of Sims. He expects that the county commissioners will offer a rewar-

Affair is Under the Auspices of St. John's Lodge, of Which He Was Worshipful Muster for Two Years.

Despite the oppressive heat, several hunfarewell reception given to Charles S. Lobingier by St. John's lodge of the Maonle order in Masonic temple last night. Mr. Lobingier, who wass master of the lodge in 1900 and 1903, will leave with his principles more feariessly than our honwife next week for the Philippine islands, where he has been appointed judge of the court of first instance. The reception was a well arranged and ardent tribute to the esteem in which Mr. Lobingier and his wife are held. He was presented with the grand master's jewel by S. A. Searle on behalf of the lodge. The reception was partly formal and the emainder informal, the former consisting of addresses by Judge J. B. Barnes of the supreme court, Judge E. M. Bartlett of the district court and Edward Rosewater, and musical numbers, Miss Pearl Moore and Mr. Clinton B. Stuht contributing vocal solos and Miss Emily Cleve playing several numbers on the violin. The hall was decorated with a large American flag and potted palms. Carnations were presented to the guests.

After the presentation of the master's jewel and a feeling response by Mr. Lobingler the formalities were dropped and efreshments served.

Albert P. Johnson, worshipful master, resided, stating in his opening remarks that a telephone message had been received from W. J. Bryan saying that he regretted he could not be present. Grand Master Charles E. Burnham also was forced to send regrets, accompanied by good wishes.

Judge Barnes' Address.

"The Masonic order is the oldest and best rder in the world," said Judge Barnes. "It as lodges in every civilized and semicivilized country and numbers millions among its members. In every community its members are of high moral character, justly famed for their public apirit. Of such a body of men our guest this evening is an honored member. He is loved, revered and esteemed by the whole member

"I was intimately associated with him or the supreme court commission. He is a man well learned in the law and is paricularly well fitted to perform the duties of the high place to which he has been called. He has a natural judicial turn of mind, which has been added to by much care and study. His service on the supreme court commission was such that redounds great credit to this commonwealth. He will return to us, however, a better man, a better Mason and a better jurist than when he left, for it is his nature to progress." Judge Bartlett spoke to the subject, "The Mason and Scholar." The topic, "Mason and Citizen," was given to Mr. Rosewater. "You are not only honoring a man who has taken high rank in Masonry," said he, "but a man who stands high as a citizen, and I am sure that a citizen who ranks high in the confidence, and respect of his fellow citizens will at ways be a good Mr. Bellow citizens will at Several Hundred Gather to Say God Speed ways be a good Mason. It is an axiom that vice versa. There is much similarity be tween the primal qualifications of a Mason and a citizen. Good citizenship goes hand in hand with the principles of Masonry."

Mr. Rosewater here read a number of the precepts of Masonry to illustrate his point Continuing, he said: "There could be nothdred men and women were present at the ing said in the English language or any other language that appeals more to patriotism and love of country and the highest and noblest things of citizenship.
