

PA TAKES ONE MORE GAME

Feats Sluoz, Making Ten Victories Out of Last Eleven Contests.

PFISTER TOO MUCH FOR TAILENDERS

Holds Them Down to Four Hits, While Howard and Rest of Omaha Make Eleven Safe Ones.

Easy Money!

Playing base ball with Uncle Fleming's proteges from Sioux City is the best get-rich-quick scheme that Pa's children have yet stumbled across—except, of course, that Colorado Springs snap. Whether it be on the lawn up at Sioux City or on the green sward at Vinton street, it matters not to the happy boys who look to Pa Houck for their spending money. They can rely on Sluoz to scalp anybody and any time. Just let Mister-r-Kelley say "play ball" and there you are. And judging by that "genial" umpire's conduct yesterday it is evident he has switched breakfast foods, much to the delight of the fans and others. Only once yesterday afternoon did Kelley have to look cross and that was but for a fleeting moment. The look chased across his face like a little cloud on an otherwise clear sky. It was impressive.

Brothers Pfeister and Goding let the Sluoz down yesterday afternoon, otherwise the news might have killed dad. The facts of the case are that the memories of the victories won at Sioux City were not fresh in the minds of the Rainers, who do not believe in overdoing a good thing. They just kept Chief Fleming and his band of braves far enough in the rear to make it look good and once in a while let out a little string just for old time's sake. That's what they did. The score book shows it.

The local beauties made eleven hits, two of them being of the kind that permitted Howard to run all the way to third base without any of the up-plyer players getting near him. Pfeister plucked a double out of the eleven. In the third inning Howard's excursion flyer brought Thiel and Carter in two to two to the good. Thiel had previously ridden to first on a pass, while Carter seemed his passage with a hit. Harry Welch then came to bat and every one said he would make a hit and he did, and Howard came in from third. This made three runs and only one out. Pfeister, the first man up, having a rick out, Welch was now on first and Brown to bat. Brown made another hit and Welch hit to second. Then Thomas walked, which made three men on bases, three runs and one out, all in that inning. Schlippe came to bat, sent out an immature infield fly and went down on a double play with Thomas. And this ended the third act.

Thiel Starts 'Em Up. In the lucky seventh inning Thiel again started the wheel of fortune with a hit. Carter followed with what he intended to be a long range hit, but just as he knocked the ball he thought of a letter he had in his pocket and which he forgot to mail to his wife, so he only sent out one of those two-for-a-cent kind that put Thiel out on a fielder's choice. Howard, however, was next to bat, which means that everyone gets bony, except the catcher. The catcher was to watch Howard. Howard made nine second three-base hit to the brewery sign and Carter scored. Welch and Brown then went out and left Howard on third base looking at the brewery sign.

Thiel made a run and a sacrifice. Hutchinson in the ninth that will be talked of a hundred years from now and Schlippe made several rapid fire assists that caused people in the seats to say "Good Knoben Fritz."

Four hits and a sacrifice were the best the Sluoz braves could do with Jack Pfeister. The visitors played a neat, clean game of ball and are a gentral lot of fellows, and Pa's family is always glad to have them come down and play in its back yard and while down in the rain barrel if they wish. After walking to first in the third, Colonel Premer finally scored when Fleming made a three-base liner. But, didn't Fleming go around those bases in a cloud of dust and light on third base a man going to a barbecue and an hour later it was the prettiest run of the day. It was led by Howard and all the women and girls clapped their little hands and said: "Gracious goodness, see that man run!"

That was the inning in which they met their first score. The other was made in the fourth when Messery got to first by virtue of an error by Pfeister. Messery scored when Graves made a three-base hit. Thomas put Hutchinson out this inning by running three miles after a fourth try and catching the ball while under a full head of steam. In the fifth inning Jarrett, Lawlor and Fleming struck out in one, two, three order.

Of the last eleven games played Omaha has won ten.
