Rangers Play Team Ball and Though Outbatted by the Visitors Have No Difficulty in Winming.

The little boy, minus iwo of his front row of teeth and plus a mother's cut of hair, sitting on the center field fence, had the right hunch Tuesday afternoon when he prognosticated the result of yesterday afternoon's game of base ball played on the Vinton Street pasture between the Bloux and Rangers. With that indefinable juvenile instinct he read the handwriting on the wall, the advertisements on the fence and could see that Pa's regiment would show the Bioux City salamanders what it means to have and to hold a good thing.

It was alone worth the price of admisalon in the eighth inning to see the little fellow sit up and notice men and affairs when Howard came to bat after Carter had made a safe hit. The score already was 2 to 1 for the locals and with Carter on first and no outs and Howard standing to bat the crowd cheered as Howard stretched out his strong right arm for one of Mr. Lindeman's choice benders. Howard made a fine hit between center and right near the base line, and the boy field. yelled to his mother, who was hanging out clothes a block away, to come and see the fine doings. Howard got to first all night and while Lindeman and Curley were pulling straws to see who would field the Ball Carter went all the way to home with an earned run. Then Lindeman made his second fals step of the game by throwing wild to Mes serly to catch Howard off the base, bu the ball went wild and Howard got i third and the ball went into the hands of a corpse in the right bleachor and be came blocked. Howard did not notice that the ball was temporarily a dead one until some one called to Ump Kelly and aske why Howard did not take what was com ing to him. Kelly said "I am not coachin the game." The boy said, "De ball dead, Howard; youse kin walk in and dray yer rations." And thus Howard scored and great wa

Snappy on Both Sides. Yesterday's game was a snappy affair on both sides and a striking contrast to the batting-fest of the day before. Lindeman kept the home boys down to five hits, which, however, were timely and of such a character as to yield large dividends.

Quick struck out seven of the Fleming air fanners, while the best that Lindeman could do in this line was two. One ticket of leave to first was insued by each pitcher.

Carter made a double play in the sixth that will be read of when other great en have been forgotten. Curley sent a heap big fly over to the right field fonce and Nick doubled up against the boards, caught the ball and then sent it to Thomas to get Lawler out. Lawler had run all way to third, evidently thinking Curley Had sent the ball down somewhere to the distillery. Lawlor made a cyclonic catch off Schipke in the fourth inning. The genial Sloux left fielder was handed soveral conversational bouquets when he made his running catch. Messerly was the lone star for the visitors, making a hit and then the only score for his team, and that an carned run.

Six horses were sent away and Maher won from the favorite at the post by a clever dash when his chance seemed hopeless. Maher's mount was R. Sherwood's fility, by Wolfs Craig. The betting was 5 to 1 on the fility. Maher also won the Great North-ern Leger of $2,500, on Lord Almscliffe, which was the favorite.
