Contractors on School Buildings Urged to Hurry Up Work.

PROGRESS ON THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Probability that the New Building Will Not Be Ready dor the Uses. of School Board Before January.

Since the date for the opening of the public schools has been set for September 1, histead of September 6, the contractors who are painting and papering the inin the Hawthorne, Lincoln and Madison are now receiving the attention of painters pact of having some attention paid to and paperhangers. It is expected that all their petitions now by the council. by the time school opens. The steam boilers in the school houses are to be given a general overhauling, and the first supply of coni will be laid in before September 1.

these rooms would be made ready for use that they attended. in September. Contractor McDonald will go ahead with the portion of the building he is now working on and get the ground floor rooms ready as soon as possible. Nearly all of the tiling on the south half of the roof of the building has been laid and the roof of the auditorium is now being tiled. In addition to telephones in every room in this new building, there will be a system of electric clocks, regulated from a master clock in the office of the prin-

So far $22,765 has been drawn of the $160-000 voted for the construction of a high school building. This amount shows only what has been paid out. There is no record on the treasurer's books of the amount of material, sopplies, etc., already contracted for, but the statement is made that if the building is completed on the designs it will take every cent of the voted and possibly more. Those avergant with construction work declare that the new building cannot be completed and roady for occupancy before January 1.

The new electric street light contract orinance was published for the first time ast night in the official paper of the city. Under this ordinance the contract runs for five years and the city is to pay $94.50 per annum each for not less than 140 street lights. Incandescent lights in the city hall building and the jail are paid for at the old rate of 50 cents a month for each light. Mayor Koutsky and the members of the council seem to think that they have acted wisely in entering into this new contract at a reduction from the old teriors of some of the school houses have contract rate. from London. Brigadier and Mrs. Cousins and Ensign Voorus, delegates to the great Salvation Army gathering recently held in London were given a cordial welcome at the Army headquarters last night. Previous to the reception all three of the delegates had joined in the open air service of the local Among the visiting officers were! Cap tain Christier of Atlantic, Ia., Ensign Swanson of Sloux City, Ensign Erb of Lake City, Ia., Lieutenant Northroup of Lincoln, Captain Barrett of Beatrice and

Major and Mrs. Merriweather, general secretaries for Iowa and Nebraska. Major Merriweather extended a cordial welcome to the returning delegates and assured them that, during their absence the Omaha corps had been faithful.

Mrs. Cousins and Ensign Voorus wore campaign hath, with red ribbons, red louses and American flags at their left shoulders, this being the uniform adopted by the women delegates to the London convocation of the army. They also introduced a number of the new songs that were used there by the colored soldlers. A few repetitions made them popular with the audience and the chorus grew in volume with repetition. The three delegates told of their trip cross the ocean, of the wonderful series of meetings that were held in Crystal Palace, London, the grand band of 3,000 instruments, and the great meetings that were attended by 70,000 people daily. They expressed satisfaction at again meeting their Omaha friends and the greetings were affectionately reciprocated. After a short time the visiting officers were called upon for songs and remarks

AT THE PLAYHOUSES

"Divorce" at the Boyd. An audience that filled the Boyd theater to its limit was out last night to listen to the first performance of "Divorce" by the Woodward Stock company. It was well repaid for the effort of attending, for the fine old play was presented in excellent manner and each of the company worked hard to make the piece go. "Divorce" tells a most interesting story and points a moral that never gets old, its leason being applicable at all times. The company is very well adapted to the reequipped with scenery for its production. This produces an even performance and the applause that was heard last night was ontaneous and merited. The piece will remain on until after Saturday night, with a matines on Saturday afternoon.

"For Her Sake" at the Krug.

This latest of the "sake" plays is a variant of the same old theme, setting the stages with Russian scenery, costuming the characters in Russian garb and filling the bill of the play with Russian cognomens. But the words are English and action is of the sort that has long been familiar-that in which a nobleman loves a peasant girl and she loves him and all the powers of the secret police, the army, a doting mother and a rival who will stop at nothing are of no avail to separate The effort seems to succeed right up to the last minute, but love eventually triumphs. Every act ends with a situation that brings the rapturous curtain call from "upstairs." The company is well adapted for the play and puts much genuine thuslasm into its performance. The bill will remain until after Saturday night, with the usual matince on Saturday.
