More Cotton Mills Idle.

Instead of increased activity with the proximity of abundant raw material, the manufactured cotton goods has experienced a further cartaliment. Revival of speculation and higher prices for raw cattom are responsible. It is difficult to locate the exact extent of advance except on export trade, because so little domestic business has occurred.

Reductions in prices of standard bleached goods had the desired effect of clearing up stocks. Activity has continued in jobbing circles, owing to the presence of numerous out of town retail buyers, but this lusiness has had no appreciable effect on the primary market. In the other prominent textile industry the mills are fairly active.

Reces.

Reces.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Manawa covered itself with much and plenty of glory this morning by beating the Oshkosh, ir. In the last race in the inland Lake tacnting association races. There was a light, southeast breeze blowing. The course was two miles dead before the wind, and then a beat back home twice around the course. There was very little choice as to windward berth on the start. The boats hung well together on the run, the Manawa rounding third. On the beat home the Manawa. Kewaydin and Ookkosh, ir, took a long beat to the south, while the other boats went towards the other shore. They gained by it and all these beat the rest to the home stake. The Oshkosh, ir, rounding far in the lead, the Manawa third. On the hext run before the wind the Manawa quickly overhauled the Kewaydin, and gradually crawled up on the Oshkosh, ir, rounding the buoy close behind it, with the Wanderer coming up in the rear. Neither of these two boats paid any attention to the Wanderer as it had the first prize and could not be beaten out of it. It was simply a fight for the second prize between the Oshkosh, ir, and the Manawa. They were tied with 1875 points cach. The Oshkosh, ir, got a listle the beet of it at the start of the home beat, but they stayed very cices together. Suddenly the Manawa awa came about on the port tack, while the Oshkosh, ir, stail on the starthoard. The Manawa got a better slant of the wind and when it came about again it had the Oshkosh, ir, stail on the starthoard. The Manawa got a better slant of the wind and when it came about again it had the Oshkosh, ir, stail on the starthoard. Manager Rourke's bonny bunch of base hall players marched home from the front syssierial evening, and pitched their tents on the Vinten street rendezveus for a three days' engagement with the Problibitionists, beginning this afternoon. When questioned regarding the fray with the Mountaineers, Pa said he had no regrets to report, as the boys won four out of the fine games played, which was fairly well for a mountain attack. Pa, who replied:

"Well, we had a nice trip and the crowds were unusually large for week-day patronage. That was our last trip to the mountains this season. We now play the Des Moines team here for three days and then accompany them for three games at the Iowa capital. For two days we will be in Sioux City tearing up the sod and then we will bring the Sioux home with us for seven games in five days, opening here a week from next Sunday, playing a double-header, for the one admission on Labor Day, and another double-header inter in the week."

While the Omaha players are not talking for publication on the subject, it is gathered from some of their quasi-public remarks that Umpire Kelly's name is associated with Thursday's defeat. Some of the boys have little ones at home, and do not wish to make themselves liable to less majeste by telling all they think of some of Kelly's decisions on Thursday afternoon. Next Monday will be ladies' day at the Vinton street park. GERMANTOWN, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—The local team went to Seward yesterday and crossed bats with the Beaver Crossing team at the county fair. Beaver Crossing had a hired battery, Duffer and Weigardt. The feature of the game was the hard hitting of Germantows, batting Duffer, the anti-league pitcher, out of the box.
