ISSUES OF COMING PRIMARY

Information Useful to Republicans Who Want Party Success.

WHAT THE CANDIDACY OF GURLEY MEANS

Address Delivered by Edward Rosewater Before the Fifth Ward Republican Club Last Week.

Following is the report from stenographic notes of the speech by Edward Rosewater of The Bee at the meeting of the Fifth Ward Republican club last Thursday in its hall at Sixteenth and Corby streets: Mr. Chairman and Fellow Republicans:

and Roosevelt. Any amount could have been won the day before election, or even the day after election, from democrats who were willing to stake their money that Bryan's majority in Nebraska would range from 6,000 to 10,000.

Bright Prospects Ahead. The bright prospects before us are largely due to the factional discontent prevailing in the democratic camp. This is especially true of Nebraska. The populist party no longer exists as a national organization.

We are now confronted with a local campaign that should command our earnest attention. Our endeavor should be to place only candidates in the field who will command the support of all the elements within the party.

Some Political History. In order that I may be clearly understood I shall go over the ground and show the reasons why I have formerly opposed him when he was a candidate for office, and why I cannot promise to support him now if he should be a candidate for office.

Reasons for Opposing Gurley. The loss the city has incurred by failure to secure the right to tax railroad property the same as all other classes for municipal purposes, in spite of the fact that most of these properties had been donated to them, and protected at the expense of other property owners, cannot be computed.

MAKE NO MISTAKE. The Bee, November 4, 1893. All law-abiding citizens, and more especially taxpayers, are vitally interested in the selection of an honest and competent county attorney.

most severe blow Omaha had ever experienced. The loss entailed can scarcely be estimated. We were compelled to pay $400,000 for park lands miles out of the city that could not today be sold for half of their cost.

Why did I oppose Mr. Gurley for election as county attorney? Simply for the reasons tersely expressed in the following editorial that appeared in The Bee three days before the election.

Gurley and the Legislature. A few months after the session of the historic legislature to which I have just made reference, the United States Pacific railroad commission came to Omaha to take testimony.

Q. How often? A. I was there about every session. Q. What were your duties there? A. I went down there with Mr. Thurston, assisting him.

Q. Did that assistance extend to detecting the crimes that were committed against the Union Pacific? A. Yes, sir. Q. What then? A. Looking after the interests of the company there.

Frank Hanlon's Testimony. In contrast with Mr. Gurley's evasive testimony was the testimony of some of his colleagues of the lobby. For example, Frank Hanlon, who had been a detective on the Union Pacific up to that time, testified as follows:

Q. Were they verbal? A. Yes, sir. Q. How were you paid? A. By the Union Pacific company.

Q. Did you entertain members of the legislature at Lincoln? A. Yes, sir. Q. How did you entertain them? A. I do not remember now.

Q. How many passes have you issued in one session? A. I could not say, I am sure, how many. Q. Fifty? A. Yes, sir. Q. One hundred? A. No, sir. I do not think I ever issued five hundred.

He was another of the professional lobbyists down there. He was a democrat, however. That did not interfere with him in the least.

Q. What is the name of the lobbyist? A. Almost anything that you can think of to influence men to go the way you want them to, or, in other words, to enlighten members of the legislature, and I assure you that modern legislators need enlightenment.

Gurley and the U. S. Attorneyship. My opposition to William F. Gurley for the position of United States attorney was based on the same grounds that prompted me to oppose him for the position of county attorney. I had remonstrated against the appointment of William S. Summers, in fact had demanded his removal because he had been in close touch with Joseph Bartley, the treasurer-embesearer, and his particular cronies and beneficiaries, and because he had for a long time thwarted my effort to break up the ring of Indian land lease speculators who had plundered
