Fairbanks talks in Kansas. Vice Presidential Candidate Addresses Voters at Meeting in Marion.

Republican Campaign Is Inaugurated at Home of Candidate for Governor and Large Crowd is Present.

Marion, Kan., Sept. 1.—The republican campaign which was inaugurated here today with speeches by United States Senator Chester L. Long, Edward W. Hoch, the republican candidate for governor, and Senator Fairbanks, the vice presidential nominee.

There was a large attendance at the public meeting, and the town was gaily decorated. There were loud cheers as Senator Fairbanks alighted from his train, which arrived at noon from Topeka, and they were repeated many times along the line of march to the hall where the meeting was held.

Senator Fairbanks' speech was devoted almost exclusively to the presentation of the gold standard, but before entering upon these subjects he made reference to subjects of local interest.
