JAP GIVES VIEW OF ORIENT

Subject of Mikado's Speech of Victory and Doom of Russia.

FORETEL'S EVENTS AS THEY TRANSPIRE

Days Japan Will Meditate Now that it Has Crushed—Predicts Revolution in Bear Kingdom.

Mr. Takimori, a subject of the mikado who is visiting in the city, has received a letter from Tokio which gives some news of the war. The letter was received several days ago and when seen upon his arrival here Mr. Takimori predicted the very events which are now convulsing the far east. Mr. Takimori based his conclusions on his personal knowledge of the situation and the method of the Jap generals, coupled with the facts set forth in the letter, which emphasized the reports published in the daily papers, of which he is a close reader. Mr. Takimori is in business in Denver and has been in this country many years. Mr. Takimori is familiar with the character of the country in which the Japanese and Russian armies are struggling and he says that while the plans of the Japanese are hidden from the public it is in general well understood by the Japanese that in a general way the intention and the efforts have been to strike simultaneously two points at once. Some of these plans have miscarried at times, but this has been the result of unforeseen circumstances. The letter says details from the front are meager, owing to the censorship which prevails in the far east. News from Port Arthur is flashed to the Poo by wireless telegraphy and from that point is sent to Mukden and Liao Yang. Chinese junkies also are bringing news from the beleaguered city, but this is generally regarded as unreliable.

A Week at the World's Fair for $21.00

In a Splendid Hotel Right Inside the Grounds—No Carfare—No Extra Reservations Accepted Now.

The owners of slender pocketbooks can stop all worrying over unknown costs and expenditures in seeing the big exposition at St. Louis. The Inside Inn, the enormous hotel built under the supervision of the World's Fair management right inside the grounds, is making special seven-day contracts on the American plan for $21.00. This will cover lodging and three meals and daily admission to the grounds after the visitor has become a registered guest. By taking advantage of this very liberal offer prospective visitors can figure exactly what their expenses will be before they leave home, merely adding transportation and personal incidentals. The Inside Inn is a new departure in World's Fair accommodations. It is three stories high, 400 feet wide, 300 feet long, has 2,567 bedrooms and a dining hall with a seating capacity of 2,500. Fire-proofing material has been used throughout and most extraordinary and elaborate precautions have been taken against fire. It is situated on both the European and American plans, under the personal supervision and management of Mr. E. M. Statter, the well known restaurateur of Buffalo, which fact alone guarantees the high quality of the cuisine and service. Rates range from $1.50 to $2.50 per day European and $2.00 to $7.00 American plan, including admission in both classes. The comfort and convenience of this resting right within the grounds and the doing away with all wearisome journeys to and fro each night and morning will be obvious to all. Interested visitors should write at once for interesting booklet giving full details. Address: The Inside Inn, Administration Bldg., World's Fair Grounds, St. Louis, Mo.

Mule and Horse Flesh

The letter states reports brought from various sources are to the effect that horse and mule flesh is about the only meat that can be secured in the city. Of the plans of the Japanese generally little is known except that they are taking no risks, but the sentiment is that Japan never will give up the war so long as it can get men to carry arms. Japan is determined to get back the port from which it feels it was unjustly deprived through the machinations of Russia after the war with China. Speaking from what he knows of the temper of the Japanese and the situation as it appears to him from letters he has received and from what he has read of the situation, he thinks Port Arthur can hold out but a few days. He says: "Port Arthur has neither provisions, ammunition nor the men necessary to keep up the struggle, and there is no way that the Russians can get help of any kind into the city. The final attack upon Port Arthur and upon Kourpatkin's army will be simultaneous. I am satisfied that this is the intention. With Liao Yang, Mukden and Port Arthur out of the way, the Japanese will hold the rest of the entire situation, and Russia may prolong the war, but it can move no fresh troops into the field in winter, owing to the heavy snows. Victory by Japan will emphasize the peace of Corea."

"Yellow Peril" Simple Politics

"The 'yellow peril,' of which so much has been printed, is a political cry. It was the fear of a Muscovite peril which threatened the peace and integrity of China that forced Japan into the war. America understands this. It was a cry raised to turn public sentiment against the Japanese. It is to maintain Manchuria's commercial and political independence that Japan is fighting. Japan and China never can mix, but the political and commercial independence of the country could be blotted out and would eventually have been obliterated if Japan had not thrown itself into the breach. "Russia feels that it is almost certain to face revolution if it is defeated. It is impossible for Russia to press the Finlanders into the struggle. They refuse to take up arms against the nation in which their sympathies lie. Even the Russians themselves are in no sympathy with the war. The war presents the spectacle of two opposing forces fighting from diametrically different positions—one, standing on principle and the other on obligation. Mr. Takimori made the very important statement that sentiment is growing in Japan in favor of mediation. He believes that Russia understands its condition now and appreciates the utter hopelessness of the continuation of a struggle that has cost immense treasure on both sides, besides frightful loss of life. Japan has gained advantages as a result of which it can afford to be generous, and the feeling is that if a country like America would now step in to have the differences between the countries decided by arbitration. Until recently the idea of mediation has been antagonized on both sides."

NO NEED FOR ANY TROOPS

Strike Situation Does Not Concern Adjutant General Culver, Who is Here from Lincoln.

Adjutant General J. A. Culver was in the city yesterday from Lincoln. He said: "I am not here on strike matters. I do not think that there will be any need for the militia, as Sheriff Power seems to have the situation, which is decidedly quiet, well in hand. My visit here is simply to confer with the officials at United States army headquarters relative to commissary matters. The ration for the national guard encampment at David City were furnished by the general government, and we are here just to fix up our accounts and get the matter straightened out."

FROM OUR LETTER BOX

Judge Bartlett's Record.
OMAHA, Aug. 30, 1904.—To the Editor of The Bee: Through your widely read paper I desire to direct the attention of all who intend to participate in Saturday's republican primaries to well deserved tribute paid to Judge Bartlett in an article that appeared in a recent number of the Omaha Examiner.

Judge Bartlett was appointed to the district bench in the face of some opposition, and yet, I think it fair to say, that since he has been on the bench he has disappointed his enemies. I do not believe that any of Judge Bartlett's enemies can point to a single instance since he went upon the bench where he has not done his best to fairly balance "the scales."

Every one who knows him personally likes him, and I believe that every one who has watched his career on the bench will say that he is entitled to a nomination at the hands of the party to whose success he has so largely contributed in recent years. I attach the Examiner article and if you have space would be glad if you would reproduce it. A REPUBLICAN.

(From the Omaha Examiner.)
The attention of the republican electors of the Fourth judicial district is invited to the claims of Hon. E. M. Bartlett for the nomination of judge to fill the unexpired term of Hon. P. B. Butler, who resigned as judge to accept the position of United States marshal in Lincoln. Judge Bartlett resigned E. M. Bartlett was appointed to the vacant office.

Those who thought or predicted that Judge Bartlett would carry his partisan-ship to the bench have been sadly disappointed. While a republican, he belongs to no faction in his party. He has administered even-handed justice, and fearlessly and impartially. No other judge has presided upon the district bench in this state. He has been strictly nonpartisan on the bench. It has been the custom in this district for a great many years for the party to which an appointee as judge belongs to nominate him to fill the unexpired term, and this without opposition, and there appears to be no reason why the republicans of this district should make any change in this custom. Judge Bartlett was first admitted to the bar in Wisconsin, in 1871, in the state of New York and in 1878 in Nebraska, at which time he took up his residence in this state. His abilities were speedily recognized, and soon he attained high standing in his profession. During his residence in Nebraska he has had part in the trial of most of the more important cases in the courts of Nebraska and in the federal courts.

SONS OF REST IN TROUBLE

Several Delegates in Convention of Disagreement in Convention Over Size of Cans.

At a late hour Thursday night Sergeant Restfrow announced a special convention of the Sons of Rest, who were deliberating in a rapturous known as the "bull pen," at the rear of Jim Bacon's saloon, Ninth and Davenport streets. When the officers arrived the regular session had adjourned, but the committee on ways and means was in secret conference, discussing the advisability of changing the regulation size of beer cans and imposing a fine on all members who drink over the

ALLEGED BURGLAR CAUGHT

Man Wanted by Iowa Officials is Arrested by Deputy Sheriff Hug.

Oscar Osterholm was arrested yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Joe Hug and turned over to Sheriff S. J. McCord of Page county, Iowa, who wants the prisoner on a charge of burglary. Sheriff Power and his deputies were requested by the Iowa official several days ago to keep a lookout for Osterholm, who has relatives in Omaha. They have been doing so and Deputy Hug caught the man wanted as he was going along Twenty-fifth street. The prisoner went back to Iowa without requisition papers.

Abuse by Husband

A suit for divorce on the ground of cruelty has been begun in district court by Lena L. Middleworth against Roland S. Middleworth. They were married in South Omaha, where they were residing in 1901. The petitioner alleges that her husband frequently scolded and shaking her. Her marital troubles, she says, culminated February 2 last, when he violently slapped her. She then went home to her parents and now wants the separation made absolute.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS

K. C. Morehouse, general manager of the Stanley, Merrill & Phillips Railway company, in Wisconsin, spent Sunday in Omaha. Assistant County Attorney Montgomery has filed a complaint of incorrigibility against Alphonso Agos in police court. The prisoner is an 11-year-old colored boy who figured some time ago when numerous false fire alarms were being sent in. The charge against the boy this time is the theft of a bicycle from William Barton, janitor of the market house. Agos will have a preliminary hearing Saturday morning in police court.

OMAHA LANDS PEDAGOGUES

Secures State Teachers' Association Meeting in December Over Lincoln.

GETS IT FIRST TIME IN TWENTY YEARS

Elimination of Persistent Movement Waged Under Direction of County Superintendent Bodwell and Mr. McVain.

For the first time in over twenty years, Omaha will, in December, entertain the annual meeting of the State Teachers' association. Heretofore these meetings have been held in Lincoln, and they have been held there for so many years that other cities of the state had despaired of seeing one held anywhere else. County Superintendent E. J. Bodwell has been one of the most earnest workers to bring the convention here, and through his efforts a still campaign was begun months ago to secure the desired end. Commissioner McVain of the Commercial club likewise has had his shoulder to the wheel, pushing hard for Omaha.

Members of the executive board favorable to Omaha were secured, and at the meeting of the board Thursday, Omaha received a majority of the votes, only one ballot being cast in favor of Lincoln. The dates of the meetings are December 28, 29 and 30. At the last two meetings held in Lincoln over 1,500 educators were present, and it is believed the number will be exceeded this time. A strong effort to this end is to be made and those in charge are confident of success. The personnel of those in attendance at the meetings include all sorts of educators from the teacher in the kindergarten to the college professor.

The day sessions are devoted to the departments on science, mathematics, child studies, library, temperance and other subjects of interest in the mental education of the child. Each section in which these studies are taken up has its own officers, and the papers are presented by the best minds in the association. The last two days will be devoted to the county superintendent's section, the primary section, the grammar school section and the high school and the college section.

For the first evening the officers of the association have contracted for the Hungarian orchestra. On the second evening some noted speaker, possibly Dr. Lorimer, the noted divine of Boston, will deliver a lecture, and for the third night the association already has engaged Frank Robertson, the traveler, writer and lecturer. It is expected the afternoon sessions will be held in the high school, while the morning and evening sessions will be held in one of the churches.

JUST GOT TOGETHER A LITTLE

One Man Bandaged Up in Police Court and the Other in the Hospital.

Joe Hutchins of 408 Pacific street had only to close one eye last night when he went to sleep, as the other had been factually closed for him by R. S. Jensen of 413 Pacific street, and Jensen had no use for a nightcap, as the numerous bandages with which his head was swathed was sufficient covering for the night air. To these inconveniences is added the fact of both men having their names placed in the select book at the police station and being charged with disturbing the peace. The two got into a quarrel over a game of pool and the bandages and the blind "peeper" were the results. Hutchins is said to have used a knife on Jensen's head and Jensen is said to have used his fist in the coloring process. Hutchins appeared in police court for trial and explained that Jensen had been taken to the county hospital for treatment.

WATLES FINDS PROSPERITY

Returns from Europe and New York Impressed with Good Times on Both Sides.

G. W. Watless has returned from a short trip to Europe. He was accompanied by a business associate, Sumner Wallace of New Hampshire, and spent nineteen days in England and France. Of this time fifteen days were enjoyed in automobile rides throughout the country. "A few weeks spent in this way is surely to be recommended," said Mr. Watless. "Both France and England at this season are in their best moods, and the delights of automobiling in the former country are great. The auto cars are numerous and are perfected far beyond any of ours. One of our trips, from Rouen to Paris, 106 miles, was made in three hours and fifteen minutes. On the same journey we turned out for a car traveling eighty miles an hour, actual time.

"Both England and France show every evidence of prosperity and the people seem happy and contented. Financial affairs abroad are very satisfactory and there is no danger of a flurry. The impression is that if the Russo-Japanese war continues long both parties to the conflict will have to draw heavily on Europe and the United States for war loans.

"As far as I was able to learn in New York on my return there is not a cloud in the financial sky here at home. Money rates are low in the east and probably will remain so during the harvesting season. The east is looking to the west and hoping for the successful maturity of our magnificent crops. It is thought there that if the yield is good this year the west will reach its height of prosperity.

"I think the campaign has less effect upon commercial lines than any national campaign in the country has had. With Parker's well-known views on the money question, no financial problems are involved and no uncertainty felt on that score.

"A new tide of immigration from Europe has set in toward our shores. Just as we left England the steamer rate was cut one half, or to $10, and the ship, the Kaiser Wilhelm II, was filled. The cabin list was the largest ever brought over in a single ship—987 people. The trip was made within fifty minutes of the record."

Auditorium Board Meets

A meeting of the board of directors of the auditorium company was held Friday night in the Commercial club rooms. The plans of financing the auditorium were discussed, and it was decided to open the new building September 26, with the opening of the auditorium. The roller skating rink, which is to be established about the middle of December, also was a subject which received attention.
